FITZGERALD'S
FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF MUSIC

A GOOD RULE

By David Binsbain

I have just read a little book written by James Taber Fitzgerald, president of the Fitzgerald Music Company, entitled "BUSINESS." It is intended for distribution among the employees only—it is not for sale.

One paragraph in particular caught my thought in passing, and fixed itself upon my memory. He said:

"Attempt no act of Business either singly or in groups whose analysis does not reveal that its chief office is not to benefit the one or the one group, but to help all that may come in contact with it."

That policy has stood the test of time, for it has been in daily operation ever since the business was established — thirty-seven years ago. Its value is reflected in the steady growth and permanent prosperity of the company.

CRUISER PLANS OF NATION BIND

Hoover Not to Modify Any Building Program

Interpreters of Memorial Day Speech Err

Work Will Go Ahead on Ship Construction

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—President Hoover has no intention of either modifying or abandoning the American cruiser building program as has been indicated by some of those who have sought to interpret his Memorial Day address and the subsequent statement on disarmament issued by Secretary Stimson.

Attention was called today in high administration circles that construction of the fifteen additional 10,000-ton fighting ships is made mandatory by Congress at least until an agreement for reduction of sea power has been reached by the leading nations and ratified by the Senate.

AGREEMENT FAR OFF

Such an agreement apparently is little nearer realization than it was before the adjournment of the Geneva preparatory disarmament conference and officials here hold that none is or can be contemplated for the near future.

They considered that the main essential is to get before the various naval powers through the Geneva commission a new basis for evaluating relative naval strength, and this was done by the American representative, Ambassador Gibson. This basis now is under consideration by the admiralties at London, Tokio, Paris and Rome.

PROGRAM GOES AHEAD

So far as the American cruiser program is concerned, this will be carried forward as contemplated by Congress and provision for additional ships will be made in the next annual Federal budget. The cruiser tonnage contemplated by this program is within the maximum limitation which the American government has proposed at Geneva, although this can and perhaps will be modified if an agreement for a less maximum cruiser tonnage for the leading sea powers should be reached.

Reports that the Hoover administration will seek an answer from the principal powers on the subject of naval reduction within the next sixty days, or before the time for the making up of the new American naval budget, were denied today as were those that the President and Secretary Adams had discussed this subject at a recent White House conference.

DEFENSE OBLIGATION

The President in his Memorial Day address, while calling for an actual reduction of naval armament, emphasized that to make ready for defense is a primary obligation upon every statesman as adequate preparedness is an assurance against aggression.

Secretary Stimson's subsequent statement as officially interpreted called attention to the economic side of the situation. The figures of $1,172,800,000 given by the Secretary of State, it was explained, represented naval estimates as to replacement costs over a period of years, taking into account capital ships provided for in the Washington Arms Conference treaty.

NAVY PROGRAM DEFEAT LAID TO FOREIGNERS

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Foreign-directed propaganda is blamed by Capt. Dudley W. Knox, U.S.N., retired, for keeping the American people from knowing the true outcome of the Washington arms conference and for defeating the nation's 1927 naval-building program.

Writing in the June issue of United States Naval Institute Proceedings, Capt. Knox describes the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America as "probably the most powerful propaganda organ in the country" and declares it was the principal influence in the defeat of the Coolidge naval building program.

"The actual control of its current activities," he said, "is vested in a small group, a large proportion being appointees of its president, in whom the real power thus lies to speak and act for the vast organization."

"According to Who's Who in America," he continued, "this powerful person (Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, since retired) is an Englishman by birth and education, who came to this country when about 31 years of age."

WEDDING RUMOR DENIED OFTEN IN HOLLYWOOD

When Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. left Hollywood several days ago for a vacation trip to the East, they declared they were not to be married until August 23. While their marriage was not unexpected in Hollywood, the news of the ceremony came as somewhat of a surprise.

The romance has been watched with interest for many months in Hollywood and it was not long ago that they admitted their engagement after consistent rumors they had been married in Mexico more than a year ago. These reports they consistently denied.

Joan's mother said last night in Hollywood that the marriage was a surprise to her as she had been helping her daughter prepare her trousseau and was making plans for the wedding here.

"I received a wire from Joan," she said, "telling of her marriage and it certainly was news to me. When they left here they did not intend being married. I am only sorry that I wasn't there to witness the ceremony. But I am happy for them. He is such a nice boy."

GRAIN PRICES RIDE SKYWARD

wheat had sunk below the $1 mark for the first time in six years and May wheat at 93 1-4 cents was at the lowest level in the futures pits since 1915.

Over the week-end came news from Washington that Congress was aware of the depression of grain prices and was likely to push through farm legislation establishing a stabilization corporation and granting it a $100,000,000 emergency fund to deal immediately with the crop surplus. It was suggested, too, that the government might sponsor a co-operative plan to curtail wheat acreage, perhaps as much as 30 per cent.

The news caught the trade unprepared and a flood of buying orders at the opening today found no sellers. The result was the most hysterical opening and the wildest advance in grain prices since the start of the World War.

FINAL DECISION ON BILL MAY BE ASKED THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—A final decision on farm-relief legislation is expected to be asked of Congress this week, with the Senate holding the power to say whether a bill will be sent to President Hoover promptly or whether the export debenture plan is to delay enactment.

Administration leaders confidently asserted today that the conference report on the farm measure which promises to recommend the elimination of debentures will be adopted by the Senate. If these predictions are borne out, it was held, the President will be able to sign the farm bill within another ten days.

STRIKERS BALK AT CONCESSION

Chicago Ironworkers Vote to Reject Compromise

Urgings of Representatives of Unions Unheeded

Tie-up of Structural Work Continues as Result

CHICAGO, June 3. (Exclusive)—The strike of 3400 structural and architectural ironworkers, whose walkout Friday night tied up $237,000,000 worth of major building projects here, remained in effect when the rank and file, meeting late tonight, unanimously voted to reject the compromise wage agreement reached early this evening by representatives of the strikers and the Iron League of Chicago, the employing contractors.

In face of the fact that their continued idleness eventually will deprive other thousands of workmen, members of affiliated unions, of employment, the ironworkers voted to remain on strike until demands for a wage scale of $1.62 1-2 an hour are granted. Their action followed addresses by spokesmen who urged the ironworkers to accept the contractors' offer.

COMPROMISE FIGURES

After a several hours' conference this afternoon with union officials, the arbitration board of the Iron League agreed to increase the pay rate of the structural ironworkers from $1.50 to $1.56 1-4 an hour. This scale was to remain in effect until October 1, next, when the rate was to be increased to $1.62 1-2 an hour. It was agreed that this scale would remain in effect until May 31, 1934.

The compromise offer was reached after Joshua D'Esposite, arbiter between the employers and workers, decided that the architectural and structural locals of ironworkers had violated their contracts by calling a strike.

The arbiter declared that the two locals of ironworkers had violated their agreement, both in letter and in spirit, by sanctioning strike action without first submitting their differences to an arbitration board.

TERMS AGREED

Representatives of the structural ironworkers departed from their meeting with the building contractors pledged to urge ratification upon the membership of whom an estimated 1800 have been idle since Saturday morning. Builders stated that acceptance by the structural local unions automatically would have ended the strike of the 800 members of the architectural ironworkers' union. The latter union also is asking for a new wage scale of $1.62½ cents an hour.

"We placed the employers' position before the rank and file attending, but to a man it was rejected," said Michael Artery, vice-president of the Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' International Union.

"We will meet again tomorrow morning with the members of the arbitration board and endeavor to reach a settlement on the $13-a-day pay scale."

HOTEL MEN VISIT YOUNG ABOUT LAWS

Governor Asked to Sign Bad-Check Bill and Let Two Others Die

SACRAMENTO, June 3. (AP)—Members of the Northern California Hotel Men's Association visited Gov. Young today urging that he sign one bill that would protect them against bad checks and to withhold his approval of two other measures, one regarding tipping and the other requiring employers to purchase uniforms for employees under certain circumstances.

The check bill, introduced by Senator Canepa of San Francisco, provides that whenever a check, draft or order is protested on the ground of insufficiency of funds or credit, the notice of protest shall be admissible as proof of presentation and shall be presumptive evidence of knowledge of insufficiency of funds or credit.

The "uniform bill," introduced by Assemblyman Gilmore of San Francisco, would require employers to purchase the uniforms their employees wear unless the latter have been employed more than six months and the cost of the uniform does not exceed a sum equivalent to three days' wages.

The "tipping bill" introduced by Assemblyman Adams of Livingston, provides that wherever an employer takes any portion or all tips left by patrons for his employees he must post in his establishment a conspicuous notice to that effect.

Those of the hotel association to talk to the Governor concerning these measures included W. C. Jurgens of Oakland, Halsey Manwaring, W. E. Smith and James McCabe of San Francisco, Louis Rossie of Marysville, John Jordan of Carmel, James Flannigan of Sacramento, and John Shea, secretary of the association.

Legislation Enforcement Against Wastage Will be Important Duty

SACRAMENTO, June 3. (Exclusive)—Fred G. Stevenot, State Director of Natural Resources, today announced the creation of a State division of oil and gas, to administer laws enacted at the last Legislature.

The new division will be headed by R. D. Bush, now oil and gas supervisor in the State Division of Mines and Mining. His salary will be $6000 per year.

Under new legislation, the enforcement of legislation against gas wastage was placed in the State Department of Natural Resources and gives the State authority to make investigations of asserted wastage and to take court actions to compel conservation.

Bush's office will be in San Francisco.

COURT UPHOLDS SINCLAIR TERM

done is the proper criterion. Neither actual effect produced upon the juror's mind nor his consciousness of extraneous influence was an essential element of the offense.

"That the acts here disclosed, and for which three of the appellants were certainly responsible, tended to obstruct the honest and fair administration of justice, we cannot doubt. The jury is an essential instrumentality—an appendage—of the court; the body ordained to pass upon guilt or innocence. Exercise of calm and informed judgement by its members is essential to proper enforcement of law."

The mistrial of the Sinclair-Fall case came after one of the jurors had been accused of saying he expected to get an automobile "as long as a block," when the verdict was rendered. Weeks of prosecution followed with Sinclair Day the Burns finally being adjudged guilty of contempt. The cases of Sinclair and Fall subsequently were separated and Sinclair was acquitted of the charge that he had given Fall large sums of money in connection with the lease of oil reserve. Fall has never been brought to trial.

BURNS THOUGHT HE HAD SAME RIGHT AS GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—W. Sherman Burns, active head of the William J. Burns Detective Agency, commenting today on the ruling of the United States Supreme Court that he must pay a $1000 fine for having the Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome jury shadowed, said:

"On my own behalf I can only say what I have said before, that, being cognizant of the fact that my government had been doing jury shadowing for years, I certainly thought I had the right to do the same thing."

stream. Chapman and Johnson succeeded in leaping from the car to safety but could not find Rein's body.

Every gully in this section of Northwestern Wyoming became a roaring torrent after one of the heaviest rains on record in Northeastern Wyoming fell for two hours.

More than 1200 feet of Burlington Railroad track washed out near Arno, and a bridge of the Wyoming River also was swept away. The Custer Battlefield road from Sheridan to the Black Hills was rendered impassable by the flood waters and several weeks probably will be required to place the road in good dition.

The new $35,000 bridge on the highway near Ucross collapsed.

More than 100 head of cattle were drowned and large flocks of sheep perished in the flood water.

Between six and ten inches of rain fell in the Sheridan area in less than two hours.

MORROW NOTE WRITER FOUND

Blackmail Attempt Ascribed to Customs Guard

Long-Missing Smith College Girl Also Threatened

Other Extortion Plots Said Traced to Same Man

BOSTON, June 3. (AP)—The Boston Herald in a copyrighted article tomorrow will say that postoffice inspectors have traced the source of the threatening letters sent recently to Constance Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico, and other prominent persons, to a water-front customs guard here.

The Herald will say that the guard was formerly an orderly and valet to Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, wartime commander of the Twenty-sixth Division, and that he was for many years a decoder in the War Department at Washington.

OTHERS THREATENED

Others who received letters similar to those sent the 14-year-old sister-in-law of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, according to the Herald story, were Frederick H. Rawson, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, and the family of Frances St. John Smith, Smith College student whose body was found several months ago in Connecticut River at Springfield.

The letter to Rawson threatened injury to his son Kenneth, a member of one of Commander Donald A. MacMillan's expeditions to Labrador. The St. John Smith letter warned that the girl would never return alive unless the writer's demands were met.

LARGE SUMS ASKED

In each instance the letters demanded large sums of money and were accompanied by threats of violence or death if the money was not forthcoming.

Letters similar to those sent Miss Morrow also were received by Mrs. Lars Anderson, wife of the diplomat, and Mrs. Curtis Guild, widow of former Gov. Guild, according to Westwood police who investigated the Morrow letter.

In the Morrow letter the writer ordered the recipient to place a sum of money near a stone wall by the roadside near the home of Gen. Edwards in Westwood. The writer failed to appear when police placed dummy packages at the given spot and laid traps to catch him.

Revolution Party Candidate Alters Agrarian Policy

MEXICO CITY, June 3. (AP)—A slightly modified agrarian policy has been propounded by Pascual Ortiz Rubio, candidate of the National Revolutionary party for the Mexican Presidency.

In a political speech at Toluca, State of Mexico, he said if he is elected he will continue the present administration's policy of assignment of communal lands to all villages and towns so that inhabitants may have something to cultivate.

Nevertheless, he said, he considers the haciendas or large ranches of great value to the country and will not attempt to break them up. If necessary to take over some of them for assignment as community property he will see that the owners are reimbursed, he asserted.

Plea Sets Forth Sick Veterans' Need of Funds

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Representative Fish of New York, who is seeking an allowance of $45 a month for uncompensated war veterans in hospitals, holds that "an acute situation now has developed," because many uncompensated but sick and disabled veterans "have no funds of their own and their wives and mothers generally are working to support the children."

"It is becoming increasingly difficult for veterans, on account of the length of time, loss of data, and addresses of witnesses; to furnish adequate proof of the war origin of their disabilities," the statement says. "Many sick veterans," it adds, "are forced to beg cigarettes and borrow money for stamps, telephone calls, bus rides and small personal necessities."

BALDWIN'S LONG MINISTRY FALLS

Conservative Premier and Cabinet to Resign

Election Defeat Expresses Will of Nation

King Will Turn Job Over to Ramsay MacDonald

LONDON, June 3. (AP)—Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of England since October, 1924, and Conservative party leader, today bowed to the will of the nation, as expressed in the general elections Thursday, without unnecessary delay.

He will take the resignation of his government tomorrow to King George on his sick bed at Windsor Castle.

After consultation with the members of his Cabinet this afternoon the Premier solved the dilemma confronting the Conservatives in Parliament by resigning power and leaving the way open for the second Labor government in England's history.

ANNOUNCEMENT PENDS

Official announcement that Mr. Baldwin had placed the resignation of his Ministry in King George's hands is expected tomorrow or on Wednesday.

His decision, debated during the week-end, at the official country residence of British Premiers, "Chequers," puts an end to much speculation about the immediate political future of Great Britain.

There had been rumors that Mr. Baldwin would prefer to face Parliament at the head of his Cabinet on the 25th inst. and thereby force the Liberals, who hold the balance of power with their fifty-seven seats in the House, to choose between supporting a government headed by a Conservative Premier or a Labor Premier.

COLLEAGUES AGREE

The Premier chose the more direct method of resignation. He explained his reasons to his colleagues, of whom a majority were already in favor of the course he indicated.

When Mr. Baldwin sees the King tomorrow it is expected that he will advise His Majesty to summon Ramsay MacDonald, Premier of the first Labor government in 1924, to form a new Ministry. With 287 seats out of 615 in the House of Commons, Mr. MacDonald commands the strongest single party in the House, though he is twenty-one votes short of a majority over all other parties.

MacDONALD PREPARED

Mr. MacDonald is fully ready to accept the task of governing. He will find it much easier than he found it five years ago. The nine months during which Labor held power in 1924 gave him and his colleagues much-needed experience in administrative affairs. This time the Labor party leaders will not come into office as complete novices.

Mr. MacDonald has ample material in his party to fill all the Cabinet posts and in this respect he will be much less embarrassed than in the formation of his first Cabinet.

QUESTION RISES

The most interesting question about a MacDonald Ministry is how the Labor chieftain will dispose of the portfolio of Foreign Affairs.

In 1924 he took this portfolio himself and even the opposing parties admitted that he filled it with eminent success. He made an excellent impression on the permanent officials of that aristocratic department.

Arthur Ponsonby, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs to Mr. MacDonald then, and Sir Oswald Moseley, son-in-law of the late Lord Curzon, are two others whose names have been mentioned for the post. Both of them belong to the group of aristocratic converts to the Labor cause.

LIGHT ON KING

An interesting aspect of Mr. Baldwin's prompt decision to resign is its connection with His Majesty's illness. The inference was that the King was not so seriously ill as to be prevented from attending to duties of state.

One immediate result of the decision of Mr. Baldwin was the announcement that Sir Austen Chamberlain, his Foreign Minister, would not go to Madrid tomorrow as he had planned for the Council meeting of the League of Nations. It is probable that Great Britain will be represented by the British Ambassador to Madrid, Sir George Dixon Grahame.

Phantom Liquor Boat Captured

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (AP)—Speeding through the Golden Gate with her running lights dimmed, a forty-foot motorboat was overhauled and her cargo of imported liquors seized by the Coast Guard cutter Gaviota after an exciting chase early today.

The seizure climaxed a two-day game of hide and seek between the asserted rum runner and the government vessel, which, authorities revealed, chased and lost the motor boat outside the heads Sunday night.

ARGUMENTS HEARD FOR ISLAND SLAYER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (Exclusive)—Arguments in an attempt to save the life of Yutaka Fukunaga, Japanese, called the "Hawaiian Hickman," were heard in the Federal Circuit Court here today. Fukunaga, then 19 years of age, was sentenced to be hanged in Hawaii last year for the murder of Gil Jamieson, small son of a Honolulu banker. Defense attorneys contend Fukunaga's attorneys at the trial stipulated that he was guilty, and declare that as a minor he could not waive his constitutional rights, and his attorneys had no right to waive them for him.

FAULTY BLAST KILLS MINER

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 3. (AP)—One miner named Thrash was killed instantly and two others, William Tordell and J. B. Bearden, were injured seriously in a premature blast at the gold crown mine near Middleton forty-five miles south of here last Saturday.

WINSLOW (Ariz.) June 3. (AP)—An ancient clock, which had served Mrs. Lucretia Owens, who came to Northern Arizona in 1878, all during her residence here, stopped three minutes after Mrs. Owens's death and since has failed to run.

Mrs. Owens, one of the early pioneers here, had been in poor health more than ten years. She was born in New York and came to Arizona from Illinois Christmas Day, 1878.

TRUST CASE REFUSED BY HIGH COURT

Suit of Haskell Charging Plot Against Aluminum Plant Set Aside

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to pass on a case wherein George D. Haskell charged that an aluminum trust was in operation.

Haskell, whose home is in Springfield, Mass., had asked $45,000,000 in damages and was awarded an $8,000,000 judgment in the lower courts. A Court of Appeals, however, set aside the judgment and the case was taken to the highest court.

Contending that the James B. Duke interests had broken an agreement over a Canadian power project and had been influenced by a conspiracy with the Aluminum Company of America to prevent him from competing in the aluminum business, Haskell brought proceedings, under the antitrust law, in the Federal District Court for New Jersey.

The Court of Appeals held there was no evidence to warrant the finding that there had been an agreement between Haskell and Duke to engage in the manufacture of aluminum for sale in competition with the Aluminum Company of America.

Galt School Head Resigns Under Attack

SACRAMENTO, June 3. (AP)—Announcement of the resignation, under fire, of William Rutherford, principal of the Galt High School; the partial abandonment of the course in aviation, which had given Rutherford and the school nation-wide fame, and assertions that the principal had been a participant with youthful members of his flying class in liquor parties in Galt and Sacramento, were developments today in the situation brought about last Friday by a grand jury report assailing Rutherford's "high flying" financial operations.

Rutherford's resignation was admitted by E. H. Barber, chairman of the board of trustees of the Galt high-school district, who said that the accused principal had presented his resignation at an executive meeting of the trustees Friday and that it had been accepted immediately.

NATAL DAY OF KING RESTFUL

England's Ruler Comfortable, Says Physicians

Sixty-fourth Anniversary of Birth Uneventful

Monarch to Hear Cabinet's Downfall Today

WINDSOR (Eng.) June 3. (AP)—King George today passed a comfortable sixty-fourth birthday with considerable periods of restful sleep, despite the recent appearance of an abscess where an old lung incision had been made. The official statement announcing this was issued from the castle tonight and a cheerful atmosphere prevailed regarding the royal patient.

It is understood that the abscess is still draining and that he is thought to be quite strong enough to receive Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin tomorrow when the latter presents the resignation of the Cabinet.

Lord Dawson of Penn and Sir Stanley Hewett motored down from London this afternoon and saw their patient for nearly two hours. The Prince of Wales was another afternoon visitor and chatted with his father for some time.

In a message to Gen. Edward J. Higgins, head of the Salvation Army, acknowledging a birthday greeting in behalf of the army, the King concludes, "I have recovered from my long and serious illness and I heartily thank you all."

HOOVER FELICITATES KING ON BIRTHDAY

DIPLOMAS GIVEN BY COURT ORDER

Sixty Des Moines Graduates Handed Sheepskins

Signatures of Warring Trustees Lacking

Sheriff on Hand to Carry Out Graduation

DES MOINES (Iowa) June 3. (AP) Sixty graduates of Des Moines University received their diplomas today under a court order signed by Judge F. S. Shankland of the Polk County District Court.

The diplomas are signed by President Harry C. Wayman of the university and the faculty, but did not bear the signatures of the trustees. Last week Dr. T. T. Shields, president of the board, stated the trustees would not approve the diplomas until they had investigated student riots of May 11, during which the trustees were "rocked and egged," after it became known they had dismissed President Wayman and the entire faculty, effective today.

Sheriff Park A. Findley and two deputies were at the university to see that the court order, requiring issuance of the diplomas, was enforced.

Shortly after 10 a.m. the graduates formed a procession and filed into the chapel where the commencement exercises were conducted.

Dr. Shields and several other members of the board spent the week-end at Grinnell.

Dr. Wayman, after the exercises, said the diplomas are final as far as the students are concerned. They need not be acted on by the board of trustees, he said.

CENSUS BILL ACTION NEAR

House Will Take Final Vote Today or Tomorrow

Majority Poll for Measure Regarded as Assured

Debate Indicates Fight Over Question of Aliens

WASHINGTON, June 3. (Exclusive)—The House debated the reapportionment census bill for five hours today under a special rule adopted without serious opposition, insuring a final vote tomorrow or Wednesday.

Passage of the measure, providing reallocation of the seats of the House of Representatives among the States on the basis of the 1930 census, and for the taking of that census, is assured, the lower branch having already in the last eight years approved two reapportionment bills, only to have them blocked by the Senate.

Today's debate indicates that the House fight will turn largely on efforts by the agricultural States to exclude aliens in the census enumeration, as it affects the make-up of the lower body of Congress.

BITTER FIGHT LIKELY

Such an amendment was beaten in the Senate last week, and it doubtless will be defeated in the House, but not without a bitter struggle and, perhaps, only by a close vote. For, despite the fact the House is more responsive to the will of the populous parts of the country, where aliens and alien influence abound, the proposed amendment seems to have greater support in the lower branch than it had in the Senate.

The proposed exclusion of aliens found champions today among Representatives from Mississippi, Missouri, Kentucky, Kansas and other States which would lose representation in the House under reapportionment, and had its defenders in members from California, Michigan, Ohio, New York and States which would gain or have large alien populations.

LEADERS IN DEBATE

Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, led the debate for the amendment, and the leadership on the other side was taken by Clancy, Republican, Michigan, and La Guardia, Republican-Insurgent from New York City. La Guardia told the House that, although his State would lose one Congressional district, and it undoubtedly would be his, he is for reapportionment as a constitutional duty.

"I will have to go out and fight for another district," he said, "and why can't these other gentlemen whose States will lose seats be just as good sportsmen?"

Charges repeatedly were made that the amendment, which would count aliens out in figuring the membership of the House, is being backed primarily by the Ku Klux Klan and the American Protective Association, the latter organization lately revived, it is said, by William H. Anderson of New York. These assertions added bitterness to today's debate and caused many sharp exchanges between members from the metropolitan and rural districts.

CALIFORNIANS HEARD

Two California members—Englebright of Nevada City, and Lea of Santa Rosa, the lone Democrat in the delegation—got into the debate on the side of reapportionment. Both argued against the proposed exclusion of aliens on the ground such noncitizens plainly are "persons" within the meaning of the Constitution, and thus must be considered in the make-up of the House of Representatives.

After beating down the attempt to exclude aliens from the reapportionment-census count, House leaders plan to kick out of the bill the Senate's amendment placing the 100,000 or more census takers under civil service. This proposed surrender of patronage rights is extremely distasteful to a House which has to be re-elected next year.

OTHER AMENDMENTS

Among other amendments likely to be offered tomorrow by the Democrats will be one eliminating the provisions whereby future apportionments of House seats will be automatic after each succeeding census, provided Congress itself fails to perform its constitutional duty. This proposed shift of contingent authority to the President and Census Bureau is being rallied against by foes of reapportionment, as an unwarranted abrogation of the rights of Congress. Indications are, however, that the House will permit it to stand.

Another amendment the Democrats plan to offer would delay reapportionment on the 1930 census until 1934, so that Congress would have at least one "long session" in which to consider the legislation and would wait to see the exact effect on the representation from each State.

Both the foregoing proposals were voted down last week in the Senate.

World League of Unions Urged

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—A world federation of trade unions is proposed by Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, in an editorial in the current issue of the American Photo Engraver.

EASTERN LINES WIN REBATE CONTENTION

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio and other eastern railroads connecting with western lines at St. Louis won in the Supreme Court today when the court ordered the appointment of a special master to determine the amount the eastern lines should receive as restitution of transfer charges paid by them on westbound freight crossing the Mississippi.

STATE WILL ACT ON BANK TAXES

Plan Urged for Revision of Federal Laws

Young Plans to Get Around High Court Decision

Congress Action Only Hope for Collecting Levy

SACRAMENTO, June 3. (AP)—State officials today urged that action be taken toward obtaining congressional revision of Federal statutes to overcome the United States Supreme Court's decision making invalid sections of California's new bank tax amendments.

Gov. Young announced he will ask members of the California Tax Commission to confer with him and advise him what steps the State may take to secure congressional action.

ONLY RELIEF

Ray L. Riley, State Controller, declared that Congress is the only agency through which the State can hope to gain relief.

The Supreme Court held that a State cannot tax profits of national banks which are derived from tax-exempt securities. This, Riley said, will cause the State to lose about $1,500,000 annually.

Gov. Young saw that the only relief must come from Washington.

"It is obvious that Congress must amend the present statutes relative to bank taxation so as to give the States wider authority in taxing Federal banks," he said. "The Tax Commission drew up what it considered a fair tax and the Supreme Court has declared it invalid."

Riley declared it was the duty of the State to immediately urge every California Representative in Congress to unite in obtaining legislation that will remedy the situation.

STEPS NECESSARY

"As the matter stands now, all the large banks in the State will have to pay will be the $25 minimum," Riley said. "They will be able to go free. Even if Congress should amend the Federal Section 5219 and the change is upheld by the Supreme Court we will not be able to make it operative until next year for the amended statute will make it necessary for us to call a new special session of the Legislature, amend our provisions to conform with the Federal statute, then submit the proposition to the people."

SUPREME COURT PLEDGES HEARING TO CALIFORNIA

WASHINGTON (D. C.) June 3. (AP)—California, Oregon and Washington asked the Supreme Court to be heard should it reconsider its decision in a case from Massachusetts holding that a State can not require corporations to include interest from tax-exempt securities in statements of their income for the purpose of imposition of a franchise tax.

Chief Justice Taft announced the three States will be heard should Massachusetts ask and be granted a rehearing.

165 men work on WILSHIRE FURNITURE

It takes perfect organization and a well-selected personnel to produce furniture of such style and quality at prices as outstandingly low as those on WILSHIRE furniture.

Nine groups of specialists

From the first inception of the idea of a WILSHIRE model to its completion it is handled by specialists who do their part quickly, accurately and well. Designers, pattern makers, wood carvers, frame makers, finishers, spring setters, upholsterers, cutters and cushion makers — each do their expert work on every WILSHIRE model.

12 Separate Processes

According to the demand upon the Wilshire model to be built, sketches are made and detailed. Patterns are made for each detail. The frames are built, carved, set up. Then comes the finishing—five different processes for even the least expensive pieces. The springs are set; the covers cut; upholstered; the cushions made and covered.

Carefully Inspected

Then all is given a final rigid inspection. It's an intricate process that requires the most careful organization of the 165 men who make Wilshire furniture.

Labor Saving Machines

Where it is possible without lowering the quality of the construction, machines are used so that the models can be produced rapidly and in great quantity. But throughout Wilshire quality is guarded.

RASKOB AIRS FINANCE IDEAS

Views Concerning Investments and Wage Earners Set Forth in Eastern Publication

NEW YORK, June 3. (Exclusive)—John J. Raskob in the forthcoming issue of the Financial Diary, published by Benjamin Hill & Co., expresses highly interesting views on investments.

"Slowly but surely we are emerging from archaic managerial concepts of the classification of human labor in the field of commodities," Raskob says. "With the passing of time we have learned to consider the human element as a factor in the production and increase of economic goods.

"The industrial energy of the South can be compressed within forty hours. The result will be reflected in an increase of efficiency on the part of labor, and from that a corresponding gain in profits for capital, and above all an enhancement of national comfort and happiness.

INVESTMENT TRUST

"To equip the wage-earner financially with this new phase of life should be one of the prime motives of our industrial leaders. Our plan of a wage earners' investment trust, while it yet is in the purely formative stage, has as its main object the affording of a safe, conservative vehicle for the investing of the savings of the worker in the equities of the industries which his energies and his efficiency in partnership with capital are constructing, upbuilding and conserving.

PLAN OF OPERATION

"The securities corporation would not be permitted to borrow money, as it would confine its liabilities to the capital stock issued and outstanding and it would restrict its investments to the highest class of securities in a widely diversified field. In addition a plan should be worked out for creation of a discount bank for financing the purchase of stocks. The organization and function of these public service and public benefit corporations take cognizance of the potential spending and saving power of the great mass.

Those having at heart the destinies of our nation should take it upon themselves to increase the sum of human happiness for those who largely are instrumental in the creation of our new wealth. This can be accomplished by permitting this class to actually participate in the resulting profits."

UNION FISHERS STRIKE IN FIGHT OVER WAGES

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (Exclusive)—More than 500 salmon fishers operating from the Bay District to Eureka were reported on strike tonight because of a difference over the wage scale to be paid for the current catch. The general scope of the strike, which began in the Noyo River vicinity near Fort Bragg last Friday night, did not become known until reports were received here that members of the Eureka fishermen's union had joined in sympathy.

Three hundred and twenty boats are said to be idle at Noyo, near Fort Bragg.

And when a City can say—

—"I have Municipal Power and Water Systems, whose combined assets amount to approximately $190,000,000, and whose gross revenues, despite extremely low rates, amount to more than $25,000,000 a year."

And when a City can say—

—"I have Municipal Power and Water Systems, which are financially able to pay—and do pay—all interest and annual principal charges on general water and power bonds from earnings—and not from taxes."

And when a City can say—

—"I have a Municipal Power System, which possesses assets of more than $75,000,000. Only $50,500,000 in bonds have been voted for this great utility. Additional assets totaling $24,500,000 have come from surplus earnings that have been reinvested in permanent extensions to the System."

And when a City can say—

And when a City can say—and does say—

—"I know that the value of every home, the security of every payroll, the prosperity of every business venture within my boundaries depends absolutely upon my people maintaining adequate water and electric power supplies."

When a city can make these statements—and back them up by official records—it is a good city in which to live, to work and in which to invest your money.

And the ONE CITY in America that can make these statements is

LOS ANGELES

The citizens of Los Angeles are not hoodwinked by false statements of selfish interests who may seek to cripple their great Municipal Power System. The people know that their Municipal Power System is one of this City's greatest assets. They know that this System is efficiently operated. They know that every dollar invested in the extension and improvement of their Municipal Power System will return to them ten-fold in better business conditions and larger payrolls.

A Test Every Man Past 40 Should Make

Medical authorities agree that 65 per cent of all men past middle age (many much younger) are afflicted with a disorder of the prostrate gland. Aches in feet, legs and back, nervousness, nightly risings, sciatic pains are some of the signs—and Dr. Dye, a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, has written a remarkably interesting Free book that tells of these symptoms and just what they mean. No longer should a man approaching or past the prime of life consent to regard these pains and conditions as inevitable signs of approaching age. Already more than 50,000 men have used the drugless method described in this book to restore their health and vigor—and to restore the prostrate gland to its proper functioning. MUSCLE SHOALS PLAN INDORSED

Senate Agricultural Body Favors Norris Fight

"Power Trust" Attacked for Opposing Operation

Aimed to Save Government Property, Says Report

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Attacking the "power trust" for its opposition to governmental operation of Muscle Shoals, the Senate Agriculture Committee today favorably reported to the Senate the Norris resolution to carry out that plan.

The report denied that the question involved is one of "putting the government into business," holding that it is, rather, one of "protecting government property, improvement of navigation, and the controlling of damaging flood waters," and declaring that the "power trust still opposes to the bitter end any legislation similar to the Muscle Shoals bill."

NORRIS DOUBTS SUCCESS

An identical resolution was adopted by the last Congress but it was "pocket vetoed" by President Coolidge. When the committee approved it last week Norris said he doubted whether it can be passed again during the special session, but he will urge its adoption at the first regular session.

"The improvement of our national defence," the report declared, "the control of our navigable streams, and the protection of our people from the damaging destruction of flood waters are the primary reasons why this resolution should be passed."

"If we produce more power than can be utilized," the report contended, "it ought to be a subject for congratulation if, in performing these governmental functions we can as an incident thereto develop both cheap water power and cheap electricity and give them to the people at prices that will demonstrate the possibilities of the proper uses of our flowing streams.

BUILD PUBLIC SENTIMENT

"If in carrying out these proper governmental functions we incidentally lighten the burdens of the home and cheapen the necessary and essential elements in manufacturing, we should rejoice rather than despair."

The report recalled that investigations of the shoals project were responsible for the inquiry now being made by the Federal Trade Commission into power companies and charged that these corporations have "undertaken, through the intricate and secret control of the most human activities, to build up a public sentiment in favor of their viewpoint and in opposition to the Muscle Shoals and other similar properties.

"Millions of dollars have been spent, as is shown by that investigation," it asserted, "for the purchase of newspapers, for the employment of college professors and school-teachers, and in the election of public officials."

Investigation revealed that the intruder gained an entrance to the building by chiseling a hole in the wall from a vacant store next door.

OIL PROSPECTOR SUES FOR LEASE

Legality of Conservation to be Tested

Sacramento Woman Files Mandamus Action

Five Thousand Applications Hinge on Decision

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—President Hoover's oil-conservation program faces a court test with the filing in the District of Columbia Supreme Court today of a mandamus suit by Ethel M. McLennan of Sacramento, challenging the legality of Secretary Wilbur's action in canceling her application for a permit to prospect for oil and gas without having given her a hearing.

In her suit, which names Secretary Wilbur as defendant, the Sacramento woman maintains that she was duly qualified under the Leasing Act to hold a prospecting permit and argues that the Interior Secretary exceeded his authority in directing that her application be rejected.

WILBUR CITED TO APPEAR

Justice Stafford of the District of Columbia Supreme Court ordered Secretary Wilbur to appear the 17th inst., and show cause why the writ sought should not be issued against him. Advised of the court action, the Interior Secretary declined comment.

The Interior Department on March 12, last, ordered that all pending applications for permits to prospect for oil and gas on government land be returned. Department officials at the time held the Leasing Act gives the Department permission to grant permits, but that it is a matter of discretion with the Secretary when and how such permits are granted. Secretary Wilbur and the legal staff at the Interior Department assert that the clause covering the granting of leases to prospect is permissive and not mandatory. The McLennan suit directly questions that phase of the Department's policy.

BACKBONE OF POLICY

The cancellation of applications for permits to prospect on government land has been the backbone of the conservation policy of the administration. All applications for such permits on hand March 12, last, have been canceled and land offices have been instructed not to receive any more. Interior Department officials believe that if the Secretary is restrained from such action, the conservation of oil and gas on government land would be impossible. If the government should lose the suit, Department officials said 5000 applications which have been canceled would be open to reinstatement.

HOOVER WILL NOT SEND OIL MEETING MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—It was announced today at the White House that President Hoover will send no communication to the meeting of the representatives of the western States which is to be held at Colorado Springs next week for a discussion of the methods of combating the problem of overproduction of oil.

Instead, the Chief Executive will empower Secretary Wilbur as the representative of the Federal government to express the views of and speak for the administration in every way.

Patronage fell off and so did the manager's weight, he said, one reason being his worry over complicated machinery necessary for the talkies. Robbins lost twelve pounds of weight and an unstated number of pounds, English money.

ORIGINS REPEAL IDEA PONDERED

Senate Begins Consideration of Nye Resolution

Poll Will Show Strength of Opposing Factions

Close Contest Forecast With Both Sides Confident

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Consideration of the Nye resolution intended to bring about repeal of the national origin quota basis in the Immigration Act was begun today by the Senate.

The resolution seeks to discharge the Senate Immigration Committee from further consideration of the proposal to repeal this method of determining how many immigrants each country would be entitled to, and the vote on the Nye proposal will be considered as a test of strength. The committee voted 4 to 2 for indefinite postponement of a resolution intended to repeal the provision, and a close vote in the Senate is forecast with each side claiming victory.

Repeal of the national origins provision is being sought by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, on the theory that the provision is an "unfair and inaccurate" method of arriving at the number of immigrants a country justly is entitled to.

The clause was written into the Immigration Act of 1924 but has been postponed year after year until last session, when Congress failed to act on another resolution of postponement.

President Hoover has recommended its repeal, but the move is opposed by a large group of Senators, led by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania.

DAM CONFEREES DISCUSS WATER

Federal Figures on River Flow Presented

Southland's Offer to Buy Power Explained

Proposal Called Bona Fide Although Informal

WASHINGTON, June 3. (Exclusive)—"An interesting discussion, but no decision" is about descriptive of today's session of the lower-basin Boulder dam conference being held here. The river commissioners from California, Arizona and Nevada held their first serious discussion of points in the controversy since the start of the conference one week ago tomorrow, but the talk revolved around water-flow figures, neither novel nor new, and little progress toward a lower-basin agreement was made.

The sessions continue tomorrow, and it is expected the conference will last another week or ten days and then will adjourn for a later meeting, probably to be held also in Washington, so as to be near the government departments with their storehouses of information on all questions relating to the Colorado River project.

HEART OF ISSUE

The Reclamation Service was on hand at today's meeting with answers to some of the twenty-three queries submitted last week regarding the volume of water in the Colorado at certain points in the lower basin, and these answers were the basis of talk at this afternoon's meeting. The discussion they opened up came near getting to the heart of the whole water-division controversy, wherein Arizona demands what California regards as an exorbitant share of the water of the Colorado.

These answers by the Reclamation Service were presumably to form the basis of settlement of the water dispute, which is the major issue standing in the way of a lower-basin agreement and Arizona's entrance into the Colorado River compact. Actually, however, they proved to be of no real importance, as they simply translated into formal government statements estimates on flow already well known to the Boulder dam conferees for years. Practically their only value was in affording the members of the conference material with which to continue the "marking-time" program they have pursued ever since landing in Washington. Indications are further questions will be asked of the Interior Department, and so long as answers are forthcoming the conference will remain in session. No member of the conference has any idea an agreement can be effected at this time, or that any good purpose can be served by the present meeting. All are agreed more time, with its healing influence, must elapse, and several more meetings held, before there can be any reasonable expectation of an agreement.

ANSWERS RECEIVED

Among the answers given by the Reclamation Service today are the following:

The average annual flow of the Colorado at Lee's Ferry, as gauged over a period of years, is 14,366,000 acre feet.

The reconstructed average annual flow at the same point, as judged by figures compiled from 1830 to 1922 is 15,900,000 acre feet.

The average annual flow at Topock is estimated at 17,100,000 acre feet.

The present consumptive use of water in Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico is an average of 1.5 acre feet for each of 1,700,000 acres now being irrigated.

The "prospectus" in these upper-basin States is 7,500,000 acre feet per year, the figure set by the Swing-Johnson Act.

The "water duty" in the upper basin is 3.5 feet per acre, as judged from Colorado irrigation projects, as compared with 3.7 in the Imperial Valley of California, 3 in the Yuma project and 2.87 in the Salt River project.

The estimated water required per year to produce 850,000 firm horsepower of electrical energy at Boulder dam is 13,000 cubic feet per second.

The amount of water available at Lee's Ferry is 12,400,000 acre feet per year under "present conditions" and will be 8,450,000 acre feet if the upper-basin States are limited to "beneficial consumptive uses;" 7,900,000 otherwise.

The amount of inflow to the Colorado between Lee's Ferry and Boulder dam is 1,500,000 feet.

River losses between Lee's Ferry and Laguna Dam, assuming a developed river, amount to 1,200,000 acre feet per year.

The total amount of water in the Gila River and its tributaries is 2,400,000 acre feet annually.

OFFER INTERPRETED

The latter is probably one of the most important figures drawn out of the Interior Department, as Arizona is demanding exclusive use of this water and the exact volume the river produces has long been a matter of dispute, some engineers claiming it will run as high as 4,600,000 acre feet per year.

The conference before getting through today's meeting had already begun to discuss the "significance" of the statistics, indicating that even if the figures are accepted as the final last word, they will be in for much study as to what their importance, if any, is to the ultimate ironing out of the lower basin controversy.

The resolutions of the Los Angeles Board of Water and Power control and the Metropolitan Water District presented to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur last Friday and offering in a general way to take all the power and water from Boulder dam and pay for them at a rate that would repay the government's investment were interpreted today by William B. Mathews of Los Angeles as being simply a declaration of intention. Mr. Mathews, who is one of the California river commissioners and a veteran in the Boulder dam picture, conceded the resolutions he and W. P. Whitsett, chairman of the Metropolitan Water District, laid before Secretary Wilbur, were entirely informal and could not in any sense be construed as constituting a definite, binding bid for the output of the project.

Mr. Mathews agreed that formal bidding would have to await the June 21 date upon which the Boulder Dam Act becomes effective on the present six-State compact basis, and also that legal offers from Los Angeles and the water district would have to be based on adopted bond issues by the voters of the communities involved.

He denied, however, the accuracy of reports that Los Angeles could not take over the power end of the project, as one of the resolutions proposed, without violating the State law setting a limitation upon the extent to which it can bind itself for public improvements. He said he regards the two resolutions as bona fide statements of what the city and water district will do if given an opportunity—that is, guarantee the entire Boulder dam enterprise by assuming obligation for the complete purchase of both power and water at figures high enough to amortize the government's estimated $165,000,000 investment, within the fifty-year period set in the Swing-Johnson Act.

CROWN STILL UNSTEADY ON AFGHAN RULER'S HEAD

TEHERAN (Persia) June 3. (Exclusive)—The position of Bacha Sakao, the water boy who usurped the throne of Afghanistan from the former king, Amanullah Khan, is not any easier because of Amanullah's withdrawal from the fight for the throne and his flight from the country.

On the contrary, it is probably worse, because with Amanullah's flight several other tribal chieftains are preparing to file claim to the sovereignty as soon as any one shows signs of weakening, while Gholam Nabu Khan and Nadir Khan have taken heart at the defeat of the former king.

The de facto king is still not recognized by any power, which is not strange since Afghanistan itself has not recognized him yet and is not likely to do so for a long time. According to a reliable report from Kabul, Bacha Sakao finds his position precarious, with his former friends less reliable and likely to desert him at any time another candidate bids higher for their service.

Under his influence, Western Afghanistan is apparently quieter now, at least outwardly, but that is possibly partly because the large Persian forces on the frontier make intervention possible from that quarter.

HOOVER TO GIVE CHINESE VIEWS

First Declaration of Policy Now Being Drafted

Note Will Reply to Recent One from Dr. Wang

More Liberal Attitude to Nation Expected

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—President Hoover's first declaration of policy on the question of American extraterritorial rights in China will be made in a note to the Chinese government now being drafted by the State Department.

The note will be in reply to a recent one from Dr. C. T. Wang, Foreign Minister of the Nanking government, urging relinquishment of the extraterritoriality privileges. Identic notes were sent to all of the interested powers at the same time.

Secretary Stimson has discussed the Chinese note with President Hoover on several occasions and the President asked that the final draft of the American reply be submitted to him for approval before it is handed to the Chinese Minister, Dr. C. C. Wu. President Hoover spent a number of years in China and is well acquainted with Sino-American affairs and deeply sympathetic with the aspirations of the Chinese to effect a unified nation.

MORE LIBERAL VIEW

Secretary Stimson is taking an active part in the drafting of the American reply, which will be ready for submission to the President within the next few weeks. While no radical change of policy on the part of the American government from that expressed by former Secretary Kellogg is expected, a more liberal attitude toward the Chinese by the Hoover administration is anticipated in official circles.

Dr. Wang in his note pointed out the progress toward unification which the Chinese have made since the Nationalist regime came into power and the steps which have been taken to comply with the interested powers' desires for a modernised juridical system. Since this system would replace the present consular jurisdiction over their nations, the treaty powers are following closely its development.

Changes in the juridical system in China were recommended by the commission on extraterritoriality set up by the nine-power treaty signed in Washington in 1922. Since that time, the Chinese have been working rapidly to bring into being the changes in their juridical system which they began to formulate nearly thirty years ago. They already have negotiated treaties with several powers for the relinquishment of the extraterritorial rights conditional upon a majority of the powers negotiating similar treaties before January 1, 1930.

TO EXPRESS SYMPATHY

The last step taken by the Coolidge administration on the question of extraterritoriality was to address a note November 23 to the interested powers asking their views on the suggestion of relinquishment of the privileges.

As it now is being drafted, the American reply to Dr. Wang's note will reiterate the Washington government's sympathy with the Chinese aspirations. In no manner will it even hint that the United States opposes the eventual relinquishment of the privileges, but will express a deep interest in the Nationalists' desires.

Certain information will be asked, however, regarding the guarantees which the Nationalists will offer to insure the proper operation of their juridical system when applied to Americans; what guarantees of property rights can be offered, and what can be expected from operation of the proposed criminal code. Numerous minor points concerning civil jurisdiction and marriage laws also will be raised in the note.

THREE RAIL LINES LOSE RATE FIGHT

Grain Tariff Clash on Western Roads Decided in Favor of Shippers

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The Santa Fe, the Rock Island and the Missouri Pacific railroads failed in the Supreme Court today in their contest with the Interstate Commerce Commission over rates on grain from Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska to gulf ports.

Much of the grain is moved by Kansas City, Mo., or Wichita, Kan., for milling, storage and cleaning instead of taking the more direct routes to fulg ports. To prevent competitors obtaining the remainder for the haul from Kansas City and Wichita to gulf ports the three routes gave such traffic through rates from the grain fields to gulf ports with transi tprivileges.

The competitors put into effect new rates to meet this change. The Santa Fe, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific met this mave by making their rates from points of origin to Kansas City and Wichita higher than the existing local rates to apply whenever the outward movement from Kansas City or Wichita, after transit privileges, was made over the lines of their competitors.

Kansas City and Wichita boards of trade and others protested, and the commission, after a hearing, ordered canceled the proposed new proportional rates. The Santa Fe, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific sought to enforce the new rates, but a statutory three-judge Federal court at Chicago sustained the commission.

Half-Century Controversy Settled by Treaty

LIMA (Peru) June 3. (AP)—The boundary dispute between Chile and Peru which has been pending for nearly half a century was officially settled today with the signing of the Tacna-Arica treaty by representatives of the two nations.

Under the agreement after forty-six years of international controversy Chile agrees to return Tacna to Peru, while retaining Arica.

GOVERNOR SIGNS SANTA ANA BILL

Trims Fund to $15,000 Total on Engineers' Advice

SACRAMENTO, June 3. (AP)—After trimming its appropriation from $25,000 to $15,000, Gov. Young tonight signed Senator Swing's bill providing for a study of flood problems on the Santa Ana River.

The reduction was made, the Governor said, after State Engineer Hyatt and B. B. Meek, director of the Department of Public Works, estimated that the total of $30,000 provided by the measure and sums given to match its amended appropriation would be sufficient to cover the proposed work. The measure provides that study of flood problems shall include the gathering of data on rainfall.

IT'S THE CUT OF YOUR CLOTHES THAT COUNTS

2 sensational NEW washers

BOTH WITH THE FAMOUS DAMP-DRYER

at exceptionally low prices!

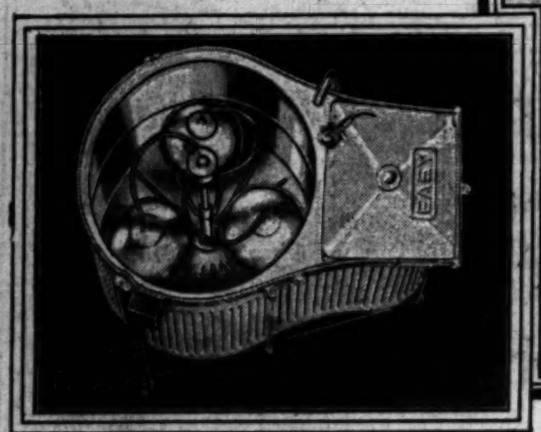
Suction Type No-wringer EASY

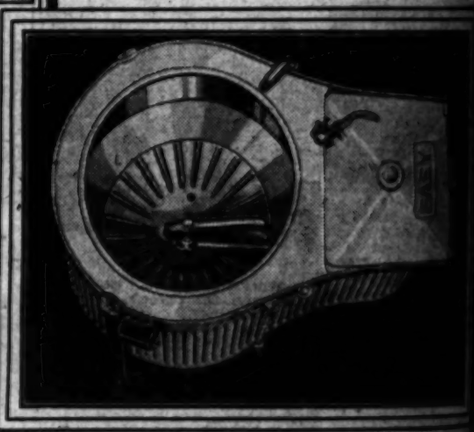
This new, improved model is more compact. Many inches shorter and lower than any previous no-wringer EASY. It can be used in the smallest kitchens. Handsomer in appearance. Safety controls are even simpler than before. An 8-pound washing capacity as compared with 6 pounds for most washers. Three suction cups move up and down and around—sixty-six times a minute—flushing air, soap and water through the clothes. The entire texture of the clothes is thoroughly cleansed in a few minutes. This is the vacuum principle of washing on which the fame of the EASY Washer is built.



SUCTION TYPE

Agitator Type No-wringer EASY

A startling new washing principle in agitator washers developed by EASY engineers. Bottom of this new EASY agitator has washboard corrugations. As clothes pass over them in a spiral movement vacuums are created. This produces suction, flushing air, soap and water through the clothes. Mesh of the cloth is thoroughly cleansed while the agitator fin washes the surface. Amazing washing speed is obtained by this new EASY method without harmful short-cuts. An 8-pound washing capacity—2 pounds more than the average washer. Controls are simpler and fewer than those on any wringer-type washer.



AGITATOR TYPE

THE brilliant success of the no-wringer principle developed by EASY now makes it possible to announce the most spectacular achievement in washing machine history—two new, improved EASY Washers priced lower than any no-wringer EASY was ever priced before.

Now you can have your choice of—

A new agitator type EASY Washer
An improved suction type EASY Washer

Both have the famous centrifugal Damp-Dryer in place of the old-fashioned wringer. Both are safe—wonderfully efficient—more compact—shorter and lower than any previous no-wringer EASY.

And both sell at the same low price—the lowest ever offered on any no-wringer EASY.

The no-wringer EASY has revolutionized washing

There is nothing experimental about them. They are the result of eight years of costly research work. Into them has gone all of our experience in building hundreds of thousands of no-wringer EASY Washers. They are scientifically perfect—marvels in washing machine efficiency.

Many other manufacturers are turning to the no-wringer type of washer. But they lack the benefit of EASY'S years of research and experience. And for that there is no substitute.

The no-wringer EASY is Safe

Hand feeding the old-fashioned wringer—piece-by-piece—is slow and tedious in comparison with the safe, new EASY method of whirling the water out of a whole tubful of clothes in less than two minutes.

The famous EASY centrifugal Damp-Dryer handles clothes much more gently than any wringer. It puts no strain on fabrics . . . does not crack silks, break buttons or stretch blankets and woolens.

It takes out more water than wringing does. Sun-drying is much faster.

You can line-dry indoors in bad weather

The EASY Damp-Dryer leaves clothes evenly damp. The hems do not drip. In bad weather, clothes can be line-dried indoors for ironing the same day.

Bulky things like blankets and pillows which will not go through a wringer are easily handled. Ironing also is easier because the clothes are free from deep, hard creases. Rinsing can be done in the Damp-Dryer without handling the clothes until ready for sun-drying.

Wash tub and Damp-Dryer operate independently—hence the EASY handles two batches of clothes at one time. A power pump empties all water for you.

There are still EASY Washers made with wringers. They are good, efficient machines equipped with every known safety device. But no wringer-type washer—even our own—can compare with these new, no-wringer EASY Washers.

Free Trial Offer

Try the new EASY—free—in your own home—on your own clothes. You can pay for it on easy terms. We will gladly place one in your home on free trial.

NEWEST RADIO SEEN AT SHOW

Simpler Sets Mark Trend of Latest Models

Lowering of Prices Slogan of All Dealers

Furniture Makers Exhibit Real Works of Art

CHICAGO (Ill.) June 3. (Exclusive)—All that is new in radio is being displayed this week at the annual Chicago Radio Trade Show.

The 1929-30 trade year's offerings to the radio public, usually heralded as the Chicago Exposition of Radio, in general amount to simpler sets that are more easily operated and more highly sensitive and selective than their precursers. "More radio per dollar" is the slogan the manufacturers have adopted, while they gird for an $800,000 volume of business to better last year's record of $650,000.

It has taken the exposition floors of three Chicago hotels and scores of private suites to lay out the vast display of radio merchandise. Dealers are here from all parts of North America, and there are a few from abroad.

LARGE REGISTRATION

The show management says the total registration from the trade alone will exceed 30,000.

As in the automobile industry, the makers of radio equipment have shown a decided trend toward developing and refining the field of low-priced sets. The success of those who have brought out cheaper models in the six or seven years of radio's popular acceptance has proved a spur to the others. The result will be a much wider and finer choice among the cheaper sets. Easy-payment methods, naturally, are urged on the dealers, who are here to place orders for stocks, each producer having his own particular plan to propose.

Among the more expensive sets, and even among some of the cheaper, the trend is toward console models and generally finer furniture. The crying need of radio has been more diversity in design and fancier furniture. The makers of fine furniture have rushed into the breach and appear to have answered the need, at least in part. Period designs are being shown along with highly modernistic.

Without doubt the screen grid tube is the most important radio development of the year. This new vacuum bulb containing a wire mesh that screens the tube elements from each other increases amplification, makes for greater sensitivity and longevity and reproduces tone values with more fidelity. Withal, however, it requires a change in the design and construction of the receiver. It is already on the market in a few sets, and most of the manufacturers are turning to it if not adopting it exclusively.

GIVES DISTANCE

What the dynamic speaker was last year the screen grid is now. Not that the two are related products, but the screen grid is the outstanding development of the year in radio receivers. It has its detractors in and out of the industry, but the fact remains that it does increase amplification in both radio and audio stages and, along with its use as a power detector, gives increased distance reception and better reproductive quality.

Whether the screen grid will lead to a displacement of old designs of receivers is doubtful. Certainly it will not do so overnight. Dynamic speakers have not eliminated all other types by any means. It is pertinent to note, however, that dynamic speakers are more popular than ever here at the Chicago exposition. Most are of larger diameter than formerly, sometimes having as much as a fourteen-inch diameter.

So-called "selector tuning," or automatic tuning, is becoming more in vogue. Since Zenith last year introduced the "press-button" method of finding stations, several other manufacturers have found that the public demand the adoption of similar devices. More and more sets will be tuned by variations of Zenith's innovation. One of the most interesting features here is a remote-control tuner developed by Kolster, whereby it is possible to tune and regulate a set from any part of the house by means of a device connected to it by wire.

Three Killed in Auto Mishaps

PHOENIX, June 3. (AP)—Automobile accidents claimed three lives and three others were seriously injured in crashes reported in Arizona last night.

At Buckeye, James J. Smith, 46 years of age, of Santa Ana, Cal., was killed when his car overturned, pinning him beneath. Harold Fogle, also of Santa Ana, who was riding with Smith, was seriously injured.

A car containing four Mexicans was wrecked three miles west of Superior. Lorenz Flores and Gregorio Nievero were killed instantly as the car plunged down the embankment.

NEW AIR REFUELING TEST PLANNED SOON

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (Exclusive)—Weather permitting, the monoplane San Franciscan will hop off from Mills Field within the next three days in an attempt to shatter the refueling endurance record of Reginald Robbins and James Kelly. The ship will have to remain aloft not less than 173 hours. Harry Abbott, who will pilot the plane, said today the monoplane is ready but the refueling ship needs more work. James Warner, radio operator of the Southern Cross, and Ray Crawford, relief pilot, will accompany Abbott. The refueling ship is to be flown by Donald A. Templeton. It is planned, with Grover Mitchell as mechanic and assistant.

PATENT RIGHT UPHELD

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (AP)—An order of the Oregon District Court holding a patent on an automobile vacuum feed tank owned by the Stewart-Warner Speedom-Corporation and Webb Jay had been infringed by the Simplex Automotive Products Company was upheld today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeal.

UNIQUE AIR MEMORIAL RITE TO BE BROADCAST

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Paying tribute to others who tried but failed at the feat that brought them fame, Amelia Earhart, Bert Acosta and Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyers, are to lead an air parade over the Statute of Liberty tomorrow in a memorial service arranged by the National Broadcasting Company.

The announcement says a group of about twenty planes will take off from Roosevelt Field at 3:30 p.m., fly out beyond the coast line, and at a given signal shut off their motors while a minister and priest carried in one of the planes read a brief memorial service.

Chamberlin will drop a floral piece in the shape of a monoplane, and others will release smaller wreaths, each bearing the name of one unsuccessful flyer. The service will be heard in the radio pick-up from one of the planes, and relayed thence over a national network.

SHE ABSORBS MORE AMERICAN WISDOM

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (Exclusive)—When a woman registered as Dr. Magdalen Vermeys appeared before Federal Judge Kerrigan today for naturalization and asked that her name be changed to Kosterlitz, investigation disclosed she is legally entitled to that name by reason of her marriage May 11, last, to Eric Kosterlitz. She was not aware of the automatic change in her name.

AUTO THEFT CHARGES DISMISSED BY COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (Exclusive)—Charges of automobile theft placed yesterday against Frederick Warner, Los Angeles investment broker, and James Gerrish, real estate salesman of this city, were dismissed today by Police Judge Lazarus. The men insisted they took a taxicab as a joke. Officials of the taxi company refused to prosecute.

North Reports Threat of Rain

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (Exclusive)—A trough of generally low barometric pressure held a threat of rain over all Northern California this afternoon and early tonight but with the exception of Eureka, there was no precipitation, according to reports to the Weather Bureau.

In San Francisco, exceptionally heavy mist made pavements and street car tracks slippery at the evening rush hour, but it was not heavy enough to be recorded on the rain gauge. At Eureka .28 of an inch of rain fell, bringing the seasonal total to date to 27.36 against 30.39 last year.

Waldorf-Astoria Auction Closes

Capt. O'Brien testified that his wife left him in Hollywood in July, 1927, and went east, and after writing over a period of several months finally told him she was not going back to him. She gave no reason, he said.

PEOPLE OF EVERY LAND VISIT FAMOUS LOS ANGELES GLAND SURGEON

The roster of those who have availed themselves of a gland operation by Dr. Clayton E. Wheeler, 3173 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, includes many men and women of wide note, practically from every profession and trade, hailing from almost every State in the Union and several foreign countries.

With more than 14,000 gland operations to his credit, a number probably as large as the sum of the combined experience of a large proportion of all other surgeons in gland therapy, Dr. Wheeler brings skill and a vast experience into this work which can be acquired only through extensive practice.

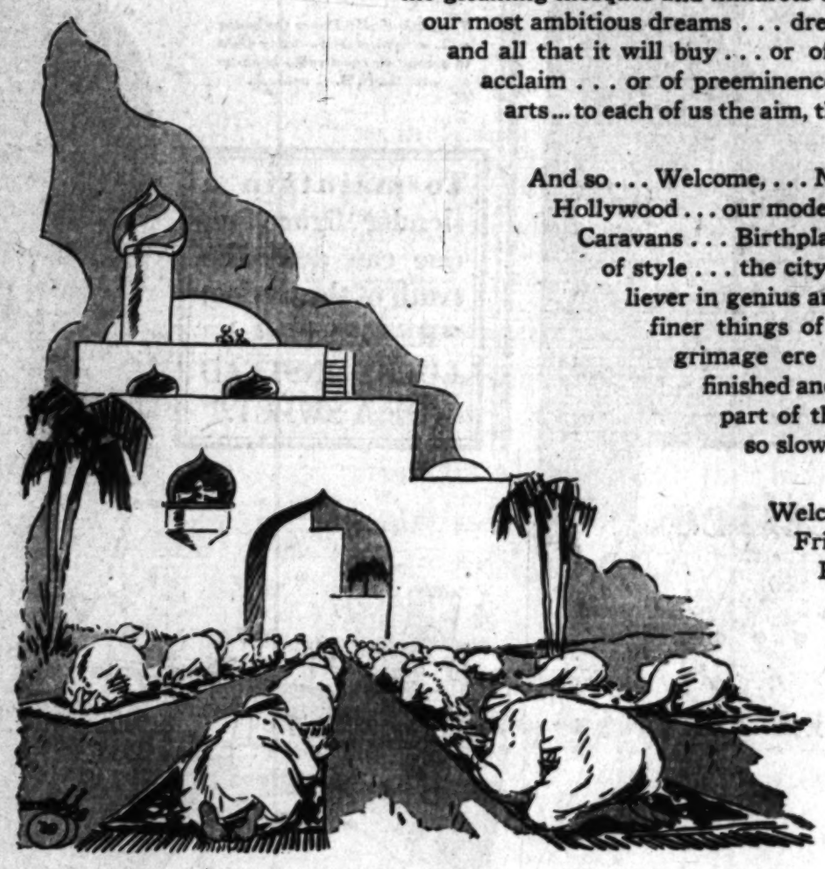
One of the outstanding and surprising features of Dr. Wheeler's method of treatment is the fact that he is actually able to transplant vital glandular tissues into the patient's body without causing pain, or injury of any kind, to the recipient and without disturbing the patient's own glands. The Wheeler technique is so carefully worked out that the transplanted tissues, by secreting their substance into the blood, perform their duties as auxiliary glands and becomes a part of the organism which receives them.

Dr. Wheeler's astounding booklet, Health and Vitality From Normal Gland Activity, may be had free upon personal or written request.

MECCA

"Mecca," in its spoken usage, has come to mean far more than just an ancient city on the route of the caravans . . . birthplace of Mohammed and Shrine of the Moslems . . . the city to which every True Believer dedicates himself to Pilgrimage ere he joins the Prophet in his own Hereafter without a Hell. . . .

For all of us, at times, kneel upon the Prayer Rugs of our Hopes and face a fabled Mecca of our own . . . a distant place where loom the gleaming mosques and minarets that form the substance of our most ambitious dreams . . . dreams, perhaps, of wealth and all that it will buy . . . or of power and the world's acclaim . . . or of preeminence in music, literature, the arts . . . to each of us the aim, the goal, that is our own. . . .



And so . . . Welcome, . . . Nobles, Guests, Friends, to Hollywood . . . our modern city on the route of the Caravans . . . Birthplace of Fashion and Shrine of style . . . the city to which every True Believer in genius and art and beauty and the finer things of life, vows to make Pilgrimage ere his own little picture is finished and he becomes but a minute part of the Great Reel that winds so slowly far above the stars. . . .

Welcome . . . Nobles, Guests, Friends . . . this is your Playtime . . . here is your Playground. . . .

"Well, I wonder often what the Vinters buy one half so precious as the stuff they sell."

But Omar is dust and Volstead is dry and the most precious stuff on the Boulevard . . . to women at least . . . is the style merchandise that may be seen and handled and shopped and bought . . . deliciously exquisite bits of fluff and frivolity . . . smart afternoon frocks . . . inspirational evening gowns . . . style apparel created by world-famous designers for future release films . . . the style apparel of Tomorrow that may be bought . . . on the Boulevard . . . Today.

"To dance to flute, to dance to lute, is delicate and rare . . ."

. . . and rarer still is the privilege, to most of us, of dining in a famous Boulevard restaurant within sight and sound of the Kings and Queens of Film-Fairyland . . . of stepping to music with the Stars . . . of seeing them on their Boulevard Playground wearing the modes of tomorrow . . . of next month . . . of next year.

"All the World's a Stage."

. . . all of the world of Hollywood, in very truth . . . where cameras grind and Kleig lights glare by night and day . . . where Directors with megaphones are as usual a sight as lads with cigarettes . . . and where the latest and greatest of feature pictures are always on view in the most modern and beautiful of theatres.

BELGIANS BEGIN TARIFF ATTACK

Offensive Launched Against Policy of America

Brussels Government Gets Reprisals Plea

Senate Committee Sets Date for Hearings

BRUSSELS, June 3. (AP)—A general offensive against what is considered an American protectionist policy on foreign goods, has been launched by Belgian industrialists. They have appealed to their government for reprisals and suggested common defensive measures for all European countries dissatisfied with American tariffs.

The first move, which was made by the Linen Manufacturers' Association, has been followed by the Central Industrial Committee, which hopes to draw the attention of the American Embassy to the political and economic significance of the American attitude on tariffs.

The Belgian government is urged in a resolution voted by the Antwerp Industrial Chamber to make contacts with other European countries threatened by American tariffs with a view to solidarity in defensive measures against American imports into European nations.

COMMITTEE AGREES TO HOLD OPEN HEARINGS

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee agreed unanimously today to hold open hearings on the House tariff bill, beginning the 12th inst and ending July 10, next.

To speed the committee work and assure final Congressional disposition of the measure with time to spare before the regular December session starts, it was decided to allot the taking of testimony in various levies to three or four subcommittees of three Republicans and two Democrats.

The committee also considered the fixing of a time limit for a final vote on the bill and a later date for completing action on the conference report, but deferred a decision until tomorow. Chairman Smoot expressed the opinion that the committee's decision would permit an earlier reconvening of Congress after the summer recess that has been proposed and pave the way for enactment of the legislation around November 1, instead of December 1.

Senator Shortridge of California, a Republican member of the committee, called a meeting of the California Congressional delegation for tomorrow morning to determine what requests the Pacific Coast State will present at the hearings in the way of amendments to the bill.

"HE TRAVELS FARTHEST WHO SKY RIDES ALONE"

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (AP)—A long-distance flyer should be a misogamist.

Emory Bronte, who two years ago made a flight to the Hawaiian Islands, today made that statement to a report that he was engaged to Miss Marvel Crosson, who several days ago broke the women's altitude record.

The report, published by the Sacramento Union, Bronte declared, was news, at least to him.

"I'm not engaged, and I don't contemplate marriage in the near future," Bronte said. "A long-distance flyer shouldn't be married. When he flies to distant lands he should never leave his girl behind, in fact, he shouldn't make such attempts if he is married."

Bronte took occasion to deny another recent report that he was engaged.

YOUTH DROWNS WHILE FLEEING POLICEMAN

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) June 3. (Exclusive)—To escape arrest for gambling, which is usually penalized here with a $3 fine, Albert Biodella, 19 years of age, today attempted to get away from a policeman. He ran, pursued by the officer, and dived into West River. His body was recovered half an hour later.

MAD YOUTH SLAYS MOTHER

MOOSOMIN (Sask.) June 3. (AP) Believed to have became mentally unbalanced, Ernest Startin, 21 years of age of the Iowa district, near here, killed his mother and seriously wounded his father and brother Phillip. He than ended his own life by firing a bullet through his brain.

Hoover Speech to Be Broadcast

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The addresses of President Hoover and other notables at the laying of the corner-stone of the new Department of Commerce Building next Monday will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company over a nation-wide hook-up.

The other speakers will include Secretary Lamont, whose department is to occupy the huge structure, described as the largest office building in the world, and George B. Cortelyou, who was the first Secretary of Commerce and Labor, together with Senator Smoot of Utah, and Representative Elliott of Indiana. S. CASSLER IN MURDER NET

Killing of Girl Linked to Woman

Indicates Grand Jury to Get Case

Slaying Conviction Later Set Aside

CHICAGO, June 3. (Exclusive) Mrs. Catherine Cassler, 40 years of age, investigators today cast the web of evidence designed to entangle her in the death of Camelia Soutar, 23. As the inquest progressed tonight at Hebron, Ind., Coroner Miller indicated that Mrs. Cassler will be held by the grand jury for murder. This is not new experience for Mrs. Cassler. Once before, she had undergone questioning and given up of evidence. She had been tried by judge and jury, had been found guilty of the murder of Anna Lindstrom and sentenced to prison. She was granted a new trial, the charges were dropped and the state's witnesses refused to testify.

GIRL ENTERED HOME

A witness has been found who saw Miss Soutar enter the Cassler home last Monday, the last time she was seen. Another witness has been found who saw Mrs. Cassler and a woman answering the description of Miss Soutar enter the Cassler automobile and drive south in the direction of Indiana. The dismembered body was found in a field near Hebron, Ind., on Tuesday, but in the meanwhile, Mrs. Cassler had remarked to her husband, "your sweetie's gone now."

Miss Cooke, a maid who formerly was in the Cassler home here, was the new witness who is said to have been the last person to see Miss Soutar alive when she left the Cassler residence, having called there on the telephone by Mrs. Cassler to "come over and talk things over."

SPEED OF QUARRELS

Before they were to talk over their quarrels for possession of Truman Cassler, who was a part little roller skater left his home while his wife was in prison to face the gallows charge only by a narrow mar-

Much went on in the Cassler home touching the subject of Miss Soutar, another witness, a woman, came forward with a story which seemed to fit one of the last links in the chain of evidence against Mrs. Cassler.

She was Miss Inez Falkins, who had seen Mrs. Cassler drive from her automobile on either Monday or Tuesday evening (she could not fix the date, exactly) and inside her was a young woman of small stature.

HUSBAND FEARFUL

Cassler, her husband, was admitted to fear of his life.

"She is not one," he said. "I'll get out of this mess, I'm sure, she'll never forget what I've told in this case."

It was contend that Cassler had told all he knows. They say his wife is urging him to reveal knowledge of many contradictions in her explanation, they say.

Seven-year-old son of the couple was regarded with fear. It was said to be "covered" by his mother. There was talk among the officials that he might break down and tell the story of what actually occurred Monday when the body was found and when her body was found Thursday.

MARKS QUESTION HOLDS UP PACT

Reparations Plan to Await on Belgian Claims

Berlin and Brussels Both Name Representatives

Bitter Debate Arises Over Tangle in Committee

PARIS, June 3. (AP)—The creditor reparations experts tonight had under consideration a German proposal that the new reparations plan, now virtually complete, be suspended until settlement of Belgian claims of compensation for paper marks left in that country at the close of the World War. Movement for discussion of this question already was under way today with the naming of plenipotentiaries by the German and Belgian governments.

The German proposal is embodied in a letter from Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German experts, to Chairman Owen D. Young. It was considered by the experts this evening. The deliberations will be resumed tomorrow.

BELGIANS INSIST

The Belgians insist that the question must be settled before signature of the conference report, which is otherwise ready, because in their opinion the Germans are unwilling to negotiate unless the mark question is linked with the return of the provinces of Eupen and Malmedy, transferred from Germany to Belgium by the Treaty of Versailles. They argued that while the Germans reaped no benefit from the devastations for which they are now paying France they did benefit from the gold and securities they took out of Belgium in exchange for paper marks which became worthless.

Discussion of this question in full committee provoked lively passages between Emil Francqui and Dr. Schacht. The chief of the Belgian delegation asked why the question was not a reparations problem. Dr. Schacht replied the Germans could not go into it because no one could tell where all the paper came from.

M. Francqui retorted, "No one can tell? I can tell, and I will tell. This is how it happened. You came into our country and you took our gold watch. You left in place of it some scraps of paper. Now all we ask is that you give us back our gold watch and we will give you back the paper."

QUESTION OF INFLATION

The Germans also set up the claim that much of the German money was introduced in Belgium for speculative purposes after depreciation. The Belgian reply was that the numbers on the marks were sufficient to identify any part that might be of the inflation.

Considerable pressure has been brought to bear on the Belgians to consent to later negotiations in order to close the experts' report immediately. M. Francqui, however, stands firm in his determination to get 25,000,000 marks annually for thirty-seven years (about $6,000,000 annually) by an agreement signed at the same time or he will refuse to sign the committee report. He makes no objection to separate negotiations, but demands concurrent agreement.

The Belgians have named Camille Gutt, a reparations expert, as their plenipotentiary, while Germany has selected Dr. Erwin Ritter, an economic expert. It was not certain tonight whether their conferences would be held here or elsewhere.

Chairman Young and the rest of the American delegation are planning to sail for home on the Aquitania Saturday. Mr. Young is especially anxious to get home in time for the wedding of his son. The meeting tomorrow should determine whether the reparations agreement can be signed before Saturday.

BERLIN NAMES EXPERT FOR BELGIAN CLAIMS MEET

BERLIN, June 3. (AP)—Appointment of Dr. Erwin Ritter, economic expert of the reparations division of the Foreign Office, to direct negotiations with Belgium on the marks problem was made today almost coincident with delivery of a note by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht to Chairman Owen D. Young at Paris, outlining German proposals for settlement of that problem.

Belgian circles here had declared that Dr. Schacht had at first refused to enter negotiations on the mark question at Paris until instructed by Berlin that he had been appointed to act in dual capacity on both the Belgian and reparations questions.

The Belgian feeling was that Dr. Schacht, who was financial head of the German government in Belgium during the war when the Belgian gold was transferred to Germany in exchange for paper marks, had a personal feeling in the question that was unlikely to be shared by another designate, such as Dr. Ritter.

Little reduction was looked for here in the Belgian claim of 25,000,000 marks (about $6,000,000) annually for thirty-seven years. This total is based on paper francs, whereas gold francs were taken by the German war administration, so that the Belgians have reduced the figure to about one-seventh of the amount of their original claim of loss.

It is semiofficially said that negotiations with the Belgian Minister had been under way for several days and hope is expressed that Belgian agreement to negotiations apart from the reparations conference will be forthcoming.

Crail Proposes Measure to Bar Beach Pollution

WASHINGTON, June 3. (Exclusive)—Representative Crail of Los Angeles today introduced a bill to make discharging oil in navigable waters of the United States a criminal offense, punishable by a fine of not more than $3000 or imprisonment of six months or both.

Commenting on the bill Mr. Crail said: "Petroleum oil carelessly permitted to escape or willfully discharged from producing properties, loading docks, barges and tank steamers is polluting our rivers and harbors, killing fish and ruining pleasure beaches. Conditions have become intolerable in many sections of the country, particularly the Pacific shore, the Gulf Coast and the Atlantic seaboard."

Our Foreign Policy Blamed for Bad Situation

[The Times staff, in the Orient on a study of conditions under a grant from the Carnegie Foundation.]

BY FRED HOGUE

PEKING, May 11.—Tokio is to the Orient in the second quarter of the twentieth century, what London was to Europe in the last half of the nineteenth century.

Like the English, the Japanese are masters of traders. They must go into the world exchanging manufactured products for foodstuffs, for their agricultural area is so limited that they are not self-sustaining, and the Japanese seem to apply the old Jesuit theory that the end justifies the means.

PLANT EXCESS

Their 600,000 annual increase in population is more than they can provide for in their island kingdom and in Korea. They are seeking to plant the excess in territory that now forms the most densely populated large area on the earth, and this population, too, is annually increasing.

Tokio is in intimate touch with the whole of what is known to us of the Pacific area as the Near West. If anything of importance happens or is brewing anywhere in this area Tokio is immediately informed. Tokio might be symbolized as the switchboard of a telephone system covering the whole of the Near West.

My first inquiries here have been concerning that policy which we term "the open door." I have read many treatises and talked to diplomatic representatives of three governments, seeking to learn its practical application. I have learned it does not afford equality of opportunity, for it applies only to new concessions in China and does not remove the inequalities established by the old.

INVESTOR BEWARE

Who enters or sends his capital to enter China for the purpose of engaging in commerce or industry will do well to keep in mind the sign above the gateway to some American residences, "Beware of the dog."

In Hongkong, Canton, Tibet and the Yangtse Valley, it is British. In Mongolia and Northern Manchuria, it is Russian. In Southern Manchuria, Shantung and Fukien, it is Japanese. In Yunnan, Kwangs and Hainan, it is French. These regions represent the "spheres of influence" of the four powers.

Over the whole territory, vaster in extent than all Europe, roam countless devastating packs of Chinese wolves.

There is no "open door." No unguarded gate.

SPHERES OF INFLUENCE

Japanese, British, French and Russian nationals locate in the spheres of influence of their respective flags. But the harrassed American investor finds no place where he may rest secure under the protection of his government. For in the whole of the land of China there is no sphere of American influence.

Security is an absolute essential to profitable investment. Each of the four governments exercises the right of policing its sphere. And this is necessary to protect the properties from spoliation by native mobs. Not since the war with Japan thirty years ago has there been a Chinese government strong enough or willing enough to give this protection.

Our government might have obtained such a sphere of influence for its nationals, but it did not. A Democratic administration stigmatized such a policy as "dollar diplomacy." We have posed as the friend of China, with the most laudable intentions, but we never have given to China material assistance to break up what we and the Chinese term a pernicious, rapacious policy of the four powers.

POLITICAL FICTION

For the actual purpose of trade and investment, "the open door" has been, and continues to be, a polite fiction.

Our altruistic policy is delectable to the altruists. They point to it with pride, and belabor the four powers with words of stinging rebuke. But conversation provides no foreign market for American products.

We are heavy purchasers in the regions of these dominating spheres; but few American products are marketed there.

Millions of American dollars are invested in China; but the greater part of them are in corporations under the control of other nationals. Our dollars seek protection under the Japanese, British and French flags.

SORRY ROLE PLAYED

Altruism plays but a sorry role in foreign investment, in opening new markets and gaining foreign trade.

No American can approach these spheres of influence without a feeling of humiliation at seeing American dollars seeking protection under foreign flags. One senses the impotence of excessive altruism However alluring the theory, the condition it produces is to be deplored.

One might imagine that this policy would win for our country the high regard of the Chinese people. The actual result has been just the opposite. In practice, our government in the past tacitly has acknowledged these spheres of influence.

The Chinese feel they are no longer the arbiters of their own destiny. The four powers will not permit them adequately to arm for their own defense, will not permit them to fortify their own ports, and our government has looked on with only verbal remonstrance.

ACTION DESIRED

The Chinese do not appreciate fine words that are not supported by energetic action, with the result that there is no sympathy for Americans or American investments in China.

For a time, the Chinese revolution threatened to break up these spheres of influence; but the rope, for the moment loosed, is tightening slowly again about the throat of China.

The four powers assumed the responsibility, faced the dangers, took up the burden of protecting their nationals and their investments. Asserting altruistic motives, we declined, and compared with that of the four powers, our export trade has declined also.

Trade follows the flag in the Orient, and, under their respective banners, the nationals of the four powers are getting it.

NO MARKETS OPENED

Our policy may be morally, ethically commendable; but it opens no foreign markets for the products of American industries.

Our tremendously unfavorable trade balance in these regions, compared to the balances of other powers, is a fact that altruism cannot alter.

Nearest the Orient, our Pacific Coast industries suffer most. Their advance will be impeded until this barrier to profitable trade and investment in the Orient is broken.

I have sought to state the condition without prejudice, as it forces itself upon one who enters the Orient. It is for legislators and executives prodded and supported by public opinion, to find and apply the remedy.

"What ought to be done can be done." Surely we ought to be getting our share of the foreign trade of the Orient.

CULT WINS COURT BATTLE

House of David May Practice Beliefs and Carry on Business, Michigan Tribunal Rules

LANSING (Mich.) June 3. (AP)—The right of the House of David Colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., to practice its religious beliefs and to operate its lucrative business enterprises was upheld today in the State Supreme Court.

The court modified a decree issued in 1927 by Justice Fead, then a circuit judge, who ordered a receivership for the colony and directed the exile of King Benjamin Purnell, and his consort, Queen Mary. The order also directed the dissolution of the colony and apportionment of its assets to members and former members. The order never became effective because the colony sought relief in the higher court.

The Supreme Court modified Justice Fead's order placing the colony in hands of a receiver and nullified the mandate of banishment for Queen Mary, widowed by Benjamin's death last year.

The court refused to determine the property rights of members and former members.

TEAMWORK BY HEBREWS ADVOCATED

Better Contact Between Urban and Rural Jews Proposed by Leaders

CINCINNATI, June 3. (AP)—In a move looking toward increasing contact between isolated and metropolitan Jews the executive board of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations has voted to establish two districts as a start toward a regional federation plan.

Regional rabbis will have the assistance of affiliated bodies of the union in the work, which will feature regional conventions, work with Jewish students in universities and possible "radio congregations" for Jews in communities too small to maintain rabbis.

The plan was explained here yesterday by a committee reporting to the union. At the same time Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times and chairman of the endowment fund committee seeking to raise $5,000,000 for the Hebrew Union College endowment, said he believed the amount would be realized by July 1. Julius Rosenwald, Chicago, started the fund by pledging $500,000 with the stipulation that $4,000,000 additional be raised by July 1.

LOUDERBACK IN ACCIDENT; WIFE HURT

Car of Federal Judge Wrecked En Route from Reno to Lake Tahoe

RENO, June 3. (AP)—Mrs. Harold E. Louderback, wife of U. S. District Judge. Louderback of San Francisco, was severely injured in an automobile wreck on the Reno-Truckee highways, twenty-three miles west of Reno, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Judge and Mrs. Louderback were returning to Lake Tahoe where they were spending a vacation after a visit today with friends in Reno when the accident occurred.

Judge Louderback was uninjured in the crash and Mrs. Louderback was rushed to a hospital here. She suffered a deep cut on the head, several teeth were knocked out and her legs were badly cut.

Demurrer Filed in Musician Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3. (Exclusive)—George and James Nasser, operators of a group of theaters equipped with sound reproducing devices, filed a demurrer today to the injunction application of individuals of the musicians' union which grew out of the "talkie" row.

The demurrer takes the position generally that the union is not possessed of the right to force the employment of musicians and that to do so amounts to "subjecting the employers to slavery."

Specifically, they declare they fulfilled all provisions of the contract they are accused of violating by giving two weeks' notice to musicians whom they discarded when sound pictures were installed. The musicians, they charge, walked out immediately, thereby nullifying the contract in its entirety.

Benefits of Prohibition to be Shown Nation

McBride Denounces Hearst for Liquor Stand

Ministers Urged to Preach on Law Enforcement

PITTSBURGH, June 3. (AP)—A recommendation for a nation-wide educational program to prove the benefits of prohibition was approved today by the general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church. The recommendation is made in the report of the committee on reform.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, speaking in behalf of the committee report, assailed newspapers for not supporting prohibition.

"What does Mr. Hearst know about prohibition," McBride said in referring to the prize award made by William Randolph Hearst for "the best practicable substitute for prohibition." "He never gave $25,000 to put prohibition over. The trouble with his plan or any plan is that it does not solve the alcoholic-liquor question. Prohibition is fundamentally right and the liquor traffic wrong."

Tobacco advertising by radio and in newspapers was condemned.

The assembly also adopted a report on the state of religion recommending the church to undertake a campaign of education on law enforcement and that ministers be urged to preach on the subject.

Thirty-six thousand letters were sent out during the last Presidential campaign asking members of the church to pray for success of the "dry candidate," a report of the Women's General Missionary Society disclosed. The report was approved.

The Federal council of churches' stand against war was approved in another resolution adopted today by the assembly. Some debate preceded approval of the resolution. Rev. Charles Gilmore, Cadiz, O., in opposing the council's stand, said that "war is a necessity of the time."

Des Moines, Iowa, was selected as the place for the 1930 assembly.

MEN TO GET SHOE-MINDED

Campaign to Make Them Wear Blue Footgear in West Opens at Convention

PORTLAND (Or.) June 3. (AP)—Five hundred shoe retailers from six Western States and British Columbia got their first glimpse of a pair of dark blue shoes for men today and heard the merchandising counsellor of the National Shoe Retailers' Association map out an advertising campaign to make men "shoe-conscious."

Shoe dealers from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Utah and the Canadian Province convened here today for the annual four-day convention.

COLOR NEEDED

Creation of the "shoe-conscious" complex, H. A. Burrill of the national association, told dealers, will be one method of solving a problem of reduced shoe consumption now facing shoe manufacturers and dealers.

Annual per-capita consumption, Burrill said, has dropped from three to two pairs. He declared "color is the thing."

"If he wears a blue suit, sell him blue shoes," Burrill told delegates. "We intend to impress upon the country that shoes should be more than something to keep the feet from the ground."

CLOTHIERS IN PLOT

Dark blue shoes, Burrill said, were created at the suggestion of the national clothing leaders. Blue-black evening clothes and blue-black derby hats soon will be paced on the market.

"Every shoe dealer should wear the blue shoes when they come out," said F. A. Rittigstein, secretary of the California Shoe Retailers' Association. "Shoe dealers have been telling men for years that black shoes should be worn after 6 o'clock at night, but shoemen themselves are wearing brown shoes with tuxedos."

Drunken Driver Liability Denied

PHOENIX, June 3. (AP)—The Arizona Supreme Court today held that a person knowingly riding with a drunken driver in an automobile is guilty of contributory negligence and may not recover from the owner of the vehicle in the event of injury in an accident.

The opinion was handed down in the appeal of Amado Franco against a judgment for damages against him in the Superior Court of Pima county.

REVIEW DENIED IN ZONING CASE

Supreme Court Refuses to Pass on Deeds

Negro Ownership in Capital City Involved

Lower Tribunal Adjudged Restriction Valid

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The Supreme Court today declined to consider whether covenants to deeds of property in the District of Columbia prohibiting its sale to negroes are valid as decided by lower courts here.

The question was presented in two cases brought by negroes who had purchased property, deed to which prohibited sale to negroes, and the highest court, without written opinion, held the cases presented no question for their consideration.

The negroes challenged the provisions as restrictions of their constitutional rights to transfer property. In one instance, in property purchased by Henry A. Cornish and other negroes, a penalty of $2000 was provided by the real-estate agents in event the property was rented or sold to negroes.

Cornish declared the covenant was "no contrary to public policy as evidenced by the spirit of the Constitution . . . and is so unreasonable and discriminatory that a court of equity cannot enforce it without doing violence to fundamental conceptions of justice."

Rarely Sick, But Always Under Par

Perhaps you belong to that great army of men and women who are only half well. Who are never sick enough to need medicine, but never know the joy of perfect health. Your condition is probably due to an easily prevented cause—a lack of enough Vitamin B in your diet. And the remedy is so simple that you can check this ailment with ease.

All that's needed is to add Vitamin B to your daily food in the modern, palatable way. Not by taking doses of medicines or tonics. Not by purging yourself with certain vegetables which you may not like. But by using the delicious new Vitamin B food ingredient—Vegex—recently perfected by scientists.

Vegex is so rich in Vitamin B that you need use only one teaspoonful per day. Yet it's just this small quantity, added to foods you like best, that brings you the nourishing, strength-building, and appetite-restoring values which, so many foods lack. Vegex makes your favorite dish a health food. It brings you more enjoyment of meals, too. For while it has the properties of a marvelous tonic, it gives foods a rare savor that can be equalled in no other way.

Ask your doctor about Vegex and the importance of Vitamin B in food. Then try it yourself, not as a medicine, but a flavoring. Begin with the 15c trial jar. All leading grocers and druggists have it. The Vegex Cook Book, which you can get for the asking, shows how to put new thrills in old, familiar meats.

Assembly Bill No. 259, Arnold et al., authorizing a $20,000,000 State veterans' bond issue enabling the Veterans' Welfare Board to continue its program of farm and home purchase for ex-service men. This measure will have to receive approval of the electors at the next general election.

BLUE BLOODS OPEN CASINO

New York Downtrodden Millionaires Find Most Exclusive Playground in Central Park Cafe

NEW YORK, June 3. (Exclusive)—At last this democratic village has done something civic for its downtrodden millionaires. It was a noble gesture, done in a big way that would have warmed the cockles of Ward McAllister's blue-blood pumping heart. It has opened a rose-frescoed eating and drinking place in the midst of an 800-acre estate for the dearly beloved who grace the pages of the Social Register in old English type.

Gentlemen, glasses up to the Central Park Casino.

A lovely place of blood-red roses for blue blood gentle folks. A charming retreat where one may exchange a first mortgage for a ham sandwich and escape with a nominal fee of only $10 for a cover charge.

GREAT GULF FIXED

Out of a great heart that knows no limit to its boundless generosity, the taxpayers of this up and coming metropolis have made it possible for the Biddles, the Vanderbilts, the O'Brins and their certified friends to dine in an isolated splendor that would have made Henry VIII wipe his fingers and reach for a salad fork.

While a hard working magistrate was fining ninety-three thoughtless citizens, who ate their lunch on newspapers in Central Park, the Casino, two grassy plots away but a million miles removed from the great unwashed, tonight was opening its hand-painted doors to the favored few.

For the benefit of the folks out in the Western States, who hold the amusing idea that parks are for the people, the pedigree of the Central Park Casino is herewith limned.

COVER CHARGE $10

Some months ago Anthony Biddle, Jr., (one of the Philadelphia Biddles, you know, sat in a suite in the Savoy-Plaza skinning with William K. Vanderbilt, (the democratic Mr. Vanderbilt,) and as they looked out over the fairyland that was Central Park an idea was born. Tonight the idea was photographed and tomorrow night it will be christened.

But first somebody called on Mayor Walker and the other city officials. A few weeks later the Dieppe Corporation (which is a restaurant corporation and is not to be confused with children's recreation camps and free milk funds) obligingly took the Casino—an old rock and frame chateau overlooking the park lakes—off the city's hands and even agreed to pay $8500 a year rental. No doubt the corporation will be able to pay its landlord, for the checkroom privilege alone was resold for $12,000, the florist concession brought an even larger amount and the idea of a hot dog grab was given up in favor of a $10 cover charge.

NO CHOWDER CLUB

Charles Urban, interior decorator de luxe, set about making a castle out of a chateau, while Mr. Biddle and Mr. Vanderbilt and a dozen other "governors" started selecting the high caste Brahmins, who would be permitted to spill soup on their vests in the new Casino.

This afternoon while the botanical and horticultural motifs in Mr. Urban's decorations were drying, twenty of the taxpayers' hired men were barbering and massaging the landscape about the Casino. The walls of the Casino are mainly glass and through the French doors of the reconverted chateau one may sit and sip and watch a flower garden being groomed. The Casino is circled by a promenade over which hangs the Casino's private sky. Arrangements have been made to have the moon remain stationary during the dinner hour.

"The city has something here," avowed Mr. Sidney Solomon this evening. Mr. Solomon is president of the corporation which runs this gem of an eating place for the "governers." "Yes, sir, this is something civic in a big way. The prices are attractive to the right people and there is not a single restriction."

Nevertheless there have been no bookings from the Grand-avenue Chowder and Outing Club.

SHRINERS LOSE NEGRO SUIT

Highest Tribunal Supports Colored Lodgemen in Use of Ritual and Insignia of Whites

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—White Shriners lost by delay their right to challenge in the courts the use of their insignia, ritual and emblems by the negro organization known as the Ancient Egytpian Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine, under a decision handed down today by the Supreme Court.

Ruling in favor of the negro organization the court maintained the controlling question was whether the white Shriners had acquiesced so long without protest as to have lost their right to object. The opinion was read by Justice Van Devanter and no dissent was announced.

The opinion reviewed in detail the intricate features of the controversy which reached the courts in Texas where the Arabia Temple of white Shriners obtained an order prohibiting the negro Shriners throughout the United States from using their insignia, etc.

"From the beginning the white order had knowledge of the existence and imitative acts and practices of the negro order," the opinion held, adding that the "white order silently stood by for many years while the negro order was continuing its imitative acts and practices, and was establishing new lodges, enlarging its membership, acquiring real property . . . and investing substantial sums."

The Supreme Court declared the lower courts should have held that the white Shriners by delay had acquiesced and could not maintain a suit so much later, the negro organization having been in existence since 1893, and the white Shriners not having objected in the courts until 1918.

It was not necessary under these circumstances, Justice Van Devanter said, to pass on any of its constitutional questions raised by the negro Shriners.

Boy Recovering From Burns in Mountain Slide

PORTLAND (Or.) June 3. (AP)—Seared as if shaved with a red-hot razor, William Meany, 16 years of age, Portland high-school youth, is slowly improving in a Hood River hospital tonight from the effects of a spectacular 2500-foot slide down the northeast side of Mt. Hood Sunday followed by a seventy-foot plunge into a snow-choked glacier crevasse.

Instead of broken bones and death, Meany suffered serious burns on his face and body above the waistline, caused by friction in his enforced slide. He was rescued by guides and fellow-students after an hour's hunt.

Meany and thirty-nine other students, with Maurice Howard, high-school instructor, spent Sunday climbing the mountain.

Deserter Gets Heavy Penalty

LONDON, June 3. (AP)—George Sivewright, the Scots Guard signaler who shocked all British military traditions by deserting his post in front of Buckingham Palace not long ago, will not be a heroic figure for tourists' and nursemaids' eyes any more.

He was found guilty by a court-martial and was sentenced to 112 days' hard labor in a civil prison, and to be discharged from the army with ignominy.

Sivewright had pleaded that he was sleepwalking.

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Transcontinental Air Transport announced today that it will inaugurate its forty-eight-hour plane-train service between the east and west coasts on July 8, when planes will leave Columbus, the eastern air terminus, and Los Angeles, the western end.

The fare for a coast-to-coast trip, planes and trains, will be about $350, about twice the cost of all-rail travel.

CITY PREPARES TO VOTE TODAY

All Headquarters Join in Plea to Go to Polls

Light Balloting Predicted; Booths Open at 6 A.M.

Porter and Bonelli Forces Both Confident

With a light vote in prospect and all political campaign headquarters strenuously exhorting the city's electorate to go to the polls, today's municipal election will decide contests for Mayor, City Attorney, 11 Municipal Judgeships, two seats on the Board of Education, several Councilmanic contests and the fate of five propositions.

In the city proper, 1482 consolidated polling places will be available for the community's 525,755 registered electors. Political observers, believing themselves to be in touch with public opinion predicted yesterday that not more than 35 per cent of the total registration will be present in today's balloting. If this estimate prove approximately correct, the total vote will be around 200,000.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTE

In the recent primary election the total vote was 208,648. Because of the interest of the city school district in portions of the county outside the city limits, a total of 101 additional polling places will be used in the precincts voting on the two members on the Board of Education.

According to custom, the polls will open at 6 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m. Voters desiring information as to any subject relating to the election may obtain it by telephoning to the office of the City Clerk, Broadway 3200.

Despite the apparent intensity of the municipal fight between John C. Porter and William G. Bonelli, and the more or less spectacular character of the concluding phase of the contest, public interest does not appear to be unusually aroused. Some regard Porter's considerable lead over Bonelli in the primary election as an indication of voting strength of the two men, believe that Porter will win.

Election of a Bonelli victory is as emphatic as that predicted in Porter, however, are not lacking in that ordinarily possessed by political seekers.

WINNER FAVORED

Odds existed for City Attorney between Erwin P. Werner and Peirce Hall, there seem to be general belief that Werner will win by a margin not keeping with his 2 to 1 lead over Hall in the primary.

Arrangements methods to be employed by election officers:

J. C. McCoy and Charles H. Randall in the First District; Robert L. Bowen and William M. Hughes in the Fourth; Evan Lewis and James Bowie in the Eighth; W. J. Sanford and Frank Belcher in the Ninth; Lester Rice-Wray and J. C. Pollard in the Eleventh; Douglas Fraser and Thomas W. Williams in the Twelfth; Sherrill B. Osborne and Charles A. Boland in the Thirteenth, and James H. Dodson, and A. R. Fleming in the Fifteenth.

In the Municipal Court, the incumbent in Office No. 10, Judge McCoy is opposed by Wilbur C. Curtis, and the incumbent in Office No. 7, Judge Rush, is opposed by Percy Hamm.

Arthur W. Eckman and Harry H. Ostrom, Citizens' School Committee candidates for the Board of Education, are expected to defeat by large majorities their two Socialist party opponents, George S. Patton and Irene Smith.

BOND ISSUE LINE-UP

Action for the proposed bond issue of $12,500,000 for extension and betterment of the city's water system is regarded as assured, and it is believed that the two propositions totaling $2,500,000 for a new Health Center and for City Hall and Central Police Station will receive the necessary two-thirds majority. Due to the complexity of the ballot for and against the Metropolitan power bonds the fate of this proposal appears in doubt. The proposition on the ballot pro-

EIGHTH STREET ASKS MORE AID

Allocation of $224,088 More Sought for Project

Council Hears Plea from Improvement Body

Would Make City Donation 15 Per Cent of Estimate

Allocation of an additional $224,088 to the Eighth-street project is requested in a letter received by the City Council yesterday from the Eighth-street Improvement Association, which was referred immediately to the City Engineer and the Council's Public Works Committee. Such an allocation would make the total donation of the city to the project equal 15 per cent of its total estimate.

This figure includes the cost of the opening and widening proceedings, which are now nearing completion, and the estimated cost of the physical improvement of the thoroughfare.

When the Eighth-street project first was made a part of the Major Traffic Plan, $223,926 was allocated to it from the major-traffic bond funds. Of this sum $202,514 was applied to the opening and widening proceedings, leaving $26,314 toward the cost of the improvement of the street.

The letter from the association points out that the amount appropriated to date by the city equals only 8.9 per cent of the total estimated cost of the project, and asks that the appropriation be brought up to 15 per cent. It asks that if the additional appropriation is made the funds then available, which will be $250,412, be applied not only to the cost of the improvement but also to the acquisition by eminent domain proceedings of the "islands" at Valencia street and Western avenue and a narrow strip of land on the north side of Eighth street at Lorraine Boulevard.

AVIATRIX LUNCHEON GUEST

Lady Mary Heath, British aviatrix, it was announced yesterday, will be the guest of honor tomorrow at the regular monthly luncheon and meeting of the Women's Aeronautical Association in Parlor S at the Biltmore. Elizabeth McQueen, president, and Dora Stevens, secretary, will preside jointly and introduce as speakers Commander Estes B. Kouger of the Long Beach Naval Reserve and Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR A. W. WITZEL

Leading Photographer to Be Buried at Inglewood Cemetery This Morning

Funeral services for Albert W. Witzel, who was for almost thirty years one of the best-known photographers in Southern California, will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock at the E. Clair Overholtzer chapel, 1234 South Grand avenue. Interment will be in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

ALBERT W. WITZEL

Mr. Witzel came to California when he was 9 years of age and obtained his first job as a photographer's employee when he was 14. In 1902 he opened his first studio. At the time of his death he had been operating three of the largest and best-equipped studios in Southern California.

About two years ago Mr. Witzel went to Palm Springs to live in the hope of regaining his health. His death occurred last Friday at Banning. He was 50 years of age. He was born in Deadwood, S. D., June 25, 1879. He was a member of the Elks' Lodge, No. 99, and several downtown clubs. He leaves Charles F. Witzel, his brother, who has been managing the business for the past several years, and his widow, Mrs. Marion P. Witzel.

TWO CHECKS REFUSED BY PORTER MEN

Thousand Dollars Sent Back to Secretary to Cryer by Committee

The Porter Campaign Committee yesterday returned to H. H. Kinney, secretary to Mayor Cryer, two checks, each for $500, made out to Kinney and signed by the officials of two Los Angeles business concerns.

The accompanying letter, which was signed by Albert E. Sherman, chairman of John C. Porter's finance committee, reads, in part, as follows:

"The Porter Campaign Committee is returning today these checks to you, with the information that we cannot use funds coming from such a source. We have consistently refused from the first to accept funds donated in a manner that would make it appear that John C. Porter, 'The People's Candidate,' is lined up with interests that are inimical to the high ideals that have obtained in his campaign."

Four Injured in P.E. Crash

Four passengers were hurt yesterday in a rear-end crash of two Pacific Electric street cars on Stanford street at Kohler street. Watts car No. 629, eastbound, operated by Motorman E. W. Whalen, had stopped to drop passengers when Whittier car 10121, in charge of Motorman H. W. Hollinger, crashed into its rear.

The injured passengers are Victor Payan, 41 years of age, of 11318 Pomolee street, Watts; Mrs. Herlinda Villa, 45, of 820 Ceres avenue; Mrs. Ethel Stephenson, 39, of 26 East Seventh-seventh Place, and her daughter, Lorraine, 5. All were treated for minor injuries at the Receiving Hospital.

BELT-LINE CHARGES FIXED

Harbor Railway Board Puts Fee for Handling of Freight at from $1 to $3 Per Carload

Charges to be made for handling within the unified operation zone, one of temporary members in the Harbor Belt Line Railway agreement were approved yesterday by the board of control of the line as recommended by the board of operations.

The rate was fixed on the basis of a division of the unified operation zone into three smaller zones as an intraterminal commercial freight switching rates. The division separates the zone into three areas consisting of San Pedro, Wilmington and East San Pedro. The rates are at $1 a loaded car within a single zone; $2 a car between two adjoining zones and $3 a car between San Pedro and East San Pedro. There will be no charge for movement of empty cars.

General Manager Squires made a brief report on the actual beginning of unified operations. He said the entire line will be fully systematized within a week.

Emerson Spear, harbor commissioner and member of the board, reported that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is planning a banquet at the harbor shortly to celebrate the beginning of unified operations and that the harbor and Long Beach chambers will be invited to attend.

Chairman Walter B. Allen, Spear and Commissioner J. A. Crawford represented the city. President Bonelli of the City Council being absent. D. W. Pontius for the Pacific Electric; E. H. Knickerbocker

NOBLES RELAX AT CATALINA

Four Thousand Shriners and Families Disport on Crags and Waters of Magic Isle

Allah's holiday, Shriners at play in the good old Catalina way.

Four thousand strong, members of the Imperial Divan, Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, recorders and families constituted the caravan to the "Gem of the Pacific" yesterday. No happier tribesmen ever crossed the channel. It was a day of relaxation and rest for Past Potentates, patrol leaders and Imperial Council representatives. There were no stunts, no formal presentation of chanters or patrols; just carefree happiness.

The Catalina was under way at 9:40 a.m. with 2200 aboard and following in her wake the Avalon carried 1800. Perfect weather conditions favored the top deck of the Catalina, which was thronged to capacity, a kaleidoscope of color in the blending of hundreds of Japanese parasols with the red fezzes of the Nobles and the bright dresses of the women and children. Family groups were the rule, rather than the exception, and the outing was, in fact, an event of the convention which will live in the memory of the fifty-fifth annual session.

HARBOR ASTONISHES

Marked attention and appreciation were manifest by the Nobles over the developments that have taken place at Los Angeles Harbor since 1925. "Marvelous, astounding," said Potentate Charles P. McCarthy of El Korah Temple, Boise, Idaho. "Reports from time to time in the press give no adequate conception of what is taking place at Los Angeles. It has to be seen. This harbor is the great storage reservoir of time and future prosperity. Way back in Idaho we feel that this harbor is ours also. It is drawing us closer and closer to Los Angeles, and while the wa-

Broadway Auto Jam Acquires Fixed Status

Traffic on downtown streets last night reached what might be termed the apex of hilarious confusion, with every Shriner and everybody who knew a Shriner trying to wedge their automobiles into Broadway.

During certain periods between 6 p.m. and midnight it required forty minutes for a timed car to go from Temple street to Seventh and Broadway. Many of the motorists who became trapped in the jam had not counted on the delays and their horn blasts sounded a few angry notes in the great din of most of the motorists who were just making noise for the fun of it.

Many of the Shriners had obtained whistles similar to those of policemen and many good-natured traffic tangles were the result when they blew them at intersections where signals had been set.

"TIMES" ELECTION SERVICE

In accordance with its custom, The Times will make known the returns from today's municipal election by radio, from Station KHJ, the Don Lee station, by special street editions and by telephone to all who call tonight. First returns will be available probably about 7:30 and will be broadcast at frequent intervals as long as the results remain in doubt.

CITY HOLDS OPEN HOUSE TO SHRINE PLAY BOYS

Streets Take on Oriental Aspect as Temple Delegations Parade in Dazzling Uniforms

Los Angeles held open house again yesterday and 50,000 Shriners stepped right into the most riotous welcome they have ever seen in their lives. Today close to 100,000 nobles and families are thronging the sun-drenched streets of the city in the greatest carnival of pleasure ever staged by the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

For three days this influx of pleasure-bound Shriners has choked all arteries of travel as they made their way to the fifty-fifth annual convention of the order to be held here today, tomorrow and Thursday. By every imaginable means of conveyance they came, and when they arrived the visitors found every conceivable form of greeting awaiting them.

BANDS AND THEN SOME

There were bands and bands and bands for those who liked bands. Up and down the streets they made their musical way, playing as escorts for scores of incoming temples, playing concerts on street corners for the entertainment of the multitudes that jammed the thoroughfares, serenading their friends—and playing for the sheer fun of it.

There were scores of brilliantly uniformed patrols from temples all over the country, marching from trains and boats to their convention homes, marching as honor guards for officers of the order, and marching because they felt like it.

There were jostling, joking, jubilant thousands throughout the downtown district, welcoming Shriner friends from all parts of North America, welcoming friends of friends, welcoming anybody under a fez; just welcoming because the far-famed Los Angeles sunshine, glowing in all its splendor, made them feel like welcoming.

The brilliance of the sunlight was

NOBLES MAY BACK STAND OF HOOVER

Resolution Supporting Law-Enforcement Policy Expected to be Passed

A resolution supporting President Hoover's law-enforcement program for the amelioration of crime conditions throughout the United States is expected to be introduced for formal adoption today in the Imperial Council of the Shrine, it was learned last night.

Although declining to make a formal announcement of the resolution on the ground that it is not the policy of the fraternity to make public propositions before they have been officially acted upon, several members of the Imperial Council personally approved the measure.

James H. Anderson, Imperial Representative of Alhambra Temple, Chattanooga, Tenn., believes that the proposed resolution from the Imperial Council of the Shrine will aid greatly the law-enforcement program established by President Hoover.

WHAT SHRINERS DO TODAY

The fifty-fifth annual Shrine convention will officially open this morning with an Oriental parade to the Coliseum, where opening ceremonies will take place. The parade will be brief, forming on Figueroa street south of Washington and proceeding by the shortest route into the Coliseum for special drills and exercises.

All spectators should be in their seats at the Coliseum at 9 a.m. The thousands of uniformed Shriners forming an official escort to the Imperial Potentate and the Imperial Divan will begin their march at 9 sharp and the first patrols will reach the Coliseum within ten minutes.

BAND CONCERT FIRST

A concert by the Third Coast Artillery Band from Fort MacArthur will commence at 8:15 a.m. and continue until the patrols enter the Coliseum arena. At 9:30 a.m. there will be an official twenty-one-gun salute from a battery of "75s" from Fort MacArthur and the colors will be raised.

At 10:30 a.m. the opening exercises will begin with addresses of welcome by Mayor Cryer, Director-General LeRoy M. Edwards and Gustaf Hutoff, Grand Master of Masons in California. Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones of Houston, Tex., will reply to the welcoming addresses. Drills and exercises will last until noon.

LUNCHEON AT NOON

At 12 noon there will be a luncheon in the Coliseum for bands which are to take part in the massed band concert.

At 12:30 p.m. the Imperial Council has its luncheon at the Biltmore.

At 1 p.m. there will be a luncheon at the Ambassador and a fashion show for the ladies of the Imperial Council, to be followed by an automobile trip through the motion-picture districts of Hollywood.

At 2 p.m. there will be a massed band concert of forty Shrine bands and at 2:30 p.m. the first performance of the Shrine Circus Maximus will begin. The Circus Maximus will take place in five rings in the Coliseum arena and on special aerial apparatus erected, in some cases, 100 feet above the ground. The afternoon performance will last until about 5 o'clock.

NIGHT PERFORMANCE

At 8 o'clock the single night performance of the Circus Maximus will be staged, with thousands of lights to illuminate the aerial performers on their trapezes, ropes and tight wires high above the Coliseum walls.

Also at 8 p.m. there will be an Hawaiian banquet for members of the Imperial Divan, representatives and their ladies, at the Biltmore.

At 9 p.m. begins the formal ball at Shrine Auditorium for all Shriners and their ladies.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

IF YOU know how to look, these transcontinental highways have as much dramatic interest as the old caravan routes.

Coming through Sierra Blanca, Tex., we saw an automobile load that gave food for thought. It was obvious that the father was out of work and they were moving on—looking for the land of promise.

LITTLE BLESSINGS

The father was about 32 years of age. He had an insignificant rabbit face and a bald head. The mother was a sad-faced woman in a shabby dress. She was 28 and looked sixty. She was so drawn and licked by life.

From the swarm of children on the back seat she had been having one every two years. There were six. When I caught the last glimpse of her she was sidling up th. street with the timid desperation of a hungry cat. She was looking for something that would do for food.

ENOUGH!

Statistics indicate that these children will grow and have six children each. That will be thirty-six in the next generation. The torch will be carried on by 216 descendants following them. In the third generation there will be 129 rabbit-faced children wandering around in decrepit Fords looking for work. Lady, lady, stop right where you are!

BUGGY RIDING

All along these southern highways you meet Indians packed into old Fords like wriggling sardines. Nobody ever got as much fun out of a Ford as the noble Red Man. They are incurable visitors. One of the greatest problems of the Indian agents is to keep Mrs. Two Bears home from her buggy rides long enough to let the old man do the spring plowing.

MYSTERIOUS

One of the curious anomalies of life is that our government officials can never forego the pleasure of play acting.

The street car that crosses from El Paso to Juarez and back again is boarded twice—once by Mexican custom and immigration officials—later on by Americans.

The Mexicans are quite simple and natural and kind. The Americans come through the car trying to look like Sherlock Holmes on the trail of a murder mystery. Their shoulders are hunched up and their eyes peer about in a manner described in novels as "piercing." When they finally leave the car, with a final mysterious look around, you feel as though the curtain ought to come down while the orchestra plays "The Star Spangled Banner."

YEH! MOMENTOUS

I really hate to spoil the show and all that; but the fact is most of the border sleuthing is done by spotters. They watch people buying perfume and jewelry in the Juarez stores and follow them into the street cars until the mysterious gents come on board.

Anyhow, the technique of the border patrol suggests something much more momentous than a perfume smuggler. They act as though they were expecting to see the president of the League of Nations conspiring with a rebel from the planet Mars.

STREET PROTESTS DENIED

Protests were denied by the City Council yesterday against the ordinances of intention for the improvement of Glenhurst avenue between Largo avenue and Silver Lake Boulevard and of Santa Cruz street between Arboles Court and Mesa street, thus leaving the way open for the adoption of the final ordinances.

NEW JAIL PLEA WIDELY BACKED

Health Building Bonds Also Freely Indorsed

Scores of Organizations Urge Yes Vote

Vollmer and Parrish in Final Exhortation

Indorsed without reservation by welfare organizations, chambers of commerce, Legion posts, women's organizations, commercial and business organizations, propositions Nos. 4 and 5, providing for a new City Jail and public health center have won generous public approval.

Among the organizations approving these two measures are: Los Angeles, Wilmington, San Pedro, North Hollywood, Owensmouth, Reseda, Venice, Van Nuys, Watts, West Los Angeles, Palms and Southwest Chambers of Commerce; Los Angeles City Council, Board of Public Works, Central Labor Council, Los Angeles Realty Board, Municipal League, Board of Fire Commissioners and Central Business District Association.

Los Angeles Board of Fire Commissioners, Carthay Center Women's Club, Security Housing Corporation, Canadian Club, Friday Morning Club, Life Underwriters' Association, Broadway Association, Waiters' Union, Local No. 17; Vermontshire Association, Women of the Golden West, Carthay Center P.-T.A., Los Angeles League of Women Voters, Stanton Post, No. 88, G.A.R.; Los Angeles Cotton Exchange, The Plain Folks Club, Get Acquainted Society, East Side Republican Club, Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association and Vermont Vernon Business Association.

League of Republican Clubs, Los Angeles Architectural Club, the Associated Bakers of Southern California, Los Angeles Typographical Union, Catholic Welfare Bureau, the Big Sisters' League, Retail Merchants' Credit Association, Poultrymen's Cooperative Association, Sawtelle Women's Club, Ohio Societies of Southern California, Women's City Club of Venice, San Pedro Optimists' Club, Salvation Army, Hollywood Cemetery Association, Venice Ladies' Club, Sawtelle Ladies' Club, the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, Vermont-Manchester Business Association, Vermont-Slauson Business Association, Affiliated Improvement Association, Broadway-Manchester Business Club, the Church Federation of Los Angeles, United States War Veterans and Palms Women's Club.

POLICE COMMISSION ASKS YES VOTE ON NO. 4

A resolution was passed by the Police Commission yesterday urging the voters to approve the bond issue of $1,300,000, known as Proposition No. 4 on the ballot at today's election. The present police headquarters and City Jail on First street were declared to be a disgrace to a city the size of Los Angeles.

"It is up to the public to provide its police department with some adequate place to carry on its work," declared Dell A. Schweitzer, president of the commission. "The present building has been condemned from time to time and has been ordered torn down.

"If the public doesn't vote the bonds it is difficult to understand what can be done to meet the exigencies of the situation.

"The present quarters should be torn down. They consist of a dark, dingy hole resembling more or less the burrow of rabbits than a place for human beings. There are no adequate quarters to perform the duties of the department and no doubt they have much to do with the inconvenience of which the public complains in the handling of the affairs of the department."

Commissioners Mark Pierce, G. W. Gollum, and W. S. Thorpe indorsed Schweitzer's remarks and urged a large vote in behalf of the bonds to provide a police headquarters and City Jail that not only will be adequate but which will be an adjunct to the civic center plan.

PARRISH IN FINAL PLEA FOR HEALTH BUILDING

Pointing out that it is to the economic as well as the health interests of Los Angeles that the bond issue carry, Dr. George Parrish, city health officer, yesterday made a last urgent appeal to citizens to go to the polls today and vote for Proposition No. 5, which provides $1,000,000 for a health center.

"The general welfare of the city demands that this issue carry," said Dr. Parrish. "Not only do we need larger quarters, but also a building designed and built in accordance with our requirements. The old International Building which the health department now occupies has been ordered demolished and the department has been left without a home.

"This means that either the issue will have to carry or we will be forced to rent a private building, which, besides the fact that such a building adequate to house our activities is difficult to find, it will mean that the taxpayer will have to pay the high rental which is much more in excess of what the interest on this small bond issue will be."

Dr. Parrish and members of his department expressed confidence that the proposition will be given winning support. They called attention to the fact that it has received the indorsement of numerous representative organizations as well as private individuals, including the Board of Education, Chamber of Commerce, Community Chest, Methodist Ministers' Association, Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association, Central Business District Association, Municipal League, American Red Cross, Civic League, many women's clubs, Louis M. Cole, D. W. Pontius, Mrs. J. J. A. Van Kaathoven, Rabbi Edgar Magnin and Dr. R. L. Cunningham.

VOLLMER URGES VOTE FOR NEW CITY JAIL

Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley, who formerly occupied the same position here, yesterday added his indorsement to the $1,300,000 bond issue to be voted on at today's election providing for a new police headquarters building and City Jail in a letter received by Chief of Police Davis, in which the former head states the issue should have been on the ballot in the 1923 election.

"How it happens that a city so full of civic pride can permit such dilapidated, unsanitary structures to serve the purposes of the police department and City Jail is beyond my understanding," he wrote in part. "In fact the very mention of Los Angeles police headquarters to any other police official in the country evokes a pitying smile because Los Angeles has the reputation of being a wealthy city which has treated its police department in a niggardly fashion."

Chief Vollmer concludes by wishing he might be here to campaign in behalf of the proposition.

CRIMINOLOGISTS BACK JAIL BOND PLEA

The Academy of Criminology of Southern California yesterday added its indorsement to Proposition No. 4 on the ballot at today's election, providing for a new Central police station and City Jail, and recommended that the people cast their votes in its favor.

"Being fully acquainted with conditions existing in the city with regard to jail and administrative facilities, and feeling the people will appreciate an expression of opinion on the subject, we heartily indorse Proposition No. 4 on the ballot," read the statement. It was signed by Justin Miller, dean of University of Southern California law school, and president of the academy; Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Sheriff Traeger, Dr. Paul E. Bowers, Dr. E. C. Moore, Dr. Rufus B. Von Kleinsmid, Judge E. J. Lickley, Eugene Biscailuz, E. J. Scudder and Edith Burleigh.

"TIMES" ELECTION SERVICE

In accordance with its custom, The Times will make known the returns from today's municipal election by radio, from Station KHJ, the Don Lee station, by special street editions and by telephone to all who call tonight. First returns will be available probably about 7:30 and will be broadcast at frequent intervals as long as the results remain in doubt.

HOW TO MARK YOUR BALLOT AT TODAY'S ELECTION

To vote for a candidate or a measure stamp a cross in the square opposite the name or the word "yes," being careful not to vote for a greater number of candidates in any one group than the ballot indicates. The crosses stamped on the ballot below indicate the recommendations of The Times. Where no cross appears The Times has no recommendation to offer. This is a composite of all the city ballots and shows all Councilmanic districts where there are contests. The ballot each voter will receive at his polling place today will carry only Council candidates in his individual district. In six districts Councilmen were elected outright at the primary.

BONELLI ANSWERS PASTOR, DENIES KLAN MEMBERSHIP

In a reply to a written query from Rev. Gustav A. Briegleb, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, as to the authenticity of a report that he had applied for membership in the Highland Park division of the Ku Klux Klan, William G. Bonelli, candidate for Mayor of Los Angeles, yesterday denied that he had ever joined any division of the Klan or filed application for such membership.

The Briegleb-Bonelli correspondence on the subject of Klan membership developed as an aftermath of publication of the fact that the local Ku Klux Klan organization had indorsed Bonelli's opponent, John C. Porter.

Bonelli's letter denying Klan affiliation reads in part:

"Answering specifically the questions of your letter of May 31, I wish to say that I am not a member of the K.K.K. I have never been a member of the K.K.K., I have never made an application to the Highland Park K.K.K. or any other division of the K.K.K. organization. To the best of my knowledge I have never been supported by any division of the K.K.K. in any of my candidacies for public office. Your apparent familiarity with the official acts of this organization lead me to believe that you already knew the answers could be only those I have given you, and that you were aware of this at the time you asked the questions.

"In closing I suggest that I have at all times conceded to my opponent that thing which I claim for myself, personal honesty and integrity and a desire to serve his community, and that while I do not claim any monopoly of good Christian morals, that I have for six years been a teacher in Occidental College, enjoyed from the Ministerial Association an equal expression of approbation to that given my opponent, enjoyed the same degree of indorsement from the Anti-Saloon League that my opponent did, and have been indorsed by probably more ministers than has my opponent, among which I am sure you will be glad to learn was the truly beautiful indorsement received by me yesterday from our outstanding leader, Rev. Hugh K. Walker, former moderator of the Presbyterian Church.

"I trust that the above answers indicate my willingness to be questioned on any of my affiliations and of my readiness to give the most trruthful answers to all asked me."

VAN NORMAN GIVES FINAL PLEA FOR BOND ISSUES

Declaring Los Angeles citizens should let nothing interfere with casting a ballot today, H. A. Van Norman, general manager of the Department of Water and Power, yesterday issued a final appeal for the power and water bonds to be voted today.

"Let me take this occasion to express to the thousands of citizens and organizations my personal thanks and the gratitude of the Department of Water and Power that they have taken the time publicly to indorse and work for the adoption of these two propositions that mean so much to the prosperity of the city."

Van Norman reminded the voters that approval of the power and water bonds will not increase taxes one cent. Interest and principal charges, he pointed out, are paid from earnings of the Department of Water and Power and not from taxes. This is provided by law, he said.

He further called attention to the vital need of the power bonds and the water bonds to keep pace with the normal growth of Los Angeles and provide necessary extensions, additions and betterments to the municipal electric and water systems.

New Rumor of Pantages Deal Branded False

Reports that Publix Theaters will take over operation of Alexander Pantages's new Hollywood Theater and his Seventh and Hill streets showhouse were denied last night by officials of the company.

In denying the report officials say they have spent several weeks in booking acts that would not have been considered if such a move had been contemplated.

Although it is declared that the proposed merger of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation and Pantages enterprise has failed to materialize, no official word to that effect is forthcoming from the Pantages organization.

Murphy Named in Complaint as Bennett Slayer

James H. Murphy was charged with the murder of Elmer (Eddie) Bennett, yesterday in a complaint issued by Bonner Richardson, chief of the District Attorney's complaint department.

Bennett was shot to death as he lay on his bed in his room at 625 South Bixel street, May 31, last, the complaint states.

Officers charge that the shooting came as the climax of a drunken party in Bennett's room.

Murphy escaped from the room and is still at liberty.

A Cloudy Cruet

The vinegar cruet needs severe treatment to prevent its getting brown and coated. This coating can be removed by crushing an egg shell and putting the pieces in the cruet. Then add hot, soapy water and shake until the cruet is clear and sparkling.

ORATION TO BE HEARD IN TALK FILMS

Speech by Winner of Recent Contest Feature at Local Show Houses

During most of this week motion-picture theatergoers will have an opportunity to hear Ben W. Swafford's prize-winning oration in the Sixth National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution in five Los Angeles and suburban theaters, the Fox Film Company announced yesterday.

The youthful Kansas City (Mo.) orator's address "The American Constitution and Its Framers," was made into a talking picture when he presented his winning address at Washington, May 28, as he defeated all the leaders from the various zones throughout the country which yearly hold sectional contests prior to the Washington finals.

The Carmel Theater, Hollywood; Balboa, Manchester and Vermont avenues; Iris, Hollywood; Manchester Theater at South Broadway and Figueroa, and the Inglewood Theater, Inglewood, all have booked the picture for this week, the Fox company announced.

Big Tujunga's Road Improved

An improved low-grade roadway will be constructed immediately in Big Tujunga Canyon to facilitate building of the proposed flood-control dam, it was announced yesterday when the County Board of Supervisors appropriated $15,000 for surfacing and grading the present road.

The County Road Department will build twenty-five fords and bridges for crossing Big Tujunga. It was said, the work to begin immediately.

OFFICER ASSIGNED TO BRING BACK SUSPECT

Detective Lieutenant Reavis of the Wilshire division was detailed yesterday to bring back Daniel J. Dennehy from Dallas, Tex., where he was arrested several days ago in connection with the investigation of the murder here on March 20, last, of Max Silverstein, asserted racketeer. Dennehy, according to local police, was identified through a photograph as one of two men supposed to have been seen leaving the apartment in which Silverstein was shot and killed. He was arrested in Dallas on a description broadcast by Reavis.

POLICE PLAINTS REFERRED

Complaint made by the welfare committee of the Ninth District Chamber of Commerce that requests for police aid in the Hollenbeck Heights district had failed to get any results in stopping a youth from tearing around at night with his motorcycle cutout wide open and that the district police had failed to prosecute a drunken party in a house in the district, was referred by the Police Commission yesterday to Chief Davis for an investigation.

DELAY GRANTED FOR NORTHCOTT

Supreme Court Postpones Plea Until Fall

Kelley Murder Hearing to be on Thursday

Two Other Hanging Cases Also Up for Decision

The fate of four men, over whose heads hover the sentence of death by hanging in San Quentin prison, and which, it was expected, would be disposed of by the State Supreme Court when that tribunal opened its June session here yesterday, still was in abeyance at the close of court yesterday. Two of the cases, that of Leo Pat Kelley, asserted Los Angeles murder of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, and of James Chandler, a negro, asserted slayer of his sweetheart, Jessie Gafford, in Los Angeles, were continued until Thursday on motion of attorneys representing the appellants.

The fate of Gordon Stewart Northcott, asserted slayer of three boys on a Wineville chicken ranch, will not be determined until September, at least, the court continuing the case to the term to be held in Los Angeles in that month. Ten days additional were given to the appellant in which to file briefs in the case of Alphonse Reilly, convicted of the murder, last January, of Abraham Sandelman, Spring-street shoe dealer.

ATTORNEY ABSENT

Failure of Attorney Charles V. Rude, counsel for Chandler, to appear at the time set for hearing, and the declaration by Dep. Atty.-Gen. Flynn that Rude had abandoned the case, caused the continuation of that case until Thursday.

"This is a case involving capital punishment, is it not?" Chief Justice Waste, presiding, inquired.

"Yes, your honor," replied Flynn.

"Does the attorney not know that he cannot abandon such a case?" the court demanded. "The case will be continued until Thursday and it is ordered that the attorney be present in this court at that time," Justice Waste directed.

The manslaughter case involving Ralph Post, charged with responsibility for the death in San Diego Bay of Mrs. Parthema K. Simpson, and convicted of manslaughter, was continued for ten days to give appellant further time for the filing of briefs. Post was accused of driving his automobile off a dock into the bay while Mrs. Simpson was a passenger. The woman was drowned and Post escaped through anopen window in his car.

DISBARMENT CASES

A number of cases involving appeals for writs of review by attorneys involved in disbarment proceedings took on a changed aspect when Chief Justice Waste announced that because of the recent decision of the Supreme Court, upholding the constitutionality of the State Bar Act, no question of its constitutionality can enter into the cases at bar. The question was raised in practically every case of this nature on the calendar. The court announced that, with the disposal last week of the question of constitutionality, nothing remained except questions coming under the provisions of the act itself, which gave to the Supreme Court the right to review.

Among disbarment and disciplinary cases is that of Howell Richardson and Benjamin Elconin, whose disbarment is recommended by the State Bar Association as a result of charges growing out of the L. H. Allen bail-bond case. The accused attorneys assert insufficiency of evidence and set up a claim that the State Bar Act, even though constitutional, is not retroactive and gives the State Bar Association no power to act on offenses committed prior to the date the act became operative. Arguments, it was indicated yesterday, are to be heard by the court, sitting en bloc.

ECHO OF GISH SUIT

An echo of the Lillian Gish suit was heard when the case of Attorneys A. L. Abrahms and Harry O. Sadicoff was called. They appealed from an order of the board of governors of the Bar Association, suspending them from practice for two years because of the asserted nature of an affidavit filed by them in the breach-of-contract suit of Charles H. Duell of New York against the motion-picture star. The court granted thirty days to appellants and thirty days to respondents to file briefs and continued the case to the September term in Los Angeles.

The case of Douglas T. Winne, Fresno attorney, who appealed from an order of the State Bar Association, suspending him for a term of one year for asserted malpractice in a probate case, was ordered submitted. Winne attacked the constitutionality of the State Bar Act and charged the evidence submitted is insufficient to support the decision of the board of governors.

ANOTHER CONTINUED

The case of William F. Stafford, a practicing attorney in San Francisco for forty-eight years, whose disbarment was ordered following investigation of five separate complaints, was continued until the October term of court to be held in San Francisco.

Attorney Edward V. Jones, Bakersfield, appealed from an order of suspension for one year. The case was ordered submitted yesterday.

False Income Return Denied

Accused of having made a false income-tax return, Louis W. Barnett, owner of shoe stores in Pasadena and Long Beach, yesterday pleaded not guilty when he appeared before United States District Judge James. George C. Terry, an income-tax adviser, who was accused of preparing the tax return for Barnett, also pleaded not guilty. Their cases were continued to be set for trial.

It was stated that the Collector of Internal Revenue started the case when he discovered a letter from Terry attached to Barnett's tax return, which indicated Terry had made a false return for Barnett.

VOLKMER FUNERAL TODAY

Artist Widely Known in America and Europe as Authority on Fresco and Mural Work

Funeral services for Bernhard Volkmer, 64 years of age, prominent in art circles in America and Germany, who died at the Los Angeles Hospital Saturday, will be conducted this afternoon at 2 p.m. from the Ruppe Mortuary. Death was caused by blood-poisoning from an infection in his foot.

Mr. Volkmer had to his credit many notable works of art and was an authority on fresco and mural work. He designed the interior decorations of the homes of many wealthy Californians, among them being the Busch mansion and the residences of Marco and Irving Heilman.

Much of his local fame came to him through his huge altar painting in the Holy Cross Cathedral. The painting is 42x60 feet. His work with tapestries which are pin stenciled and painted with dyes have been exhibited all over the world.

Mr. Volkmer came to Los Angeles when 19 years of age from Cologne, Germany. During his art work he found time to invest in the growing values of Los Angeles real estate and at the time of his death possessed large holdings of valuable business property.

Shortly after coming to Los Angeles he aided in founding the Art Students' League. He returned to Europe for several years to take courses in the Beaux Arts in Paris and the Art Institute of Cologne. He maintained a studio in the Douglas Building in Los Angeles. He leaves two nieces, Catherine Volkmer and Mrs. Mimi Mueller of Los Angeles.

MONEY MAKERS

The steel industry has been getting an average of 6.35 per cent in earnings in the business. That doesn't sound like swollen profits. At any rate it is hardly warrant for the boosting that has been going on in the stock market. Some of the great corporations are making smaller profits than the small manufacturer or merchant.

HOME NEGLECT

The Federation of Women's Clubs is about to lend assistance to an official survey into the carelessness of housewives. If they find that some of the neglect results from the devotion they give to their clubs, what will they do about it? It would at least be well to find out how much there is in it. Giving baby the matchbox to play with while mother rushes off to her club is not approved in club circles.

LEAVE HIM ALONE

If Lindbergh wishes to hide away on his honeymoon why can't the news reelers give him the chance? The country is not suffering for pictures of the flying colonel. He has been caught in every possible pose and another filming will add nothing to the roster. Any time Charlie says he wishes to be left alone the cameramen owe him the courtesy of obeisance to his whim. He has given himself to their fill.

TEAMING UP

George Bernard Shaw refuses to explain to reporters his chumminess with Eugene Tunney. Likewise he refuses to tattle about either the pugilist or his sick wife. Shaw has been spending most of his vacation in the companionship of Tunney and must have liked it. The two certainly make a hot team. They would be able to knock out anything in the world—either with the mailed fist or the spoken word.

FOR TOLERANCE

The Pope is said to be working on a peace plan which would reinstate the Catholic church in Mexico. It is reported that the matter will shortly be submitted to Emilio Portes Gil, the provisional President of the cactus republic. If it can be stipulated that the priests will hold themselves aloof from the politics of the nation there should be no objection to their conducting their own forms of worship. The country should be able to provide religious freedom for its citizens.

BRITAIN'S PLIGHT

During the first three months of the present year it is reported that the deaths exceeded the births in England by 44,200. If this thing keeps up in another thousand years the island will be unable to muster a cricket team. It was a hard winter and the deaths were unusually heavy, but the showing is one which might well inspire alarm. Nevertheless, England is not suffering for man power and efforts are being made to stimulate emigration to Canada and Australia and ease the market of the unemployed.

GETTING TOGETHER

More plans for church unity. Once more the speakers at the general conference of the Congregational church express hearty enthusiasm over the suggestion for a merging with the official organization of the Christian church. Members of the latter have indicated a like spirit. At the meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church the leaders indicated a brisk willingness to blend with the Methodists. They seemed to favor any type or form of church unity. Let the leaven work. Some day a worthy man may be able to go to heaven without any particular stipulation as to his creed.

PUSHING THE FOG

The Society of American Engineers is concerned with making aviation safe for those who wing their way through the skies. They are trying to beat the fog, which remains as the particular pest of the heavenly flyers. The industry would give a whole lot for a fog-fender that would bump these woozy obstructions out of the way, but they are making progress in perfecting appliances that feel in the dark. One apparatus can tell the exact latitude and sense of proper landing spot in the midst of a fog that you can stir with a spoon. If we can beat the clouds and fogs flying will be a much more pleasant game.

THE UNDERGROUND RESERVOIR

Immediate work is to be started on the first of the four dams to control the flood waters of the Big Tujunga watershed, according to an announcement by Chief Engineer Eaton to the County Board of Supervisors. These dams will serve the purpose of water conservation as well as of flood control. Both objects are of utmost importance to residents of Los Angeles county.

It is certain that at least ten years must elapse before the waters of the Colorado River can be made available for the new millions of population Southern California will by that time have added to its population. In the meantime we must take steps to conserve the supply we can obtain from our own watersheds, heretofore recklessly wasted.

Prof. Franklin Thomas of the California Institute of Technology recently outlined to the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Gabriel Valley the findings of hydrographic engineers on the present water situation in Southern California. From them he drew the indubitable conclusion that we are taking out of our subterranean water supply a greater amount of water than the forces of nature, unless artificially aided, are able to replenish. Because it is invisible many people are apt to under-rate how large a part this subterranean water plays in providing for our needs.

In the La Verne district the underground level once stood at seventy feet and in the cienegas there were flowing wells. The present level is 250 feet and nowhere is there a flowing well left. Generally the subterranean level in our southern valleys has gone down twice as fast during the past five years as in the five years preceding. Pumps have now to be employed on what were once artesian wells and pumped wells have to be constantly drilled deeper at a considerably increased cost in power bills.

Check dams in the mountains and spreading grounds at the mouths of canyons will do much to assist nature in storing our winter rains for summer uses. The construction of the first unit in the Big Tujunga project will provide a percolation of nearly 1,500,000,000 gallons a year, according to the engineers. This system of holding back the storm waters from our rainy months should be extended till the absolute minimum of water is allowed to waste itself in the ocean and the whole rainfall stored through dams and spreading grounds, to sink into the subterranean basin on which many small cities and communities in Southern California depend exclusively.

Other engineers have investigated the shrinking of the artesian belt in the coastal plain. Their official figures give the artesian area in 1888 at 315 square miles, in 1904 at 206 and in 1925 at but fifty-five square miles. The Neff well at Anaheim, for instance, has dropped two and a half feet yearly for twenty-eight years. Another well in Orange county which when it was drilled in the late '90's rose sixty feet above the surface is now fifty feet below.

Of course the settlement of Southern California with ever-growing towns and hamlets and farms and orchards, and the annual heavier demand made on the underground reservoir from this source, must inevitably lower the water tables. Our people are alive to the situation. Much has already been done. More remains to do. Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties are planning a flood-control system on the Santa Ana River to cost many millions of dollars. By these and other measures to conserve the winter rains, helped as they may be by a succession of wet seasons, the downward drop of the water plane can to a large extent be overcome.

One other relief method remains through the salvage of millions of dollars' worth of water that is poured through the sewers of Southern California to be wasted in the ocean. The waste water of Los Angeles alone would irrigate thousands of acres. The sewage disposal plants of Pasadena and the tri-city plant of Pomona, Claremont and La Verne, through the activated sludge process, already provide irrigating water for farms and orchards. Dr. Thomas asserts that in the present method of conveying sewage to the ocean we waste one-half of our water resources.

It is well to know that we have the Los Angeles Aqueduct as a permanent water supply for our own city; a supply, moreover, which can be largely increased. It is well to be assured that we can tap the Colorado River or other sources by the time our need for still more water becomes imperative. But it is better still to conserve that mighty source of wealth we possess in the invisible reservoir of the underground lake replenished every year from the rains falling in our own vicinity.

Of equal importance with such a conservation program is one whereby such stored waters shall be made equitably available for all the communities of the Los Angeles basin in proportion to their respective rights thereto as determined by population and beneficial use to which the water can be put. No one group should seek more than its proper share, for any such attempt will merely result in litigation, delay in the development program and no profit to anyone but a few lawyers.

BLESSED ARE THE POOR

Blessed are the poor, for they can go to jail without being annoyed by photographers, says a wisecracker. The idea might be extended. Blessed are the poor, for they can go abroad with their sweethearts without having their kisses canned.

They can eat without having the world looking over their shoulders reading the menu. They can wear blue serge suits without having to try them on in public. They can adopt a Fedora for church without having it appear in the rotogravure section.

They can talk without having it garbled by reporters. They can go fishing without the world standing around waiting to peek in the creel. They can sneak in the back way and hide the fisherman's luck dripping from them.

They can fall off a horse without tumbling around the entire globe. They can live at home without a company of infantry around the premises. They can go off on a journey without having to call out the standing army to go along. They can make a trip without having all the rails spiked down. They can marry a wife without having some enterprising widow sue for breach of promise.

Blessed are the poor. They can go to bed at night and sleep. They do not have to sit up till morning with a rat trap in one hand and a gun in the other watching for rats and robbers. They can sit down and eat without worrying about a waiter spilling the gravy down their backs.

They may have to buy the little fellows at the markets, but they soon find that Nature tucks the sweetest juices in the smallest fruits. They may have no tapestries on their walls or floors, but they soon discover that music sounds better in a bare room.

They may have to raise their own babies, but then their babies learn their language and ways. Their wives may have to cook for them, but then a man's wife has more brains and can cook better than any maid. The rich may have better food for their appetites, but the poor have better appetite for their food.

Blessed are the poor!

BIOGRAPHY

In the light of the recent attempts of biographers to defame some of our national heroes it would seem that President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin is right when he says that "While the old biographer was in the business of manufacturing halos, the new biographer is in the business of tarnishing them."

Henry Ford said that "history is the bunk," and he might have put much of our modern biography in the same category. When one reads Boswell's painstaking and elaborate "Life of Johnson," the most notable of English biographies, one gains a good idea of what a fairly representative life study should be. We seem to get from it an almost perfect picture of the man, his attributes, his aspirations and his attitude toward his fellows. It belongs to a period of frankness and fairness which the world seems to have outgrown, just as it has outgrown the spirit of reverence.

In the Victorian era great men were apotheosized. The portraits made of them by biographers were like steel engravings. But in this new cycle life studies are raw and ugly. They fill the reader with feelings of revulsion instead of reverence. As there has been no age in which biography, old and new, has been in such demand by readers, it is timely to assert that we do not want books about great men written by either cynics or white-washers. We are fed up with both panegyrics and diatribes. The true aim of the biographer should be to reveal the personal significance of the person he portrays, not to try to find a single key to his character, but to show that there are many keys, and that even the best of men are creatures of a medley of motives.

To trace a human life through its conflicts and vicissitudes, to remark its manifold efforts, triumphs, defeats, perplexities, achievements, joys and sorrows, is the true province of the biographer, who should neither exaggerate the virtues nor gloss over the faults of his model. This is what Plutarch did nearly 2000 years ago, and there is no good reason why it should not be done today, for neither glorification nor defamation serve any true purpose in the writing of biography.

TARIFF TALK

The tariff bill as amended by the Ways and Means Committee passed the lower branch of Congress by a margin of 117 votes—which is surely a decisive showing. But the measure will now go to the Senate, where it is likely to take up the rest of the session. The Senators are nothing if not deliberative. Nothing is more certain than that they will take their time in discussion and argument.

ROUND THE WORLD

The Dollar Navigation Company is about to build six massive new liners for their round-the-world service. This seems to be a popular and profitable branch of the business. The new fleet will cost about $50,000,000, which is a large order to swell from a Dollar investment.

TAKING THE GOOD WITH THE EVIL

By James J. Montague

Scientists have found that hogs are better able than men to choose the kind of diet that they need.

A man does not know much about
The dietary question.
He chooses food which gives him gout
And pip and indigestion.
He eats too much of meat and cake
And pies of soggy thickness
Which all engender stomach ache
And other forms of sickness.
And as his earthly years increase
The luckless wretch is fated
To grow, through eating, too obese
Or too emaciated.

Upon the other hand the swine,
Though eating is his passion,
Will take the greatest pains to dine
Upon a balanced ration.
Without requesting the advice
Of any dietitian,
The viands, he devours, suffice
To keep him in condition.
And though while very young, indeed,
His patient heart stops beating,
It's not because he did not heed
The laws which govern eating.

However, though, night after night,
I lie in bed bent double
Because at dinner I invite
Some keen digestive trouble,
And suffer even here and now
Midriffian disquiet
Because I never found out how
To choose a proper diet,
My faith in man's superior sway
Is solid and unshaken;
I'd rather be dyspepsia's prey

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

ALL night the mockingbird
Singeth his song
High in the treetops
Where cats do no wrong.

Dawn finds him singing,
Unwearied and gay.
Refreshed by two worms,
He sings on through the day.

On midday siestas
And midnightly dreams
He pours the full flood
Of his musical streams.

Till my being is stirred
To my soul's deepest deep,
And I cry: "Little bird,
Wenninell DO you sleep?"

What's Time to a Lighter?

One of the new novelties in the nifty shops is a cigarette lighter with a clock on it.

By this one can tell how many minutes, on the average, it takes to get a light from a lighter.

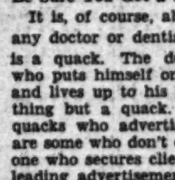
Be Sure You Get a Reliable One

It is, of course, absurd to say that any doctor or dentist who advertises is a quack. The doctor or dentist who puts himself on record in print, and lives up to his promises, is anything but a quack. But there are quacks who advertise, just as there are some who don't dare to, and anyone who secures clients through misleading advertisements and does not live up to his promises ought to be exposed and severely dealt with.

The other day an old lady we know went to a certain Dr. Hokum, who offered to make "a full set of teeth" at a very attractive price. When she got there she found "full set," in his language, meant either upper or lower teeth, and if she needed both she must pay for two full sets, or twice the advertised price. She did, and he turned her over to a young man who seemed to be a student-dentist, and that was the last she saw of Dr. Hokum or her money.



The teeth the young dentist made her hurt her so much she couldn't wear them. But when she asked to see Dr. Hokum again he refused to see her.

"It's no use, madam," one of the office girls told her, confidentially. "Dr. Hokum is just the 'landlady' of this organization. He drums up the trade, turns it over to these young dentists, and gets his commission out of every job they do. That's the kind of specialist he is."

Softness Largely State of Mind

Advocates of the hardy life warn us that motoring instead of walking makes us soft.

And Good in Everything

A Redondo Beach man says he doesn't know about sermons in stones, but he sees a good many nature studies in bathing suits.

Every Man to His Taste

They say there are restaurants for people of all lands, in this cosmopolitan area, and E. M. Y. supports that assertion by calling our attention to this sign on West Dryden street, Glendale:

FOX TERRIER
PUP PIES
FOR SALE

Another Story of Faith Fulfilled

Once a New York man who often had heard of William Allen White and his Emporia Gazette was traveling through Kansas and looked out of the car window on a sprawly country town. Then his eyes caught the name on the station, and he exclaimed:

"Oh, hell, is this Emporia!"

Similarly, Californians who often have heard of the Hemet News might be surprised, on a first visit to Hemet. Not that it lacks charm. It has a great deal of it. But it has only 2700 people.

"The News was born December 9, 1893," writes Homer D. King in that excellent little paper. "There were only a score of buildings then within what are now the city limits of Hemet. The Hemet Dam had just been completed. The California Southern Railroad, now the Santa Fe, had just built into the valley, with San Jacinto as its terminus. Now Hemet has become a model California community of 2700 population and the News has become in size and circulation the largest rural weekly on the Pacific Coast."

Those Vacant Lots

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is a gracious and commendable gesture to doll up the streets and buildings with colorful symbols of welcome when big company comes to town. But there is something else that ought to be done; that is, to tackle the problem of that perennial nuisance—the vacant lot.

Not even the desert at its worst can compare with the raw ugliness seen in every block. And the finer the surrounding lawns, flower beds and shrubbery, the more conspicuous these eyesores. Especially are they in evidence on our leading boulevards, where so much property is held vacant, awaiting the time for profitable high-class improvement.

The remedy would be, gradually, of course, to take over these liabilities and convert them into assets by commercial plantings of flowers, fruits, vegetables and, in the case of large tracts, summer field crops, such as alfalfa.

The subject is too big for detailing in this column of The Times; but won't some one with influence, who can measure the obvious objections against the benefits to be had, get the right folks together and thresh it out?

Meantime, the city might make a vigorous start on that thankless job which comes as surely as dishwashing; that of dry-cleaning the worst of 'em before all the big company has come and gone.

A Ripe Request

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Shuler made the statement over the radio last evening that Mr. Bonelli was buying up the election boards at $5 per. For the good name of those who have not been bought will Mr. Shuler please give the names of those who have been bought and the precinct they are working in?

State Building Site

BELLFLOWER (Cal.) May 28. [To the Editor of The Times:] Your editorial regarding the Humphreys' State building site and the explanations in another column as to why the members of the Board of Supervisors voted as they did, show signs of a "real estate deal." It is contrary to public policy for any legislative board to buy real estate for any other purpose than is stated in the resolution.

The outstanding objections to the purchase at the present time to save condemnation proceedings expenses to the county, does not explain that this property will be placed beyond the levy of taxes for any purpose whatsoever in case the sale stands court decisions. To anyone versed in court procedure, knowing the delays that can be brought into a case of this kind, the Supervisor declaring his support for such a project places the whole deal in a class that speaks for itself, that of favoring some landed owner and his agent.

Surely such a course does not favor sound principles of government and is not in line with sound public policy.

EDGAR D. BROWN.

GLENDALE, May 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I note in today's issue of The Times a report of a petition to the Los Angeles City Council by the "Good Government Association," asking action by that body closing picture shows on Sunday, for which several reasons are alleged, the first of which is that "The Lord says we should keep the Sabbath day holy."

May I be permitted space to call attention to a serious oversight on the part of this association, in neglecting to quote what the Lord has said about keeping holy the first day of the week or to mention the book and chapter in the Bible where it may be found. Such a quotation would be of interest to many besides members of the City Council.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Technical Drawing?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Most carpenters, builders and contractors need more technical information about drawing, estimating and reading plans. Such instruction is offered by the free class at the Venice Evening High School, corner Walgrove and Venice Boulevard, Venice, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7 to 9 o'clock. This course includes mechanical and architectural drawing, and blue-print reading.

The instructor is George E. Wilson, who has had fifteen years' experience in construction work in Southern California, and eleven years' experience in teaching this subject. There is no fee at all, but students must pay for any materials which they wish to take home.

REALLY ANCIENT STRUCTURES

The oldest stone buildings in the world are two chapels recently uncovered close to the Shep Pyramid, Cairo. They were built in 4449 B.C.

FUNERAL SERVICES

BY ALMA WHITAKER

I have paid my last tribute to five old friends during the last two weeks, all put to rest with religious services.

One funeral service was beautiful, dignified, reverent. All occasioned a wealth of glorious flowers. Two were held in homes. But one could not help comparing the manner of conducting these services, varying as they did in important essentials, and yet seemingly all holding the same general faith.

Modern funerals are infinitely more cheerful than those of a former day. Once upon a time it would have been an outrage for any to appear in other than deepest mourning. Now normal apparel is worn and even the near relations do not necessarily array themselves in mourning crepe. Very few widows wear "widow's weeds" these days. Moreover, the flowers today are gay with color, where formerly only white or pale lavenders were regarded as appropriate. All of which is more in keeping with our Christian ideals of life after death, the coming of a nobler dawn.

Perhaps, too, the commercial funeral artist is justified . . . the solemnity and drama of the occasion having been brought up to an exceptionally effective standard. After all, death is a dramatic adventure for all of us, and most of us are still human enough to wish the last rites to have a proper setting . . . and to look as well in death as the beautifier can encompass for us.

I find that the chief confusion in one's mind arises from the funeral sermon and prayers. Where a brief set conventional service is adhered to, conducted with impersonal reverence, one's critical faculties are happily dormant. But directly a preacher, who possibly knew the deceased very slightly, necessarily making hasty inquiries before the service, proceeds to invoke his imagination anent the deceased and seemingly spends half an hour informing the Almighty, as well as the assembled friends, of the reputation of the soul presenting itself for Immortality, one's taste is offended and all sense of reverence vanishes.

At three out of my five funerals this sort of an "introductory address to God" was indulged in by the pastor, both in prayer and sermon, and in two cases I am quite sure the deceased would have been the first to deplore any such fatuous verbiage in this connection. Uttered in the droning tone considered suitable to such occasions, many of the ill-advised eulogies were just plain silly, and there was neither ennoblement for the dead or the living in these strange effervescences.

In this connection, the most "artistically correct" funeral was the least disconcerting. The funeral specialists, employing their own pastor, carefully chosen for his appearance as well as his cloth, had devised a very simple, Christian service, uncontroversial in every particular, and suitable as a last tribute to pretty well any sort of a soul, young, old, male or female, obscure or prominent. Curiously enough it is the funerals of prominent people which most often err on the side of verbose artificiality. There seems to be a desire on the part of the parson to give the family its money's worth.

The most exquisite of all the services was held in a great church, with a very simple set service—and no extemporaneous prayers or sermon. One left that with a feeling that death was majestic, beautiful and did, indeed, lead to life everlasting. One left the church with a sense of having trodden hallowed ground.

The most distressing service was that in which the pastor, hastily substituted for one who had known the deceased, essayed to make the most of the occasion, and did, indeed, seem to be "showing off." He mouthed the prayers, his sermon, the benediction, with frightful unctuousness. . . .

If any pastor talked about me like that, I am sure I should giggle in my last sleep upon earth . . . or else rise up and haunt him.

This is really a plea for reverent simplicity in those last precious rites. And oh, dear "officiating ministers," when in doubt, make it brief. It is too utterly ironical to make that last tribute ridiculous. The drama, the beauty, the dignity, the reverence will all be there . . . if they are not dispelled by "too much zeal."

And it is just as well for the minister not to wax prophetic . . . none of us know, we can only hope, and that according to our own inner faith and emotion.

Improving the McClellan Saddle

Some rather radical improvements are being made by the War Department in the McClellan saddle, which has been used by the cavalry for seventy years and enjoys the distinction of being the oldest piece of equipment in the service. It bears the name of its designer, Maj.-Gen. George B. McClellan of Civil War fame, and was originated by him when he was still a captain. The plans are to improve its present appearance by the addition of a saddle girth for the hair cincha and a leather skirt and stirrup straps similar to those used on training saddles. The new saddles will be much more comfortable for the rider than the present type.

Stone That Absorbs Noise

A kind of stone recently discovered in Morida has the quality of absorbing noise. The rock is soft and porous and the minute cavities in it prevent the reflection of the sound waves when it is used as a covering for walls and ceiling. The walls acting as a sounding board are responsible for most of the noises that assail our ears when we are indoors.

RIPPLING RIVALS

SPASMODIC

In Punktown streets the autos scoot, and we can hear their horns toot-toot, and jump to save our lives; beneath the stress we fret and chafe, we find the streets are most unsafe for all our aunts and wives. More pedestrians run down, the news goes flashing through the town upon a fateful day; two lawyers and an architect have had their persons badly wrecked by some one's speed drug; a plumber and three auctioneers are candidates for shrouds and biers, knocked out by cars at night; is there no way, we ask, to curb these butcheries that disturb the heart of every wight?" The pulpit and the bar and press deplore the slaughter and distress, and call for drastic deeds; the cops must cut their checker games, round up the car that kills and maims and pinch the man who speeds. Then for a week or maybe three the cops are busy as can be, our safety they'll assure; the jurist, holding down his bench, declares that speeding is a stench to nostrils good and pure. He'll make the punishment so great it will intimidate the state; no respect for laws; he holds that speeding is a crime, the basest of our modern time, the worst that ever was. Then for three weeks or maybe one tremendous execution's done, and dozens go to jail; and when draw down such a fine they have to mortgage all their kine —for safety must prevail. But in two weeks or maybe four the jurist finds his stunt a bore, he's losing all his friends; the cops grow tired of chasing fans who log around in their sedans, and their ambition ends. We're back once more just where we were before they filled the air with fur, and waged their drastic fight; spasmodic measures do not work—a tinner and a grocery goods clerk were laid out cold last night.

TORSO VICTIM'S CLOTHES FOUND

Officers Make Discovery in Dr. Westlake's Home

Articles of Mrs. Sutton in Attic Compartment

Personal Physician Assists With Identification

Discovery of virtually all of the personal belongings and household effects of the missing Mrs. Laura B. Sutton in the attic and beneath the floors of the home of Dr. Frank P. Westlake spurred homicide deputies to a new search for clews in the Los Angeles River torso murder mystery yesterday.

Dr. Westlake is in jail on a murder charge in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Sutton, a former sweetheart. Mrs. Sutton is believed by Capt. Bright's homicide squad to have been the victim whose headless, legless and armless torso was found in the river near Compton two months ago.

TEETH STRONG CLEW

The strongest clew in linking the identity of the victim to that of Mrs. Sutton, is the ten teeth that remained in the head of a woman that was found in the river a month after discovery of the torso. Her dentist, Dr. E. C. Hyde, asserted the work in the teeth bears every resemblance to dentistry he had performed for Mrs. Sutton.

Although held in jail while deputies under Capt. Bright daily added evidence which controverted statements made by Dr. Westlake, he consistently has refused to aid them with information. A brief search was made of his home at 1810½ West Eleventh street when deputies learned he possessed deeds to some of Mrs. Sutton's real estate, and had maintained a joint bank account with her.

FIND TRAP DOOR

Dr. Westlake's apparent inclination not to aid the Sheriff's men caused them to go back to the house yesterday. They found a carefully concealed trap door leading to an unsuspected attic compartment. There they found suit cases with all of the clothing Mrs. Sutton is known to have had.

Most all of her table silverware had been packed in boxes and a typewriter had been covered over with bundles of clothing.

The typewriter, the officers believe, was used by Dr. Westlake in writing a note to himself purporting to come from Mrs. Sutton indicating that the woman was still alive on May 12, last, and directing suspicion away from Westlake.

NEW LINKS FORGED

At the same time Capt. Bright announced following a conference with Wayne Jordan, assistant Chief Deputy District Attorney, that new links have been forged in the chain of evidence which makes identification of the headless and limbless torso found in the Los Angeles River virtually positive.

A new witness in this connection was discovered in the person of Dr. John Clayton, who was Mrs. Sutton's personal physician. Dr. Clayton identified a portion of the dental work found in the mouth of the murder victim and also several other physical characteristics.

DOCTOR USED TRUCK

During the search, which was conducted by Deputies Allen, Gray, Brewster and Gompert, they learned that Dr. Westlake had used a truck, without the permission of the owner, to haul the goods from the home of Mrs. Sutton, to his own. The truck belonged to Louis Gross, a commission man, who owns a garage which had been rented to Dr. Westlake, adjoining his home.

The truck had been stored in the garage and, according to Ben King, taxicab driver, who also had been one of Mrs. Sutton's suitors, Dr. Westlake drove it several nights. A close examination will be made to determine if there are human bloodstains on any part of the truck.

Dr. Westlake's preliminary hearing on the murder charge will be called before Judge Ambrose at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

In addition to his new duties, Mr. Dine will continue as vice-president of the company, which position he has occupied since 1926.

Youthful Bank Cashier Pleads for Probation

Ardent pleas were made yesterday by attorneys for Curtis E. Flint, youthful former cashier of the First National Bank of Hynes, when the young man appeared before United States District Judge James on an application for probation. Flint had pleaded guilty to a charge of misapplication of funds of the bank and bank examiners asserted he was short $118,000 in his accounts.

It was pointed out to the court that the youth was once president of the senior class of the Compton High School and once a member of the Compton Board of Education. It was also shown that, through his father, former president of the bank, restitution of the funds had been made.

GRAVES WANTS BAIL REDUCED

'Attorneys Lose Battle for Self-Styled Spy

San Francisco Grand Theft Warrant Issued

Judge Sets Hearing on New Writ for Thursday

Arguments on a writ of habeas corpus, by which attorneys for Dr. Armgaad Karl Graves, self-styled international spy, seek to have reduced as excessive the bail under which he is being held on a swindling charge, will be heard at 10 a.m. Thursday as the result of the issuing of the writ yesterday by Superior Judge Shaw.

The writ was issued a few hours after Judge Shaw had denied another writ sought on the ground there was no warrant for Graves's arrest. Undaunted, Attorneys Robinson and Lucas then applied for the second writ, basing their petition on the fact that San Francisco authorities had fixed their client's bail at $10,000 cash or $20,000 surety, whereas the charges against him involve $3500.

The self-styled spy was arrested here several days ago when recognized on the streets by Henry Kirchmann of San Francisco, who asserted that Graves swindled him out of $3500. Kirchmann hurried to San Francisco, where, he says, the asserted offense was committed, to get a formal complaint, while Graves's attorneys filed a writ of habeas corpus, asserting there was no formal charge against their client.

When hearing on the writ came up yesterday, Superior Judge Shaw, provided with a new warrant from San Francisco, denied the application. Attorneys Robinson and Lucas, representing the prisoner, argued for a reduction of the bail, set by a San Francisco judge, on the ground that it is excessive under a charge of grand theft, but Judge Shaw ruled that the matter of bail could not be argued on the writ before him.

Kirchmann, the complaining witness, told local officers that Graves took $3500 from him supposedly to go in quest of secretly buried treasure taken by the German cruiser Emden during the World War. The accused man probably will be taken back Wednesday or Thursday to San Francisco to face trial.

Crail again will be first vice-president, Mrs. Edgar S. Stanley, second vice-president; Mrs. Frank Howell Stanberg, third vice-president; Mrs. Edward E. Burt, Mrs. Charles Crary and Miss Frederica De Laguna will continue for another year as directors.

Attack Charge Against Officer Meets Failure

Charges that Owen Nolton, police officer, had beaten Clyde B. Sylvester, a private detective employed by the Nick Harris agency, were ordered dismissed by the police commission yesterday after an investigation which followed Nolton's hearing a week ago when he said it was a case of mistaken identity.

On the receipt of information that a case in court against Officer Axel D. Merritt, charged with being involved in obtaining a case of liquor for private use, had not been sustained in the absence of evidence against him, the police commission yesterday dismissed the charges against him. He was ordered restored to duty without loss of pay.

RAIL FARES REDUCED

Special Rates on Three Roads for Independence Day Announced

Independence Day fares, effective during the first week of July over Pacific Coast and adjoining States for two-thirds the regular round trip fare were announced jointly by Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Santa Fe railroads yesterday.

The special fares, to be on sale by all three roads July 2 to 4, set midnight of July 9 as return limit. An extension to sixteen or thirty days, for those unable to complete the trip within the special fare requirements, may be had by paying the difference between the sixteen- or thirty-day fare and the special rate, company officials of all lines announced.

Rates are effective within the area circumscribed by Portland, Or., Ogden, Utah, and El Paso, Tex.

CLERGYMEN TAKE STAND

Deploring "the campaign of vilification instituted by certain elements of Los Angeles in the mayoralty race," fifty pastors and official leaders of the Christian (Disciples of Christ) Churches of Los Angeles, at a conference at First Christian Church yesterday morning, expressed confidence in John C. Porter and promised him their support in today's election.

'EAGLE'S PINCH-HITTER,' WILL ROGERS, DROPS IN

Will Rogers, "pinch-hitting" for Lindbergh, according to his comment, was back home at Beverly Hills last night, "tickled pink."

Completing a flight over the Transcontinental Air Transport route from Indianapolis, the humorist arrived at the Grand Central Airport here at 4:45 p.m. yesterday. With him were R. V. Magee, vice-president of the T.A.T., and several executives of the coast-to-coast line.

Judging from the grin on the humorist's face as he alighted from the tri-motored plane almost before it came to rest, it seemed superfluous to ask him whether his trip had been a pleasant one.

HE'LL BE DINED

Immediately after he alighted, Mrs. Rogers, who met him at the airport, whisked her husband away to their home in Beverly Hills. The ex-Mayor of Beverly Hills is being tendered a homecoming dinner the 8th inst. by the citizens of Beverly Hills, headed by Stanley Anderson, chairman of the banquet committee; Mayor Spaulding, William Collier and others.

The comedian closed his engagement in "Three Cheers," a musical comedy in which he "pinch-hit" for Fred Stone last season, Saturday night in Pittsburgh.

REAL SACRIFICE

In assuming Stone's starring role in the Broadway show following an airplane crash in which his friend was desperately injured, it was reported at the time that Rogers did so at a sacrifice of approximately $500,000, the sum of cancelled screen and personal-appearance contracts.

The Broadway engagement was "both successful and pleasant, but I am sure glad to get back to Los Angeles and to work again," he asserted last night.

After a brief rest the humorist will begin work on his new talkie, "They Must Get to Paris," which is to be produced by Fox from Homer Croy's story of that name.

BAAB JURY GOES OUT TODAY

State Asks Death Penalty in Closing Argument at Arnold Trial for Policeman's Slaying

Death is the penalty asked by the State yesterday for George S. Arnold, charged with murder in connection with the shooting March 24, last, of Police Sergeant E. C. Baab, head of the vice squad at Georgia-street station.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Aggeler, making the closing plea for the prosecution before a jury in Judge Hardy's court, asked for a verdict carrying the extreme penalty. The jury will retire this morning to begin its deliberations.

According to evidence presented by the State, Arnold shot Baab in the kitchen of the latter's home just as a wedding anniversary party given by the Baabs was ending.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Aggeler and Richardson sought to show that Arnold shot Baab because he was envious of the latter's happiness. Arnold, who took the stand in his own defense, testified that he and Mrs. Baab had carried on a secret love affair which culminated in the shooting when Baab threatened his life. It was on this theory of self-defense that Attorney J. H. Bradley, representing Arnold, pleaded for an acquittal.

Mrs. Baab denied she ever had had a love affair with Arnold and said she knew of no motive for the shooting.

Woman Suspect in Grandmother Death Plot Held

Charged with an attempt to murder her grandmother, Irene Johnson, 20 years of age, of 315 South Pickering street, Whittier, last night was arraigned before Police Judge Frank Swain in Whittier. Preliminary hearing was set for June 12, and bail at $10,000. Miss Johnson was unable to furnish this amount and was returned to the County Jail. Robert O'Neill, Los Angeles attorney, has been engaged for her defense.

Miss Johnson had been arrested previously on a charge of forging the name of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah McDonald, to checks for $115. The more serious charge followed Mrs. McDonald's assertion that a rubber gas hose had been laid from a jet to her bedroom while she was sleeping, the open end of the hose being near her bed. The granddaughter denied knowledge of this, asserting that she was asleep when Mrs. McDonald's screams alarmed the neighborhood.

City Officials at Ceremony

Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles and many city and police officials participated at noon yesterday in the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $100,000 Venice division police station, on the City Hall grounds, Venice Boulevard.

Capt. Behrendt of the Venice division and his staff were hosts to police heads of the city. The new station will be one of the most modern and completely equipped on the Pacific Coast.

Invalid Woman Hangs Herself

"Good-by, all. Forgive and forget," Mrs. Caroline Lake, 77 years of age, penned in a note and then hanged herself to a bed post with a shawl yesterday morning, police reported.

The asserted suicide occurred in the woman's home at 11678 Montana street, Sawtelle. She leaves a son, Walter J. Black, police said. Ill health is believed to have been the cause.

Oklahoma City Bandit Suspects Hunted Here

Investigation of the robbery of $75,000 from a bank messenger in Oklahoma City, May 24, last, spread to this city yesterday when local police were requested by Oklahoma City authorities to search auto camps and airports for two men, two women and two children who, they say, left via automobile with $40,000 of the asserted stolen money in their possession.

Members of the party wanted, according to the wired request, are James "Cowboy" Hayes, 28 years of age; Mrs. Frances Hayes, 25; Charles Merritt, 31; Mrs. Helen Merritt, 28. The Merritts have with them, it was stated, a boy, 6, and a girl, 10 years of age.

The party left Oklahoma City three days after the robbery, the wire stated, in an automobile, but it is believed may accelerate their journey westward by air.

Three men and one woman already are in custody in Oklahoma City, police said.

Inquiry Sought in Boys' Arrest

A request from the constitutional rights committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association asking an investigation into the arrest of three youths, reported by Miss Nora Sterry, principal of the Macy-street school, to have been held without charge by the police, was referred by the Police Commission yesterday to Chief Davis for investigation. Also she complained that they were held incommunicado.

According to police records, Domingo Rodrigues and Bernabe Lujan, both 18 years of age, were booked on suspicion of burglary by Detective Lieutenants Brown and Segura. The detectives assert the boys admitted breaking into the barber shop of Felipe Nunez at 711 Avila street, and stealing a radio, razor and some liquor. Detective Segura reported the boys admitted stealing liquor before from the shop.

Police records show that Lujan was arrested once before for Wright Act violation and sentenced to $75 fine or fifteen days in jail.

FLOOD DEATHS CASE DECIDED

Judge Yankwich Awards Mathews Insurance to Father of Husband on Old Common-Law Theory That in Fatal Disaster a Man Will Survive His Wife

After having his decision under submission for several days, Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday handed down a ruling in the insurance suit brought by Mrs. Emilie Deruelle against Cyrus R. Mathews wherein he upheld the old common-law presumption that where a man and wife die together in a disaster the man survives because of his superior physical strength. The action was one growing out of the St. Francis dam flood in which Carl James Mathews, his wife and four children perished.

Mrs. Deruelle, the plaintiff, is the mother of Emelia Mathews, wife of Carl James Mathews. Mathews, at the time of his death was carrying a $5000 insurance policy in the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Mrs. Mathews was named beneficiary, but the policy also provided that if there be no beneficiary surviving at the death of its holder the money was to go to certain preferred groups, surviving widow, or widower, surviving children, surviving parents or surviving administrator or executors of the estate. It was under this provision the policy was paid to Cyrus R. Mathews, father of the deceased husband.

The plaintiff's claim was that the policy was community property and her daughter had a vested interest in it at the time of her death. She asked for half the proceeds.

The ruling made by Judge Yankwich is based upon the proposition that the wife's interest did not become vested in her because the policy itself provided for other beneficiaries in case of the failure of the beneficiary to survive. The husband being presumed to have survived the longest in the disaster, at the death of his wife the policy vested entirely in him, and his parents are entitled to the entire proceeds.

EDUCATION GROUP DINES AT SESSION

School Trustees Attend Convention at University of Southern California

The importance of education to the maintenance of national and State institutions, political, social and economic, was discussed by Dr. Lester B. Rogers, dean of the school of education of the University of Southern California, at a dinner meeting of school trustees and school executives last night in the Student Union of Southern California as the opening session of a one-week conference dealing with problems in educational administration. The banquet was attended by schoolmen and lay members of school boards from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach, Glendale, Huntington Park, Inglewood, Beverly Hills, Culver City, Monrovia, Alhambra, Huntington Beach, South Gate, Manhattan Beach, El Monte, El Segundo, Hermosa Beach, Palos Verdes and Santa Monica.

The toastmaster was Melvin Neel of Long Beach. President R. B. Von KleinSmid of Southern California welcomed the guests and Eugene I. Fisher, president of the Southern California School Trustee Institute, responded. Discussions were led by Dr. A. L. Smith of the Board of Education of Monrovia, by Dr. Albert E. Wilson, principal of Manual Arts High School, Los Angeles, and by Judge Thompson of Pasadena.

Peace Discussed at Methodist Pastor Meeting

"There was a time just before and during the World War when the church wondered whether Christianity and patriotism both could be saved and when the life of Christianity was seriously threatened," said Clarence M. Case, professor of sociology at University of Southern California, in an address given yesterday before the Methodist preachers' meeting at First Methodist Episcopal Church. "I thank God that it is becoming more and more unpopular to apologize for war, which never did and never can settle any question. An armed conflict between nations is against all natural instincts and acquired ethical principles of mankind."

Speaking on "Creating the International Mind," Dr. Case, who is a Quaker, voiced the hope and belief that the churches of America will take a leading part in the various programs for international good will, lending their aid to the League of Nations and the World Court.

"The internationalism we desire is not cosmopolitanism but the spirit of fraternity among nations," said the speaker.

Another speaker was Henry Linn, a Chinese student at the University of Southern California, who spoke on "Universal Peace."

Head Declares for Bonelli in City Club Talk

While admitting that either John C. Porter or William G. Bonelli is worthy of the support of good citizens in today's election, Lew Head, in an address at the City Club yesterday, announced himself in favor of Mr. Bonelli as "the broader-minded man of the two."

"In selecting a Mayor, the experience and ability of a candidate, as well as his other qualifications, and motives, should be considered," said Mr. Head. "With his lack of experience, it is possible that Mr. Porter would become unintentionally a victim of boss rule.

"The fact that Mr. Porter once played baseball with his son on Sunday is no proof that he is an anti-blue-law man," said Mr. Head.

Shaw's Sewer Ideas Prevail

Recommendation of City Engineer Shaw in regard to the sewer flusher situation, which caused an investigation by the last grand jury, were approved by the City Council yesterday after they had first received the approval of the Health and Sanitation Committee.

Maj. Shaw had requested authority to omit automatic sewer flushers from the specifications for sewers having a greater slope than 1.5 per cent. He also had asked for authority to curtail the present use of such flushers under a plan which he would prepare. Furthermore, he had indicated that, if authorized by the Council, he could present plans for a siphon type of sewer which would meet the practical needs of the city's sewer system. All these requests were approved.

TRAFFIC YIELDS DAMP CARGO

Driver's Violation Causes Discovery of Liquor Worth $1000

Failure to hold out his hand for a right-hand turn at First street and Normandie avenue yesterday afternoon cost Henry A. Bonis, 24 years of age of 1956 City View avenue, his liberty and enriched the police store of confiscated liquor with $1000 worth of the illicit product.

Motorcycle officers report that when they stopped Bonis at Third street and Normandie avenue, they found twelve sacks of red liquor in the coupe Bonis was driving. He was booked for possession and transportation of liquor.

PLEA VAIN FOR JULIAN LENDERS

Judge Bogue Turns Deaf Ear to Restitution Tale; Sets Defendants' Trials

Following an argument by Mendel Silberberg, attorney appearing as a friend of the court, for dismissing the Julian usury cases against defendants who have made restitution satisfactory to the receivers of the corporation, Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday reiterated his refusal to dismiss such cases under the compromise section of the Penal Code. The court, however, declared belief in fines rather than jail sentences in cases where defendants who have made restitution are found guilty of usury.

Silberberg in his argument said: "In the crisis which the company faced these people did everything they could to help. They turned in more than $500,000 to the receivers at a time when it could not have been obtained otherwise and by doing so they saved the company from bankruptcy. They helped save the company for the stockholders and now they suddenly find themselves painted, not as benefactors, but as usurers."

He closed with an appeal to the court to allow the asserted promise of a former City Prosecutor to dismiss the cases to be kept.

Six usury cases, on the docket for yesterday, were ordered continued by Judge Bogue. Mike Harris, Max Ripstein and David Trattner were ordered to appear for plea on the 7th inst. Meyer H. Price will be tried by a jury on July 2, the court ordered. Otto G. Wildey was allowed until July 29, next, to plead, and Mrs. Violet Wildey will be tried by a jury on the same date.

THEIR FIGURES DIFFER

Wife and Husband Far Apart on Income at Alimony Hearing

There was some disparity in the two estimates of F. D. Bowden's income submitted at his alimony hearing in Superior Judge Schauer's court yesterday.

Mrs. June Bowden, complaining because her alimony was not paid, said her husband is making $2000 a month. Bowden countered with the sworn statement that he is making $10 a month. The court ordered Bowden to pay his wife $400 for alimony and attorney's fees pending the trial.

Dan Dennehy Wanted in Silverstein Murder

Armed Companion Still Being Hunted

Jack Clarke, investigator for the District Attorney's office, and Capt. Guy Cato of the police department, are expected to leave for Dallas, Tex., today to return Dan Dennehy to Los Angeles where he will be charged with Peter Barretti for the murder of Max Silverstein. Barretti, however, is still a fugitive from justice.

Dennehy was captured in Dallas by Chief of Detectives Gunning of that city upon telegraphic advices from Capt. Cato and Investigator Clarke.

Silverstein was murdered in his Boyle-street apartment March 20, shot by two men who entered the place, bound and gagged Miss Arline Silverstein, Silverstein's telephone operator, and then waylaid their victim when he entered a few minutes later.

Investigators contend that Silverstein was operating a bootlegging business which he had sold for $40000. It is known that Silverstein while paying him of this sum, it is said.

A few months before, Silverstein had been kidnaped by gangsters who demanded $10,000 ransom. Silverstein, however, obtained his release by paying $2000. After the kidnaping last March, Silverstein told officers in a dying statement that if they found his kidnapers they would find his slayers.

The two defendants were identified from pictures by Miss Storey and were indicted by the grand jury recently. A third man known only as John Doe Shepard also was indicted on the same charge.

Dennehy and Barretti, the fugitives are said to be members of a Chicago gang once led by the late "Big Tim" Murphy.

NOTABLE GROUP AT BANQUET

Youngworths Entertain Hundred Shrine Leaders and Ladies at Home

More than 100 past and present high-ranking officials of Shrinedom and their ladies were the guests of Deputy Imperial Potentate and Mrs. Leo V. Youngworth last night at a banquet given at their Baldwin Hills home in honor of Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones.

Following the dinner a program of entertainments was given in the center of the patio, around which the guests had been seated in a circle, all facing the platform.

The Youngworth banquet, though not officially a part of the convention, climaxed the social entertainments tendered the high officials of the Imperial Council and Divan, pending the opening day's official activities.

An official banquet honoring Imperial Potentate Jones and Mr. Youngworth, who will be elected automatically to succeed him, will be given at the Biltmore tonight.

NOBLES FAVOR HOOVER STAND

Shriners have fostered but one movement. That is the establishment of a chain of children's hospitals throughout the United States which have been immensely successful in aiding child sufferers," Mr. Anderson said.

"Should such a resolution as mentioned above come before the council, I see no objection to its adoption. It would be a worthy measure, in my opinion."

"I believe that President Hoover has taken a step that ultimately will benefit the citizens of the United States many fold. He is to be commended by every citizen, and, moreover, needs the support of every American. The suppression of crime and enforcement of existing laws is the paramount problem before America today."

The proposed resolution is understood to set forth succinctly the position President Hoover has adopted in the enforcement program, and invites attention to Masonry, from which the fraternity of Shriners come, which teaches obedience to the laws and the duty of citizens to support and respect those in authority under the laws.

The measure, it is said, will not mention prohibition or other matters involved in the enforcement program, but will suggest to temples subordinate to the council throughout the nation that they take appropriate action after giving the subject consideration and thereby co-ordinate the efforts of the Shrine to assist President Hoover.

BEACH STRIP ON PARKS LIST

An important addition to the parks and playgrounds system of Los Angeles county was ordered by the County Board of Supervisors yesterday, when they took official action to operate and maintain the half-mile strip of county-owned strand between Manhattan Beach and Hermosa Beach as a county playground.

Fred E. Wadsworth, who for some time has been in charge of the county playground at Big Pines Park, stated yesterday that an extensive series of improvements will be undertaken at once. Picnic tables, benches, stone fire ranges and a beach life-guard service will be available in a few weeks, it was declared.

The county purchased this beach about two weeks ago. There now is before the Supervisors an offer of another stretch of beach at Redondo Beach. This property is owned by two real estate concerns and the Pacific Electric Railway.

Another strip of county-owned beach, just north of Santa Monica, which has been operated by the Santa Monica park system, on contract, will be taken over by Mr. Wadsworth's department when the present lease expires.

PEDESTRIAN LOSES LIFE IN TRAFFIC

Whittier Man Killed by Trailer and Three Hurt in Auto Collisions

Traffic yesterday took a toll of one life and seriously injured three other persons.

William V. Walker, 64 years of age, was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a truck trailer as he started to walk across Whittier Boulevard yesterday afternoon. J. E. Manning, 1052 East Fifty-fourth street, the driver of the truck, told officers that the man apparently walked into the trailer without seeing it. He was released after questioning. Walker lived in Whittier.

Marie Schwinger, 236 Archer Drive, Burbank, had three fingers amputated at Dickey and Cass Hospital last night after the car in which she and Sallie McQuown, 842 Valley street, Burbank, were riding crashed into a truck loaded with hay in Cahuenga Pass. Her left leg was broken and she suffered serious contusions. Miss McQuown suffered a broken arm in the crash. The truck was driven by Frank Campbell, 2126 South Main street.

Nicholas Demos, 42, of 133 Swall Drive, Beverly Hills, received a ten-inch laceration in his left leg when a car in which he was a passenger collided with another automobile at the intersection of Sunset Boulevard and Curson street, Hollywood.

Retribution

"Only yesterday," said Jones, who was discussing philanthropy, "I refused a woman a small sum of money and in consequence I passed a sleepless night. The tones of her reproachful voice never left me for a moment."

"Dear me, indeed a kind heart! Who was the woman?"

"My wife."—(Denver Post.

ALIMONY DELINQUENCY LAID TO SUNSHINE HERE

Tom S. Fletcher, who said he is a manufacturer of cosmetics, in Superior Judge Schauer's court at an alimony hearing yesterday blamed California sunshine and a fad of fashion for his inability to make money at his business. Thus he explained his delinquency in his weekly payments to Mrs. Frances Fletcher.

"Since the women got the habit of tanning themselves in the sun," he said, "the cosmetics business is all shot to pieces, judge."

"Why don't you put out a line of artificial tan stain and advertise a painless sunburn?" suggested the court. "Don't tell me there's no money in the cosmetic business. Pay $15 a week on this alimony order, or start making powder out of rocks in a county road camp."

Fletcher promised to pay.

Arizonans Bring Shrine Animals

Animals from the Arizona desert, including Asafoetida, the trained camel on wheels, were among the many animals brought by El Zariba Shriners when they arrived on the Southern Pacific special from Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday morning to attend the fifty-fifth annual convention.

Besides the trained camel, the menageries included gopher snakes, gila monsters and lizards.

Parading with its band to the Biltmore, El Zariba Temple, under the leadership of Potentate Cliff Carpenter, received a hearty welcome.

Buck O'Neil trained the camel, and Eli Rappopaport, rode it in the parade.

He was 49 years of age, and leaves a widow, a daughter, Mary Anne Holstem Ricker; his mother, Mrs. Mary S. Ricker, and a brother, Jewett Ricker, of Chicago.

SUSPECTED SELLER OF NARCOTICS ARRAIGNED

A reported sale of $20 worth of morphine in a cemetery at San Bernardino resulted in Byron S. Deuber appearing before United States District Judge James yesterday on a charge of selling the drug in violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act. Deuber pleaded not guilty and his case was set for trial October 29, next.

COUNCIL CONFIRMS GRAPE STREET LEVY

The City Council yesterday confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Grape street between One Hundred and Seventh street and Santa Ana Boulevard, but deferred until next Monday the hearing of appeals against the assessments for the improvement of Bedford street between Pico Boulevard and Airdrome street.

GRAVES WANTS BAIL REDUCED

Judge Sets Hearing on New Writ for Thursday

Arguments on a writ of habeas corpus, by which attorneys for Dr. Armgaad Karl Graves, self-styled international spy, seek to have reduced as excessive the bail under which he is being held on a swindling charge, will be heard at 10 a.m. Thursday as the result of the issuing of the writ yesterday by Superior Judge Shaw.

The writ was issued a few hours after Judge Shaw had denied another writ sought on the ground there was no warrant for Graves's arrest. Undaunted, Attorneys Robinson and Lucas then applied for the second writ, basing their petition on the fact that San Francisco authorities had fixed their client's bail at $10,000 cash or $20,000 surety, whereas the charges against him involve $3500.

The self-styled spy was arrested here several days ago when recognized on the streets by Henry Kirchmann of San Francisco, who asserted that Graves swindled him out of $3500. Kirchmann hurried to San Francisco, where, he says, the asserted offense was committed, to get a formal complaint, while Graves's attorneys filed a writ of habeas corpus, asserting there was no formal charge against their client.

When hearing on the writ came up yesterday, Superior Judge Shaw, provided with a new warrant from San Francisco, denied the application. Attorneys Robinson and Lucas, representing the prisoner, argued for a reduction of the bail, set by a San Francisco judge, on the ground that it is excessive under a charge of grand theft, but Judge Shaw ruled that the matter of bail could not be argued on the writ before him.

Kirchmann, the complaining witness, told local officers that Graves took $3500 from him supposedly to go in quest of secretly buried treasure taken by the German cruiser Emden during the World War. The accused man probably will be taken back Wednesday or Thursday to San Francisco to face trial.

MRS. WILSON ELECTED BY EBELL CLUB

Chosen to Fill Office of Recording Secretary at Annual Election Yesterday

Mrs. Jesse Wilson was chosen to fill the office of recording secretary of the Ebell Club at the election conducted yesterday at the clubhouse on Wilshire Boulevard, and Mrs. James A. Rogers and Mrs. Julian E. Garnsey will be the new directors.

All other officers, eligible under the by-laws for a second year in office, ran uncontested. Mrs. A. Bennett Cooke will continue to serve as president, Mrs. Charles S. Crail again will be first vice-president, Mrs. Edgar S. Stanley, second vice-president; Mrs. Frank Howell Stanberg, third vice-president; Mrs. Edward E. Sherrard, fourth vice-president; Mrs. Albert H. Purdue, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. Elbert Harshmann, general curator, and Mrs. Patrick Campbell, treasurer. Mrs. William Read, Mrs. Charles D. Burt, Mrs. Charles Crary and Miss Frederica De Laguna will continue for another year as directors.

Attack Charge Against Officer Meets Failure

Charges that Owen Nolton, police officer, had beaten Clyde B. Sylvester, a private detective employed by the Nick Harris agency, were ordered dismissed by the police commission yesterday after an investigation which followed Nolton's hearing a week ago when he said it was a case of mistaken identity.

On the receipt of information that a case in court against Officer Axel D. Merritt, charged with being involved in obtaining a case of liquor for private use, had not been obtained in the absence of evidence against him, the police commission yesterday dismissed the charges against him. He was ordered restored to duty without loss of pay.

RAIL FARES REDUCED

Special Rates on Three Roads for Independence Day Announced

Independence Day fares, effective during the first week of July over Pacific Coast and adjoining States, for two-thirds the regular round trip fare were announced jointly by Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Santa Fe railroads yesterday.

The special fares, to be on sale by all three roads July 2 to 4, set midnight of July 8 as return limit. An extension to sixteen or thirty days, for those unable to complete the trip within the special fare requirements, may be had by paying the difference between the sixteen- or thirty-day fare and the special rate, company officials of all lines announced.

Rates are effective within the area circumscribed by Portland, Or., Ogden, Utah, and El Paso, Tex.

CLERGYMEN TAKE STAND

Deploring "the campaign of vilification instituted by certain elements of Los Angeles in the mayoralty race," fifty pastors and official leaders of the Christian (Disciples of Christ) Churches of Los Angeles, at a conference at First Christian Church yesterday morning, expressed confidence in John C. Porter and promised him their support in today's election.

'EAGLE'S PINCH-HITTER,' WILL ROGERS, DROPS IN

Will Rogers, "pinch-hitting" for Lindbergh, according to his comment, was back home at Beverly Hills last night, "tickled pink."

Completing a flight over the Transcontinental Air Transport route from Indianapolis, the humorist arrived at the Grand Central Airport here at 4:45 p.m. yesterday. With him were R. V. Magee, vice-president of the T.A.T., and several executives of the coast-to-coast line.

Judging from the grin on the humorist's face as he alighted from the tri-motored plane almost before it came to rest, it seemed superfluous to ask him whether his trip had been a pleasant one.

HE'LL BE DINED

Immediately after he alighted, Mrs. Rogers, who met him at the airport, whisked her husband away to their home in Beverly Hills. The ex-Mayor of Beverly Hills is being tendered a homecoming dinner the 8th inst. by the citizens of Beverly Hills, headed by Stanley Anderson, chairman of the banquet committee; Mayor Spaulding, William Collier and others.

The comedian closed his engagement in "Three Cheers," a musical comedy in which he "pinch-hit" for Fred Stone last season, Saturday night in Pittsburgh.

REAL SACRIFICE

In assuming Stone's starring role in the Broadway show following an airplane crash in which his friend was desperately injured, it was reported at the time that Rogers did so at a sacrifice of approximately $500,000, the sum of cancelled screen and personal-appearance contracts.

The Broadway engagement was "both successful and pleasant, but I am sure glad to get back to Los Angeles and to work again," he asserted last night.

After a brief rest the humorist will begin work on his new talkie, "They Must Get to Paris," which is to be produced by Fox from Homer Croy's story of that name.

BAAB JURY GOES OUT TODAY

State Asks Death Penalty in Closing Argument at Arnold Trial for Policeman's Slaying

Death is the penalty asked by the State yesterday for George S. Arnold, charged with murder in connection with the shooting March 24, last, of Police Sergeant E. C. Baab, head of the vice squad at Georgia-street station.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Aggeler, making the closing plea for the prosecution before a jury in Judge Hardy's court, asked for a verdict carrying the extreme penalty. The jury will retire this morning to begin its deliberations.

According to evidence presented by the State, Arnold shot Baab in the kitchen of the latter's home just as a wedding anniversary party given by the Baabs was ending.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Aggeler and Richardson sought to show that Arnold shot Baab because he was envious of the latter's happiness. Arnold, who took the stand in his own defense, testified that he and Mrs. Baab had carried on a secret love affair which culminated in the shooting when Baab threatened his life. It was on this theory of self-defense that Attorney J. H. Bradley, representing Arnold, pleaded for an acquittal.

Mrs. Baab denied she ever had had a love affair with Arnold and said she knew of no motive for the shooting.

Woman Suspect in Grandmother Death Plot Held

Charged with an attempt to murder her grandmother, Irene Johnson, 29 years of age, of 315 South Pickering street, Whittier, last night was arraigned before Police Judge Frank Swain in Whittier. Preliminary hearing was set for June 13, and bail at $10,000. Miss Johnson was unable to furnish this amount and was returned to the County Jail. Robert O'Neill, Los Angeles attorney, has been engaged for her defense.

Miss Johnson had been arrested previously on a charge of forging the name of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah McDonald, to checks for $115. The more serious charge followed Mrs. McDonald's assertion that a rubber gas hose had been laid from a jet to her bedroom while she was sleeping, the open end of the hose being near her bed. The granddaughter denied knowledge of this, asserting that she was asleep when Mrs. McDonald's screams alarmed the neighborhood.

City Officials at Ceremony

Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles and many city and police officials participated at noon yesterday in the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $160,000 Venice division police station, on the City Hall grounds, Venice Boulevard.

Capt. Behrendt of the Venice division and his staff were hosts to police heads of the city. The new station will be one of the most modern and completely equipped on the Pacific Coast.

Invalid Woman Hangs Herself

"Good-by, all. Forgive and forget," Mrs. Caroline Lake, 77 years of age, penned in a note and then hanged herself to a bed post with a shawl yesterday morning, police reported.

The asserted suicide occurred in the woman's home at 11678 Montana street, Sawtelle. She leaves a son, Walter J. Black, police said. Ill health is believed to have been the cause.

Oklahoma City Bandit Suspects Hunted Here

Investigation of the robbery of $75,000 from a bank messenger in Oklahoma City, May 24, last, spread to this city yesterday when local police were requested by Oklahoma City authorities to search auto camps and airports for two men, two women and two children who, they say, left via automobile with $40,000 of the asserted stolen money in their possession.

Members of the party wanted, according to the wired request, are James "Cowboy" Hayes, 28 years of age; Mrs. Frances Hayes, 25; Charles Meritt, 31; Mrs. Helen Merritt, 26. The Meritts have with them, it was stated, a boy, 8, and a girl, 10 years of age.

The party left Oklahoma City three days after the robbery, the wire stated, in an automobile, but it is believed may accelerate their journey westward by air.

Three men and one woman already are in custody in Oklahoma City, police said.

Preceding the commencement, the alumni association of the college will give a banquet and dance, Thursday evening, in the college auditorium at 721 South Griffin avenue, at which Dr. Ernest G. Bashor and Dr. J. Gordon Hatfield will preside.

Inquiry Sought in Boys' Arrest

A request from the constitutional rights committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association asking an investigation into the arrest of three youths, reported by Miss Nora Sterry, principal of the Macy-street school, to have been held without charge by the police, was referred by the Police Commission yesterday to Chief Davis for investigation. Also she complained that they were held incommunicado.

According to police records, Domingo Rodrigues and Bernabe Lujan, both 18 years of age, were booked on suspicion of burglary by Detective Lieutenants Brown and Segura. The detectives assert the boys admitted breaking into the barber shop of Felipe Nunez at 711 Avila street, and stealing a radio, razor and some liquor. Detective Segura reported the boys admitted stealing liquor before from the shop.

Police records show that Lujan was arrested once before for Wright Act violation and sentenced to $75 fine or fifteen days in jail.

FLOOD DEATHS CASE DECIDED

Judge Yankwich Awards Mathews Insurance to Father of Husband on Old Common-Law Theory That in Fatal Disaster a Man Will Survive His Wife

After having his decision under submission for several days, Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday handed down a ruling in the insurance suit brought by Mrs. Emilie Deruelle against Cyrus R. Mathews wherein he upheld the old common-law presumption that where a man and wife die together in a disaster the man survives because of his superior physical strength. The action was one growing out of the St. Francis dam flood in which Carl James Mathews, his wife and four children perished.

Mrs. Deruelle, the plaintiff, is the mother of Emelia Mathews, wife of Carl James Mathews. Mathews, at the time of his death was carrying a $5000 insurance policy in the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Mrs. Mathews was named beneficiary, but the policy also provided that if there be no beneficiary surviving at the death of its holder the money was to go to certain preferred groups, surviving widow, or widower, surviving children, surviving parents or surviving administrator or executors of the estate. It was under this provision the policy was paid to Cyrus R. Mathews, father of the deceased husband.

The plaintiff's claim was that the policy was community property and her daughter had a vested interest in it at the time of her death. She asked for half the proceeds.

The ruling made by Judge Yankwich is based upon the proposition that the wife's interest did not become vested in her because the policy itself provided for other beneficiaries in case of the failure of the beneficiary to survive. The husband being presumed to have survived the longest in the disaster, at the death of his wife the policy vested entirely in him, and his parents are entitled to the entire proceeds.

EDUCATION GROUP DINES AT SESSION

The importance of education to the maintenance of national and State institutions, political, social and economic, was discussed by Dr. Lester B. Rogers, dean of the school of education of the University of Southern California, at a dinner meeting of school trustees and school executives last night in the Student Union of Southern California as the opening session of a one-week conference dealing with problems in educational administration. The banquet was attended by schoolmen and lay members of school boards from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach, Glendale, Huntington Park, Inglewood, Beverly Hills, Culver City, Monrovia, Alhambra, Huntington Beach, South Gate, Manhattan Beach, El Monte, El Segundo, Hermosa Beach, Palos Verdes and Santa Monica.

The toastmaster was Melvin Neel of Long Beach. President R. B. Von KleinSmid of Southern California welcomed the guests and Eugene L. Fisher, president of the Southern California School Trustee Institute, responded. Discussions were led by Dr. A. L. Smith of the Board of Education of Monrovia, by Dr. Albert E. Wilson, principal of Manual Arts High School, Los Angeles, and by Judge Thompson of Pasadena.

Peace Discussed at Methodist Pastor Meeting

"There was a time just before and during the World War when the church wondered whether Christianity and patriotism both could be saved and when the life of Christianity was seriously threatened," said Clarence M. Case, professor of sociology at University of Southern California, in an address given yesterday before the Methodist preachers' meeting at First Methodist Episcopal Church. "I thank God that it is becoming more and more unpopular to apologize for war, which never did and never can settle any question. An armed conflict between nations is against all natural instincts and acquired ethical principles of mankind."

Speaking on "Creating the International Mind," Dr. Case, who is a Quaker, voiced the hope and belief that the churches of America will take a leading part in the various programs for international good will, lending their aid to the League of Nations and the World Court.

"The internationalism we desire is not cosmopolitanism but the spirit of fraternity among nations," said the speaker.

Another speaker was Henry Linn, a Chinese student at the University of Southern California, who spoke on "Universal Peace."

Head Declares for Bonelli in City Club Talk

While admitting that either John C. Porter or William G. Bonelli is worthy of the support of good citizens in today's election, Lew Head, in an address at the City Club yesterday, announced himself in favor of Mr. Bonelli as "the broader-minded man of the two."

"In selecting a Mayor, the experience and ability of a candidate, as well as his other qualifications, and motives, should be considered," said Mr. Head. "With his lack of experience, it is possible that Mr. Porter would become unintentionally a victim of boss rule.

"The fact that Mr. Porter once played baseball with his son on Sunday is no proof that he is an anti-blue-law man," said Mr. Head.

Shaw's Sewer Ideas Prevail

Recommendation of City Engineer Shaw in regard to the sewer flusher situation, which caused an investigation by the last grand jury, were approved by the City Council yesterday after they had first received the approval of the Health and Sanitation Committee.

Maj. Shaw had requested authority to omit automatic sewer flushers from the specifications for sewers having a greater slope than 1.8 per cent. He also had asked for authority to curtail the present use of such flushers under a plan which he would prepare. Furthermore, he had indicated that, if authorized by the Council, he could present plans for a siphon type of sewer which would meet the practical needs of the city's sewer system. All these requests were approved.

TRAFFIC YIELDS DAMP CARGO

Driver's Violation Causes Discovery of Liquor Worth $1000

Failure to hold out his hand for a right-hand turn at First street and Normandie avenue yesterday afternoon cost Henry A. Bonis, 24 years of age of 1956 City View avenue, his liberty and enriched the police store of confiscated liquor with $1000 worth of the illicit product.

Motorcycle officers report that when they stopped Bonis at Third street and Normandie avenue, they found twelve sacks of red liquor in the coupe Bonis was driving. He was booked for possession and transportation of liquor.

PLEA VAIN FOR JULIAN LENDERS

Judge Bogue Turns Deaf Ear to Restitution Tale; Sets Defendants' Trials

Following an argument by Mendel Silberberg, attorney appearing as a friend of the court, for dismissing the Julian usury cases against defendants who have made restitution satisfactory to the receivers of the corporation, Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday reiterated his refusal to dismiss such cases under the compromise section of the Penal Code. The court, however, declared belief in fines rather than jail sentences in cases where defendants who have made restitution are found guilty of usury.

Silberberg in his argument said: "In the crisis which the company faced these people did everything they could to help. They turned in more than $500,000 to the receivers at a time when it could not have been obtained otherwise and by doing so they saved the company from bankruptcy. They helped save the company for the stockholders and now they suddenly find themselves painted, not as benefactors, but as usurers."

He closed with an appeal to the court to allow the asserted promise of a former City Prosecutor to dismiss the cases to be kept.

Six usury cases, on the docket for yesterday, were ordered continued by Judge Bogue. Mike Harris, Max Ripstein and David Trattner were ordered to appear for plea on the 7th inst. Meyer H. Price will be tried by a jury on July 2, the court ordered. Otto G. Wilday was allowed until July 29, next, to plead, and Mrs. Violet Wilday will be tried by a jury on the same date.

THEIR FIGURES DIFFER

Wife and Husband Far Apart on Income at Alimony Hearing

There was some disparity in the two estimates of F. D. Bowden's income submitted at his alimony hearing in Superior Judge Schauer's court yesterday.

Mrs. June Bowden, complaining because her alimony was not paid, said her husband is making $2000 a month. Bowden countered with the sworn statement that he is making $10 a month. The court ordered Bowden to pay his wife $400 for alimony and attorney's fees pending the trial.

Officers Due to Leave Today for Dallas, Tex.

Armed Companion Still Being Hunted

Art Chris, investigator for the District Attorney's office, and Capt. Jay Cain of the police department, are expected to leave for Dallas, Tex., today to return Dan Dennehy to Los Angeles where he will be tried with Bert Barretti for the murder of Max Silverstein. Barretti, it is said, is still a fugitive from justice.

Dennehy was captured in Dallas by Chief of Detectives Gunning of that city upon telegraphic advices from Capt. Cain and Investigator Chris.

Silverstein was murdered in his Hollywood-street apartment March 20, it is said, by two men who entered the place, bound and gagged Miss Arline Silverstein, the telephone operator, and then waylaid their victim when he entered a few minutes later.

Investigators contend that Silverstein was operating a bootlegging business which he had sold for $40000. They say it was over this sum, it is said, that Silverstein was kidnaped by gangsters who demanded $10,000 ransom. Silverstein, however, obtained his release by paying $2000. After the kidnaping last March, Silverstein told officers in a dying statement that if they found his kidnapers they would find his slayers.

The two defendants were identified from pictures by Miss Storey and were indicted by the grand jury recently. A third man known only as Jim Shepard also was indicted on the same charge.

Officers want the fugitives as they are members of a Chicago gang headed by the late "Big Tim" Murphy.

THRONG AT DANCE ON PAVEMENT

Fifteen Thousand Gather for Street Event at Which Four Orchestras Play

In former pueblo days were held last night when approximately 15,000 persons either stood or looked on while four orchestras provided lively strains in the street between Seventh and Eighth streets.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the music started from the four bandstands, and from each end of the block-long street Shriners and their guests began one of the features of preconvention week, a line dance along the curb on each side of the street for the entire block, old and young.

The idea of the event was one primarily to give visitors here for the convention, many hundreds of whom participated.

A three-year-old girl, Betty Walsh of Tonopah, whose father is one of the delegates who arrived here Monday, danced with her mother, and drew a large share of the crowd's attention.

The event was arranged by the entertainment committee of Al Malaikah Temple. The four orchestras were furnished by Ben Black.

Hapless Girl Tries Suicide

Ruth Powers, 22 years of age, came to Los Angeles a month ago from Chicago hoping to get a job in pictures, jumped from the window of her room in a hotel at Sixth and Grand last night and received a fractured skull at the County General Hospital. According to employees at the hotel she had sought daily to get a job at the picture studios.

Despondent over the fact that she tried to sell her clothing to pay her room and board and when she failed to obtain work, the police say, she made an attempt to commit suicide. Relatives in Chicago will be notified.

Police and a frantic husband are searching the throngs about the city yesterday for Mrs. Ida Feigenbaum, 35 years old, who disappeared from her room at Ninth and San Pedro streets in early morning hour.

Her husband, according to her friends, Joseph Feigenbaum, is suffering a nervous disorder. He told police that she rose, dressed and left without awakening him shortly after 4 o'clock. He says he saw her walk out and spoke to the night clerk.

FOUR ENTER SHRINE RACE FOR OFFICE

Campaign Grows Exciting for Election as Outer Guard of Imperial Divan

A friendly political campaign is brewing in the Imperial Council of the Shrine. As the time for the first official meeting of the body draws closer the race for the position of Outer Guard in the Imperial Divan grows more interesting. This is the post from which the Imperial officers progress to supreme command of the order.

Four names have been mentioned in connection with the office. They are Ernest Hueter of San Francisco, A. A. D. Rahn of Minneapolis, Walter Sugden of Wheeling, W. Va., and Thomas Field of El Paso, Tex.

The consensus of opinion among Shrine officials is that the race will be principally between Walter Sugden and Andrew Rahn, who are close personal friends. Rahn is one of the important business men of the Middle West. He has extensive lumber holdings in the North and in California. Sugden is a former Harvard football star. He is now a lawyer.

Sugden has thrice been a candidate for the post. This is Rahn's first campaign.

Headquarters have been established by all candidates at the Biltmore and active campaigning started by their friends.

NOTABLE GROUP AT BANQUET

Youngworths Entertain Hundred Shrine Leaders and Ladies at Home

More than 100 past and present high-ranking officials of Shrinedom and their ladies were the guests of Deputy Imperial Potentate and Mrs. Leo V. Youngworth last night at a banquet given at their Baldwin Hills home in honor of Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones.

Following the dinner a program of entertainments was given in the center of the patio, around which the guests had been seated in a circle, all facing the platform.

The Youngworth banquet, though not officially a part of the convention, climaxed the social entertainments tendered the high officials of the Imperial Council and Divan, pending the opening day's official activities.

An official banquet honoring Imperial Potentate Jones and Mr. Youngworth, who will be elected automatically to succeed him, will be given at the Biltmore tonight.

Shriners have fostered but one movement. That is the establishment of a chain of children's hospitals throughout the United States which have been immensely successful in aiding child sufferers," Mr. Anderson said.

"Should such a resolution as mentioned above come before the council, I see no objection to its adoption. It would be a worthy measure, in my opinion."

"I believe that President Hoover has taken a step that ultimately will benefit the citizens of the United States many fold. He is to be commended by every citizen, and, moreover, needs the support of every American. The suppression of crime and enforcement of existing laws is the paramount problem before America today."

The proposed resolution is understood to set forth succinctly the position President Hoover has adopted in the enforcement program, and invites attention to Masonry, from which the fraternity of Shriners come, which teaches obedience to the laws and the duty of citizens to support and respect those in authority under the laws.

The measure, it is said, will not mention prohibition or other matters involved in the enforcement program, but will suggest to temples subordinate to the council throughout the nation that they take appropriate action after giving the subject consideration and thereby co-ordinate the efforts of the Shrine to assist President Hoover.

BEACH STRIP ON PARKS LIST

An important addition to the parks and playgrounds system of Los Angeles county was ordered by the County Board of Supervisors yesterday, when they took official action to operate and maintain the half-mile strip of county-owned strand between Manhattan Beach and Hermosa Beach as a county playground.

Fred E. Wadsworth, who for some time has been in charge of the county playground at Big Pines Park, stated yesterday that an extensive series of improvements will be undertaken at once. Picnic tables, benches, stone fire ranges and a beach life-guard service will be available in a few weeks, it was declared.

The county purchased this beach about two weeks ago. There now is before the Supervisors an offer of another stretch of beach at Redondo Beach. This property is owned by two real estate concerns and the Pacific Electric Railway.

Another strip of county-owned beach, just north of Santa Monica, which has been operated by the Santa Monica park system, on contract, will be taken over by Mr. Wadsworth's department when the present lease expires.

PEDESTRIAN LOSES LIFE IN TRAFFIC

Whittier Man Killed by Trailer and Three Hurt in Auto Collisions

Traffic yesterday took a toll of one life and seriously injured three other persons.

William V. Walker, 64 years of age, was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a truck trailer as he started to walk across Whittier Boulevard yesterday afternoon. J. E. Manning, 1052 East Fifty-fourth street, the driver of the truck, told officers that the man apparently walked into the trailer without seeing it. He was released after questioning. Walker lived in Whittier.

Marie Schwinger, 226 Archer Drive, Burbank, had three fingers amputated at Dickey and Cass Hospital last night after the car in which she and Sallie McQuown, 842 Valley street, Burbank, were riding crashed into a truck loaded with hay in Cahuenga Pass. Her left leg was broken and she suffered serious contusions. Miss McQuown suffered a broken arm in the crash. The truck was driven by Frank Campbell, 2126 South Main street.

Nicholas Demos, 42, of 133 Swall Drive, Beverly Hills, received a ten-inch laceration in his left leg when a car in which he was a passenger collided with another automobile at the intersection of Sunset Boulevard and Curson street, Hollywood.

Retribution

"Only yesterday," said Jones, who was discussing philanthropy, "I refused a woman a small sum of money and in consequence I passed a sleepless night. The tones of her reproachful voice never left me for a moment."

"Dear me, indeed a kind heart! Who was the woman?"

ALIMONY DELINQUENCY LAID TO SUNSHINE HERE

Tom S. Fletcher, who said he is a manufacturer of cosmetics, in Superior Judge Schauer's court at an alimony hearing yesterday blamed California sunshine and a fad of fashion for his inability to make money at his business. Thus he explained his delinquency in his weekly payments to Mrs. Frances Fletcher.

"Since the women got the habit of tanning themselves in the sun," he said, "the cosmetics business is all shot to pieces, judge."

"Why don't you put out a line of artificial tan stain and advertise a painless sunburn?" suggested the court. "Don't tell me there's no money in the cosmetic business. Pay $15 a week on this alimony order, or start making powder out of rocks in a county road camp."

Fletcher promised to pay.

Arizonans Bring Shrine Animals

Animals from the Arizona desert, including Asafoetida, the trained camel on wheels, were among the many animals brought by El Zariba Shriners when they arrived on the Southern Pacific special from Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday morning to attend the fifty-fifth annual convention.

Besides the trained camel, the menageries included gopher snakes, gila monsters and lizards.

Parading with its band to the Biltmore, El Zariba Temple, under the leadership of Potentate Cliff Carpenter, received a hearty welcome.

Buck O'Neil trained the camel, and Eli Rappopaport, rode it in the parade.

SUSPECTED SELLER OF NARCOTICS ARRAIGNED

A reported sale of $20 worth of morphine in a cemetery at San Bernardino resulted in Byron S. Deuber appearing before United States District Judge James yesterday on a charge of selling the drug in violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act. Deuber pleaded not guilty and his case was set for trial October 29, next.

Fifty Thousand Shriners Enter Portals

reflected in the adorned city and gayety of the merry, mad mob. Not yesterday did these Shriners think of the business of the convention which opens today. They were busy, but busy with joy. Today the first official session of the conclave will be held by 700 representatives from all temples of the order, but the remainder of the happy 100,000 are not interested in that.

There is too much to be done in the way of merriment during their annual holiday. The Shriners are called the play boys of the Masons, and well might Los Angeles be called the playground of the Shrine. For the city figuratively opened its arms and bade them be happy. The corridors of every hotel in the metropolis rang with the laughter of good-fellowship. Through every street echoed the shouts of joy as caravan after caravan of Shriners streamed along.

There were biggest and littlest Shriners, fattest and thinnest Shriners, and just plain Shriners. But all wearers of the red fez received the same measure of gay reception. The deluge covered the entire city and spread through the surrounding towns. Everywhere is Shrine. Traffic regulations in the downtown district went the way of all orderly things during this week. That does not mean that the city is disorderly. But it means that the entire population is bent on giving the visitors a good time.

From daylight until midnight special trains on the three railroads serving the city followed each other at short intervals, bearing the visiting thousands. At the stations they were met by official escorts and parade succeeded parade along Fifth street to the Public Library, where all of the delegations were photographed.

Uncounted thousands of Angelenos lined the avenues of the processions, cheering and shouting admiration of the colorful uniformed bodies that executed drill movements as they marched. The greatest demonstration of the day was that given by Medinah Temple of Chicago, which arrived 2000 strong in nine special trains over the Union Pacific. Resplendent in new uniforms, they gave interesting exhibitions of drills in various parts of the city. But a hundred other organizations did the same thing.

Last night the first public jubilee of the conclave was participated in by more than 50,000 Shriners and their partners, who danced in a street frolic on Olive between Seventh and Ninth streets from 8 p.m. until midnight. Four orchestras furnished music for the dancers.

Today the convention holds its official opening ceremonies in the Coliseum at 9 a.m. This will be one of the most colorful events of the week. All of the uniformed organizations will parade into the bowl and execute drill maneuvers by a reviewing stand of high officials of the order.

The national colors will be raised at 9:30 a.m. to the roar of a twenty-one-gun salute fired by two "75's" from the Third Coast Artillery. Col. R. F. Woods, commandant, will be in charge of the army detail, said to be the first ever made to a Shrine convention.

During the afternoon the first meeting of the Imperial Council will be held in the Biltmore. At 2:30 p.m. the first performance of the giant Shrine Circus Maximus will be given at the Coliseum. Tonight a lavish Hawaiian banquet will be given at the Biltmore for the Imperial Divan and temple delegates.

HOSPITALITY PRAISED

Praise for the hospitality of Los Angeles was voiced yesterday by Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones. "It takes a large attendance to make a national convention like that of the Shrine successful. To satisfactorily promote attendance we must have something to sell. Thanks to the persistent and strikingly effective national advertising which you people of Southern California have conducted in our magazines and newspapers in the East during the last eight years or so, you have thousands of us wanting to make a pleasure jaunt to your all-year vacation paradise. And so we are here, in force, because everybody wanted to come. You very aptly call this a 'trip abroad in your own America.'"

And that statement represents the spirit of all the Shriners now making merry in Los Angeles. The most common remark among the Shriners seems to be, "I have never had such a good time in my life."

This attitude is reflected in the festivity of the city.

COLISEUM TICKETS NOT ALL GONE

Tickets for the Shrine convention events to be held in the Coliseum are on sale at the B. H. Dyas stores, Seventh and Olive streets, and Hollywood Boulevard and Vine street, Hollywood. Tickets may be purchased tonight at Shrine headquarters, main floor, Broadway Arcade Building. Tickets will also be available at the Coliseum preceding the performances. The tickets will entitle the holder to witness the $1,000,000 movie electrical pageant Thursday night, two oriental dress parades this morning and tomorrow night, and the four performances of the Circus Maximus scheduled for this afternoon, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and tomorrow night.

Breakfast Club Fetes Visitors

Like all the rest of Los Angeles, the Breakfast Club tomorrow morning will "go Shrine." The grounds will be decorated in Shrine colors and emblems in preparation for the great special breakfast to be given Thursday morning in honor of the Imperial Divan and their ladies, and tomorrow's regular meeting, besides being attended by many out-of-town Shriners, will be featured by the singing of the Zuhrah Temple chanters from Minneapolis. Two former Minneapolis members of the club, William E. Schreyer and William Evans, are to be hosts, and a third, Clifford Gillespie, is to captain the before-breakfast horseback hide.

Lady Heath, noted English aviatrix; Marvel Crosson, holder of the woman's altitude record; Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy holder of the non-refueling endurance record, and Capt. Frank Hawks holder of the cross-country nonstop flight record, will be guests.

Shrine Plans Improvements for Hospitals

Improvements for the fifteen Shrine hospitals for crippled children in North America were discussed yesterday at the second meeting of the three-day session of the board of trustees of the Shrine hospitals. No definite action will be taken until the recommendations of the board are submitted to the Imperial Council, it is announced.

Telegraphic advice was received by the board yesterday that a court decision had been handed down in St. Louis which releases a $100,000 bequest from the estate of Col. C. A. Sinclair he left to the hospital fund. The board meets this morning at the Biltmore.

LADIES BUSY UNPACKING

Women of Shrine Ensemble Put Rooms in Order; Entertainment Program Prepared

While nobles of every description and potentates of various degrees swarmed through the city yesterday, the ladies of the ensemble slipped in quietly and devoted themselves to the domestic pursuit of arranging the household goods in their various hotels and effecting some measure of order and settlement before the hectic rush of the next three days begins.

Mrs. Kenneth H. Gillette, chairman of the ladies hospitality committee, was entrenched behind an information bureau at the Biltmore headquarters, dispensing information to the visiting ladies and she has placed aides in every hotel in the city to be of service to the guests during their stay here.

YOUNGWORTH DINNER

Under the leadership of Mrs. Leo V. Youngworth, the entertainment of the ladies of the Imperial Divan began last night with a dinner at the Baldwin Hills home of Deputy Imperial Potentate Leo V. Youngworth and Mrs. Youngworth, at which they were hosts to 125 guests. The dinner, served in Spanish style in the patio of the house, was given in honor of Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones and Mrs. Jones, the Imperial Divan and party and the local Divan.

This morning the ladies of representatives of the Imperial Council will leave the Biltmore in special motors for the official opening ceremonies at the Coliseum, where space has been reserved for them.

FASHION REVUE

At 1:30 they will proceed to the Ambassador for luncheon, during which Miss Peggy Hamilton, fashion expert, assisted by motion-picture actresses, will present a fashion revue. At the conclusion of the revue the party will make a short tour of some of the motion-picture studios.

In the evening the ladies of the Imperial Divan will be guests at the Hawaiian banquet at the Biltmore in honor of the Imperial Potentate, the Imperial Divan and representatives, and later will attend the formal ball at the Shrine Auditorium for all Shriners and their ladies.

Columbus Group Here on Seventh West Coast Trip

Aladdin Temple of Columbus, O., with Allen W. Williams, Potentate, at its head, arrived yesterday. More than 250 members made up the party, which is making its seventh Pacific Coast pilgrimage. The party includes public officials, lawyers, doctors, newspaper writers, educators, bankers and business men.

Among the leaders in the delegation are Mayor James J. Thomas of Columbus, together with Milton J. Pixley and W. E. Joseph, all of them thirty-third degree Masons. Curtis C. Lattimer, surveyor of Franklin county, Milton W. Westlake, county commissioner, John J. Pugh, city librarian, and Kiser E. Dumbald, engineer of the Ohio State highway department.

Too Much Framework

The family was at table and little Francis, normall of excellent appetite, had left most of his meal untouched. So mother was concerned.

"Why, Frankie, why don't you eat the nice shad? I thought you liked fish?"

"FATHER" OF PATROLS ATTENDS CONVENTION

Capt. A. M. Shuey

A "youngster" 82 years of age sits in his room at the Biltmore overlooking the processions of the incoming Shrine delegations. He smiles proudly as the colorful legions pass. And well he may, for the man is Capt. A. M. Shuey of Zuhrah Temple, Minneapolis, father of the Shrine patrols.

It was thirty-five years ago in Denver that Capt. Shuey commanded a body of forty men dressed in white uniforms, the first costumed patrol in the history of the order. From that day other temples took up the idea and now the drilling of the uniformed bodies is one of the most interesting features of the conclaves.

Capt. Shuey wrote the ritual used in drill formations by all Shrine temples. Although he retired from active participation in patrol work two years ago, he still takes an active interest in this feature of his temple. He says he retired from business last year, not because of his years, but for the simple reason that he did not want to work any longer. He had directed a large music store in Minneapolis for sixty-three years.

This is his fourth trip to conventions in Los Angeles. "Looking at this sunshine and feeling this wonderful climate makes me think that I might move out here for the winters," he said. "If Minneapolis were not a habit with me I would come out here to live when I felt myself getting old."

Capt. Shuey is the only living charter member of Zuhrah Temple.

CITY COUNCIL SERENADED

Houston Temple Bugle and Drum Corps Makes Chamber Ring

The bugle and drum corps of Arabia Temple from Houston, Tex., marched into the Council chamber of the City Hall while the Council was in session yesterday morning and treated the Councilmen to a thunderous serenade. Aided by the expensive acoustical system of the chamber, the efforts of the buglers and drummers reverberated through the room until the very air trembled, but at the finish of the performance, the Councilmen assured the performers that their efforts had been thoroughly enjoyable.

Frank C. Jones, Imperial Potentate of the Shrine, is a member of Arabia Temple, but he did not accompany his buglers and drummers on their visit to the Council. They were led by Maj. Roositer, who is a past department commander of the American Legion of Texas.

THIRTY-ONE TRAINS GET HERE IN DAY

Thirty-one special trains arrived during the day yesterday bringing an additional 10,000 Shriners and their families to the convention.

From early morning until afternoon streets leading from the railroad stations to the downtown district were lined with people as each train unloaded its fezzed and uniformed patrols and bands which immediately entered into the pre-convention festivities.

The blare of brass bands and trumpets greeted friends and citizens who were on hand when the first of the nine special trains bearing Medinah Temple delegates arrived from Chicago with a capacity load of 1576 Shriners.

Temples represented in yesterday's arrivals are:

JESTERS MAKE MERRY

Exclusive Group of Hand-Picked Good Fellows Among Shriners Hold Annual Meeting and Hi-jinks

There is an organization in the Mystic Shrine called the Royal Order of Jesters, but it is more popularly known as "the gang of hand-picked good fellows." Their purpose is pleasure pure and simple. Yesterday this inner circle had its annual meeting in the Biltmore.

Last night they gave their annual party, which in the vernacular of the streets was "some party." A reproduction of a mining camp of bonanza days was procured from a motion-picture company and set up in the dance pavilion of the Breakfast Club. There they danced and sang and watched a program of entertainment until the early hours of this morning.

EXCLUSIVE GROUP

This organization of Jesters was founded in 1911 by a party of Shriners on shipboard bound for Hawaii. A play was written and performed by the party. Bill Allison of San Francisco is given credit for the authorship. Now one of the features of the Jesters of the Shrine temples is the production of plays for charity.

The Jesters are a very exclusive crowd. Only thirteen members are selected each year from each temple having a court of the order. Members are invited to join. No applications are considered. There are 108 Courts of Jesters among the 157 Shrine temples of North America.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The officers elected yesterday for the incoming year are: Lou B. Winsor of Grand Rapids, Royal Director; Esten A. Fletcher of Rochester, Royal Leading Man; Dr. O. W. Burdats of Wheeling, W. Va., Royal Tragedian; Fred E. Pierce of Newark, N. J., Royal Impresario; W. E. Joseph of Columbus, O., Royal Treasurer; Albert Schurr of Newark, Royal Stage Manager; Dr. Edward S. Keefer of Cincinnati, Royal Leading Lady; Col. Ritchings J. Shand of Springfield, Ill., Royal Heavy Man; George Filmer of San Francisco, Royal Light Comedian; Andrew A. D. Rahn of Minneapolis, Royal Soubrette; James K. Rowland of Shreveport, Royal Serio-Cosmic; Ed B. King of Tacoma, Royal Character Man; Alex Gilliland of Pittsburgh, Royal Property Man.

There are 2893 Shriners now members of the Jesters.

Syria Sends Them Here in Huge Bundles

The largest Shriner in the world headed the Pittsburgh delegation of the Syria Temple when it arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. He is Robert B. Keenan, and besides weighing 392 pounds, is seven feet three inches tall.

Keenan is drum major of the oriental band of the Syria Temple. His manner of wielding the baton, coupled with his towering height and bulk excited applause from the throngs that lined the sidewalks when his delegation marched through town.

Keenan is 35 years of age and is employed in the office of the Registrar of Wills in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania. He is unmarried.

Before his departure Gov. Dern told reporters his reasons for signing the Boulder dam pact and discussed the benefits that will accrue from its construction.

SHRINER FLIES TO BE ON TIME

Salt Lake City Attorney at Conclave's Opening After Late Start

Legal business which prevented Attorney George Corey of Salt Lake City from departing on scheduled time with his fellow-Shriners of El Kallah Temple for the convention here didn't stop him from being here on time for the opening today. He came by airplane.

Mr. Corey had to make an appearance before the Utah State Supreme Court at Salt Lake City yesterday morning in behalf of his client, the Utah Power and Light Company.

After a two-hour session in court he took a taxi and hurried to the municipal airport, where he boarded the Western Air Express plane for Los Angeles, arriving late yesterday afternoon.

South Gate Police Department under the direction of Capt. H. F. Castleberry and including Lieuts. E. C. Tally and Leon Gilbert and Officer Harry Price.

Noble Chris Wisenberger of Hillah Temple, Ashland, Or., probably the oldest patrolman of Shrinedom, now nearing his ninetieth year, patrolled the deck with the best of them.

Another interesting figure among past potentates is John H. Attwood of Abdallah Temple, Leavenworth, Kan. He is senior Past Imperial Potentate and held the office in 1899-1900.

A happy family party was Julius C. Shapiro of Ararat Temple of Kansas City, his wife and children, Beverly Jule and Dean Hanna, 11 and 6 years of age, respectively. He is the only member of the Imperial Council who is not a Past Potentate of a local temple and was elected by a waiver of rules. He is the youngest member. He is also a delegate to the Elks' convention and will remain for the summer with his family at Long Beach.

Past Potentate Clifton B. Dodge of Isis Temple, Salina, Kan., drove to the convention with his wife and three children. "This highway of water with somebody else at the wheel looks good to me and is worth the long grind out here," he said.

FAR FROM HOME

S. C. Wilson, Past Potentate of Mt. Sinai Temple of Montpelier, Vt., the third oldest temple of the Shrine, is also Lieutenant-Governor of Vermont. He was accompanied by his wife and Potentate Charles B. Adams and Mrs. Adams. "Three thousand miles of anticipation with nothing lacking in the realization," is the way Noble Wilson expressed his appreciation of the day.

The only real contest of the convention is to be the selection of the Outer Guard, as his office is the first in line and will bring new timber into the Imperial Council. Three nobles are being mentioned for the post, A. A. Rahm of Minneapolis, Walter Suyden of Wheeling, W. Va., and Ernest Huter of San Francisco.

However, convention matters were practically forgotten for the day and the arrival at the island introduced a continuous round of pleasure that left little time for aught but sightseeing and attention to the special fish dinner served at the St. Catherine. All members of the Shrine party took the glass-bottom boat trip and visited the new bird farm. Many took the sky-line drive.

WIDOW HONORED

"Sky line? Can I get out of the car on top? They took me to a place back of Hollywood where I was afraid to get out," said Potentate Hugh L. White of Wahabi Temple, Jackson, Miss., but he yielded to the persuasion of Past Potentate W. P. Harris of the same temple and did not regret it.

One interested guest of the excursion was a little woman whose husband, a Shriner, passed away in 1909. She had driven all the way from Death Valley and at the registration bureau temple records checked up her husband of twenty years ago; she was decorated with the Shrine emblem and made the trip to Catalina as the guest of that temple.

The Al Malaikah committee in charge of today's outing was Robert S. Weaver, general chairman; Frank G. Morrison, chairman; Ervine Alton, assistant chairman, and as aids: C. M. Boyd, E. H. Bernegger, C. W. Carson, W. Hall Crowell, F. S. Gillett, J. M. Harris, Allerton Johnstone, Louis Pascarelli, Frank Pennoyer, D. M. Renton, B. R. Scott, Sid J. Spearin, Edwin Stanton, Hugh Stevenson, Wilbur L. White.

PITTSBURGH PARADES FOR HOLLYWOOD

Universal City Will be Host to 8000 Shriners Tomorrow Afternoon

Hollywood was treated to the first uniformed Shriners' parade yesterday afternoon when 1000 Nobles of Syria Temple, Pittsburgh, marched along Hollywood Boulevard from the Plaza Hotel to the Roosevelt Hotel to visit Illustrious Potentate R. M. Wersbrod. Hoot Gibson was marshal of the parade, with a herd of camels walking their mile to give the proper Arabic atmosphere. Three hundred of the Syria Temple Nobles were in their fancy drill uniforms.

Universal City expects to entertain 8000 Shriners and their families tomorrow from 2 to 6 p.m. at a rodeo and a demonstration of talkie-making. The Nobles are to be the guests of Carl Laemmle, Sr., and Carl Laemmle, Jr., and a red fez is the only passport needed to pass the gates to the festivities. Special trains will be routed by the Pacific Electric to carry the guests to Universal City.

Hoot Gibson is to be grand marshal and chief performer at the rodeo. It will include a stage-coach race, a standing Roman race, a pony express race, trick riding and an Indian jamboree. The Shriners then will be led to the sound stages to see the making of talking films.

LITTLE DANCER TO ENTERTAIN

Dede Francis

ONE of the interesting events of the week will be the pageant tomorrow afternoon in the Busch Gardens of Pasadena which Elise Schuyler Garrett, talented producer of juvenile revues, is presenting for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. Mrs. Garrett is the great great granddaughter of the Marquis Pierre De Ta Clede, founder of the city of St. Louis, and on her mother's side is a direct descendant of the House of Orleans. Among her proteges is the attractive little Dede Francis, 6 years of age, and who, by the way, is the great great grand-daughter of Alexander Hamilton. Her splendid dancing and delightful singing voice predestine the charming little artiste to an attractive future. Besides impersonating the world's famous stars, Dede will sing a delightful Spanish song and do a sensational French Apache dance. The Busch Gardens will be opened and donated for the benefit.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. Stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers helpful on greeting and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, colitis for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, sires and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

MOTHER'S INDIFFERENCE DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND

Mrs. E. M. P. writes: "I have a friend whose baby is 1 year of age and weighs fourteen pounds and nine ounces. The child sits like a stick all day long, makes no attempt to creep or play and never moves unless someone moves her. She is so terribly small and takes no nourishment at all except a quart of milk a day. She never touches any kind of food. She drinks gallons of water and wets continuously. She never has a natural bowel movement.

"The mother thinks the baby is normal. She has no regular hours for her and when the baby fusses she gives her a bottle of water. You can see every bone in her body. She claims the doctor says the child is normal.

"Don't you think the child gets too much water? Her legs are very thin and soft."

Answer: It seems hardly believable that any mother would be satisfied to allow a child's weight to be so far below normal, as well as the physical and mental development, and still consider there was nothing to worry about. The baby should have less milk (since her weight isn't sufficient to demand a quart,) and the other foods would no doubt result in a better gain in wright as well as clear up the rickets which seem more than evident in your description of her. I shall be glad to send the mother information on feeding if she desires it. Her indifference is difficult to understand.

Mrs. G. E. M. writes: "May I get low shoes for my 19-months-old daughter this summer? Would low shoes cause bow-legs? A friend of mine wishes to know if she can change abruptly from certified to Grade A pasteurized milk for her 18-months-old baby."

A.: Low shoes are all right for the child over 1 year of age. Bow-legs are caused by rickets, not by the style of the shoes. The important point about shoes is that they be long enough, wide enough, have straight inside edges and have very soft and flexible soles, so that baby will not be hampered in his efforts to walk.

There is little difference in the richness of Grade A and certified milk. The difference is in the cleanliness and sometimes in the age of it. Certified milk is the best milk obtainable for babies and is raw, not pasteurized. There would be no danger at all in changing, I think, except that the child might be more constipated on the pasteurized milk and one would have to add more fruit juices to the diet to adjust this condition.

Hardened Flannels

Flannels that have been washed poorly and have become hard and shrunken can usually be restored to their former softness by soaking them in gasoline for a few hours. Then wash in soft soap suds as usual and rinse in the same temperature clear water.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

Cook two cupfuls of potato dice until tender, drain, season with salt and white pepper, press through a sieve, and beat into them half a cupful of cream, one tablespoonful of butter, line shirred egg dishes with the hot potato mixture, make a depression in the center, break two fresh eggs on the potatoes in each dish, cover with one tablespoonful of tomato ketchup, place in the oven and bake until the eggs are set.

CREAM OF CARROTS

Cover two cupfuls of grated raw carrots, with four cupfuls of boiling water, add half a teaspoonful of salt, a half of a bay leaf, and eight whole pepper corns, simmer gently, for one hour, press through a sieve, melt three tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add three tablespoonfuls of flour, gradually stir in two cupfuls of hot milk, stir and cook for ten minutes; slowly pour in the carrot puree and reheat, serve with croutons.

FISH SALAD

Rub a bowl with a crushed clove of garlic, remove the garlic, and mix in the bowl one and one-half cupfuls of cold cooked fish, broken in small flakes, three quarters of a cupful of peeled, and diced cucumbers, three-quarters of a cupful of peeled, and diced celery, three chopped, hard-boiled egg whites, one chopped green pepper, one chopped pimiento, a seasoning of salt and paprika; mix all together with one cupful of French dressing. Let stand in a cold place, drain, and mound on lettuce covered plates, cover with a potato dressing, press the hard-boiled egg yolks through a sieve over the salad, sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

ROYAL SHORTCAKE

Cover the bottom of individual ice cream plates with halves of lady fingers or a slice of stale sponge cake; cover the cake with crushed strawberries, cover the berries with a thick slice of brick ice cream; and cover all with a marshmallow dressing. Decorate with whole strawberries.

POTATO SALAD DRESSING

Boil two medium sized potatoes, until mealy, drain and dry for a few seconds, place in a bowl, and beat with a fork until light and dry; beat into them half a teaspoonful of salt, a half a teaspoonful of white pepper, a half a teaspoonful of French mustard, one tablespoonful of oil, the beaten yolk of one egg and the stiffly-beaten white of one egg. Mix three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, with one tablespoonful of powdered sugar, and one teaspoonful of a good table sauce and beat slowly into the first mixture. Chill and use over fish or meat salad.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department. PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr Frank McCoy

author of "Eat Your Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

THE MEANING OF ACIDOSIS

The blood of the human body must remain alkaline during life, and serious illnesses result when the presence of acids in the blood stream reduce it toward a neutral chemical reaction. Actual acidity of the blood stream never occurs during life, for if it did it would quickly result in death. The term "acidosis" covers a number of things, but it frequently is used to indicate a lessened alkalinity of the blood.

We know that the blood is formed out of what we eat, drink and breathe. Some foods leave more alkaline end products and others leave more acid end products to be eliminated. The acidity or alkalinity of the food before it is eaten has no connection with the reaction after it is consumed. The fruit acids, for instance, are converted into carbonic acid just as are the sugars, and this acid is thrown out by the lungs as carbon dioxid and does not make the body acid. On the other hand, other foods containing an abundance of phosphorus, sulphur, nitrogen or chlorin, may leave an acid reaction after being consumed, even though they are alkaline before being eaten.

Many doctors are coming to the belief that a strong alkaline reaction of the blood is one of the best defenses of the body against many diseases. This can only be accomplished by eating a large quantity of the alkaline-forming foods. Some acid-forming foods may be eaten and are in fact necessary, but they should be less abundant.

When acidosis occurs from eating too much acid-forming food, we observe a strongly acid urine, acid sweat, acid mouth and sour stomach. Some of the symptoms may be headache, biliousness, heart burn, insomnia and irritability. Often some disease is produced, usually heart trouble, kidney disease, liver congestion, high-blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy and poor circulation.

The human race has existed for a long time, even without knowing anything about the chemistry of foods. This is because the eliminative organs maintain a delicate adjustment of the blood's chemistry and eliminate an excess of alkali or acid.

It is difficult for one who is not an expert chemist to understand the exact changes which take place with food substances in the body while they are undergoing assimilation. It is my desire to give my readers the benefit of a scientific research in the chemical laboratories, but I do not think it wise to use too many scientific terms which may prove confusing.

In tomorrow's article I will give my readers a list of the alkaline-forming and acid-forming foods and the proportion of each that should be used. You will then realize from another viewpoint why I recommend so many of the leafy green vegetables.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mustard

Question: I. B. R. writes: "I am very fond of mustard and would like to know if you consider it harmful?"

Answer: Mustard is irritating to the digestive tract and for this reason I do not advise its use in large quantities, although it may be used occasionally in small amounts with protein food.

Catarrh

Q.: H. E. M. writes: "Just clearing my throat brings up little sacks of clear mucus. Do you think this is necessarily a forerunner of tuberculosis?"

A.: The little sacks you mention are simply the exudations of catarrhal phlegm and cannot be considered the forerunner of tuberculosis. Of course, an extreme catarrhal condition may develop into tuberculosis, but your problem now is to get rid of your catarrh, which you can do by living on a muculess diet.

Baby's Head Perspires

Q.: Mrs. F. W. W. writes: "My baby, nine months old, has for several months been subject to a profuse perspiration which occurs only when she is sleeping or nursing, and the strange part is that the condition manifests only at the head. Will you tell me if this is an indication of anything wrong and what measures I can take to overcome it?"

A.: You will understand that it is difficult for me to give you a definite statement without having the opportunity of examining your baby. Excessive perspiration of the head, if not due to the fact that the baby has on too much clothing or the warmth of your own body while nursing him, is sometimes a sign of rickets, or a tendency to rickets, and this can be overcome by adding orange juice to his diet.

Drug Sensitiveness

Q.: F. L. writes: "I have been in the embalming business for the past twenty years. During the past two years I cannot stand the fluids on my hands, formulin being the most damaging. Small blisters appear on my fingers and in time open and my hands become very sore. I have seen different doctors, and they all agree I should get out of the business. My blood tests okay. What is your opinion?"

A.: You have probably developed an extreme sensitiveness to formalin. Sometimes this can be overcome by the use of a fasting and dieting regime. This regime will prove helpful in increasing the alkalinity of the blood and your general resistance. If this treatment does not produce the desired effect, the best thing would be to change your occupation or to possibly make changes in the formulas which you employ.

PROBATION GRANTED TO ALLEN GIRL

Suspect in California Christian College Fire and Theft Gets Chance

Probation for seven years was granted yesterday by Superior Judge Hardy to Lydia Allen, 20-year-old Santa Paula girl, who was charged with arson and burglary in connection with a fire last February in the women's dormitory at the California Christian College.

According to the charges against Miss Allen, she set fire to the dormitory in an effort to cover up her asserted theft of clothing and other articles from one of the student tenants of the building.

Following her arrest, Miss Allen was placed in General Hospital for observation, and alienists who examined her reported she was normal mentally but in need of medical attention.

Judge Hardy granted probation on the terms that she return to her home in Santa Paula, keep out of trouble and make restitution to the college and the student for the loss caused by the asserted theft and fire.

Carlos Allen, father of the girl and reputed wealthy, also was instructed to see that Miss Allen receives proper care. It is reported that Allen agreed to this condition and that he also has spent nearly $1000 making restitution for the girl's transgressions.

"Stage Fright" Delays Case

Miss Esther Venda was unable to get a divorce in Superior Judge Oates's court yesterday, because she was stricken with a severe case of stage fright on the witness stand, according to her attorney, J. E. Bates.

All Mrs. Vendt could stammer, in a low and hesitant voice, was "I don't know." Judge Oates continued the case for two weeks, advising the plaintiff to practice elocution in the meanwhile.

Funeral Rites for J. H. Culver Set for Today

Funeral services for Jefferson H. Culver, 86 years of age, a retired railroad engineer, will be conducted this afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Peck & Chase mortuary. Entombment will be in Inglewood Mausoleum.

Mr. Culver came to California thirty-six years ago upon his retirement as an engineer in Sioux City, Iowa. He was a veteran of the Civil War and took a prominent part in the affairs of the G.A.R. He was a member of the Stanton Post, G.A.R. in Los Angeles.

His death resulted from injuries he received when he fell from a street car a week ago. According to witnesses, he was brushed from the steps of a car by a hurrying passenger.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Sarah Logan, and a daughter, Mrs. G. Burkett Logan.

Newly Elected Staff Installed by City Club

Simple ceremonies conducted by Mrs. O. P. Clark installed a new staff of officers and directors at the Women's City Club yesterday at the Belasco Theater. The installation followed the last luncheon of the season in the Commercial Club.

Mrs. Joseph W. Hamer was reinstated as president, while others to take office were Mrs. Robert D. Shields, first vice-president; Mrs. F. R. Feltshans, second vice-president; Mrs. T. J. Bourn, treasurer; Mrs. Ben R. Wesley, secretary, and Mrs. Gladys Rice, Mrs. R. L. Glasby, Mrs. Walter Young and Mrs. Clara B. Shaldon, directors.

A detailed treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Robert D. Shield, who received a vote of thanks from the club. Mrs. Hamer then gave a summary of club affairs for the year and was given a standing vote of thanks.

"Marvelous... the freedom with this new sanitary protection"

—says an outdoor girl

Women of today find mental as well as physical relief with this latest discovery of Kotex Laboratories . . . fleecy soft protection, scientifically deodorized.

MILLIONS of women have learned to depend on Kotex within the last ten years. It has brought better health, greater peace-of-mind under trying conditions. Now comes an added advantage. Kotex scientists have discovered (and patented)* a process that deodorizes, safely and completely. After several years of research, the one remaining problem in connection with sanitary pads is solved!

Amazingly absorbent and softer than ever

Cellucotton absorbent wadding, which fills Kotex, is 5 times more absorbent than cotton itself. It takes up 16 times its own weight in moisture. The identical material used in 85% of the leading hospitals of the country, Cellucotton absorbent wadding is preferred by surgeons for its softness and hygienic comfort.

No more bulky outlines

The feeling of being conspicuous because of the bulkiness of old-time methods is gone, too. Kotex pads are rounded and tapered so there is no evidence of sanitary protection when worn. You may adjust layers of filler as needed —a thing all women appreciate. There is a new softness, because both filler and gauze have been specially treated. Finally, Kotex is so easy to dispose of, eliminating all need of laundering.

Buy a box today, at any drug, dry goods or department store . . . 45¢ for a box of twelve. Supplied, also, in rest-rooms vending cabinets.

*Kotex is the only sanitary pad that deodorizes by patented process. (Patent No. 1,670,587.)

VAN NUYS HALL PLAN ADVANCED

Council Orders Ordinance to be Prepared

Election Will be Called on $36,500 Issue

City Expected to Provide $275,000 Building

After receiving a report yesterday from City Clerk Dominguez that the requisite number of qualified voters have signed the necessary petition, the City Council instructed the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance of intention to call a special election in a Municipal Improvement District to be formed in the Van Nuys district to vote on the issuance of $36,500 of bonds to acquire the site for a branch City Hall in Van Nuys. The district is to be known as No. 70.

In a recent postcard vote the citizens of that section decided by an overwhelming majority in favor of a site at Sylvan avenue and Sylmar avenue for the branch City Hall and the cost of this site is $36,500. This vote was taken on the understanding that the city would appropriate the $275,000 estimated as the cost of constructing the building, and in the budget submitted by the Mayor to the Council last Friday that sum was set aside for that purpose.

The boundaries of Municipal Improvement District No. 70 are Sepulveda Boulevard on the west, Rita street on the south, Woodman avenue on the east up to Archwood street, which forms the northern boundary over to Haselline avenue, which forms the rest of the eastern boundary up to Sherman Way, which forms the rest of the northern boundary.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Florence A. McIntyre, a son, William, and a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Carr of Seattle.

JUNIOR CHAMBER ASKS VOTES

Full Ballot Declared Good Business

Miss Gretchen Orge Tells 'Em

TWO HUNDRED business and industrial houses throughout Los Angeles have been approached by the Junior Chamber of Commerce the last week in its effort to stimulate greater interest in voting, according to Byron F. Shacy, chairman of the register and vote committee.

Shacy and his committeemen have worked assiduously in the interest of the voting public, urging every eligible voter to go to the polls on June 4. In commenting on the work of this organization, Kennedy Ellsworth, president, says: "Realizing the importance of bringing men and women of Los Angeles to the polls, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is utilizing every possible means to bring out a representative turnout of voters. The radio and motion pictures are two means our organization has adopted in spreading the plea to vote."

It was pointed out by Ellsworth that the small primary vote is an indication of the need for bringing voters to the polls. Facts of the past and present prove that no group of individuals nor any organization could carry on this work alone. A wide field of effort is clearly defined for the Junior Chamber in conjunction with this election problem.

NINE ADRIFT IN CRIPPLED BOAT SAVED

Eight Seascouts and Man Missing Two Days Picked Up by Coast Guards

After wallowing helpless at sea in a twenty-six-foot sailing cutter for two days and two nights, eight seascouts and T. V. Storm of San Diego were picked up by Boatswain K. G. Tharp with the Coast Guard patrol boat 261, and were towed home last night.

The little craft had set out from Long Beach the 1st inst., bound for its southern home. When two days passed and they failed to appear, relatives appealed yesterday morning for Coast Guard aid, which radioed to all its craft at sea and the missing boat was picked up off San Clemente at 3 p.m. yesterday.

That some serious mishap had occurred to the boat is declared obvious, as Storm is a veteran sailor, figuring in the famous Little Teva's race to Hawaii last summer.

Sugar is nutriment in its least expensive form, and it is nature's perfect flavor. Desserts of fresh or cooked fruits are growing more and more popular. GRANDMA TO GET DIPLOMA

Mrs. Freeman Will Graduate at U.S.C. Saturday; Riverside Paper Pays Her Tribute

Mrs. Nellie Austin Freeman, who graduates on Saturday from the University of Southern California, was, for a number of years, a resident of Riverside, prior to coming to Los Angeles.

In recognition of her achievement, the Riverside Daily Press in an article last week says:

Mrs. Nellie Austin Freeman

"New recognition has been given to Mrs. Nellie Freeman, former Riversider, who will graduate from the University of Southern California on the 8th inst. This week a picture was taken of Mrs. Freeman and her granddaughter, Marcia Louise Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Freeman of 6001 Budlong, by the Associated Press, and these pictures will be sent around the world, with a suitable news story, in the picture service that this great news-gathering organization has. The picture will be featured as that of a 54-year-old grandmother who is graduating from the university taken with the youngest child of her youngest son.

"Mrs. Freeman's graduation from the university where her three sons, Harold, Wesley and George, graduated, has attracted much attention on the part of the Los Angeles papers, and now this picture will be used by hundreds of papers all over the world.

"It is an interesting fact that while Mrs. Freeman was a student at the university her eldest son, Harold Freeman, who has a high position with the Goodyear Rubber Company, was giving lectures in the chemistry department in the university.

"Riverside friends of the Freeman family will be interested to learn that on the day of Mrs. Freeman's graduation from the university, Dr. B. S. Haywood, pastor of the Anaheim Methodist Church and former Riverside pastor, will baptise the granddaughter who was pictured with her grandmother in the Associated Press photograph. Dr. Haywood baptised the father of this young girl when he was pastor of the First Methodist Church here.

"Mrs. Freeman, her son, George Freeman, his wife, and the granddaughter, Marcia Louise Freeman, visited Riverside today and were cordially greeted by many friends who are very proud of the achievements of the resourceful woman. They were guests while there of Mrs. H. H. Monroe, Mrs. Freeman's sister. Mrs. Freeman intends to take up some social work but her plans for the coming year are as yet not fully determined."

On May 23 last, The Times in a news story calling attention to Mrs. Freeman's remarkable triumph, erroneously printed the picture of another Mrs. Freeman. This unfortunate mistake, however, was rectified three days later, when another article relating to her achievements was carried, together with a new photograph of the grandmother university graduate.

SITE DEAL TO AWAIT LAWSUIT

County Officials Withhold Humphreys Lot Purchase Pending Injunction Ruling

County officials whose duty it is to consummate the purchase of the site for the new State office building, for which the Board of Supervisors ordered the purchase of a plot at First and Hill streets, have decided to await the result of the injunction hearing before Superior Judge Gates Thursday, it was announced yesterday.

Papers had been drawn permitting the purchase yesterday, there being no injunction now in force, but because it was felt that it would be sharp legal practice unworthy of an important governmental body to take precipitate action, the deal was deferred.

Leslie Saunders, owner of a rival site, filed suit against purchase of the W. M. Humphreys site for $490,000, alleging that resultant condemnation costs would make the price of this plot to the county at least $1,140,000. He asked for an injunction, and Superior Judge Fred C. Valentine issued a writ of probable cause. After this suit was filed, the order to purchase the Humphreys site was passed by the Supervisors, so it was necessary for McDonald & Thompson, attorneys representing the plaintiff, to file an amended petition asking that County Auditor Payne and County Treasurer Byram be included in the suit.

Rare Gladiolus to be Shown at San Diego

Specimens of Dr. A. R. Sprague's orchid gladiolus and other brilliant variations of this popular flower will be features of the annual Rancho Santa Fe Flower Show to be held on the 8th and 9th inst. in the San Diego county community.

Besides exhibits from Rancho Santa Fe gardens, there will be entries of wild flowers by school children. The judges are Mrs. Mary A. Greer, president of the San Diego Flower Association, and John S. Morley, manager of San Diego parks.

No admission will be charged for the show, which will open at the Rancho Santa Fe schoolhouse at 12:30 p.m. Saturday and at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

ARREST IN EXTORTION CASE NEAR

Definite Information on One Man Received While Cooper Offers Reward

Supplied with definite information revealing the identity of a suspect, investigators for Dist.-Atty. Fitts yesterday began an intensive search which is expected to result in the arrest of at least one of the group of five men who attempted to extort $3000 from W. E. Cooper, wealthy South Pasadena lumberman, after repeatedly threatening his life.

The investigation was aided further with the announcement by Mr. Cooper Saturday that he will pay a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the blackmailers.

In the absence of Ed Elliott, investigator, who played a leading role in the early phase of the investigation, due to injuries he received in an automobile accident, the inquiry is being carried out by his partner, Jack Chrisa.

Meanwhile officers are continuing to guard Cooper's home against any act of violence by the blackmailers.

Settlement End of Balm Action Against Lukas

Settlement of 19-year-old Marie Thye's $100,000 breach of promise suit against Paul Lukas, Austrian film actor, was recorded in Superior Judge Keetch's court yesterday. The settlement was stipulated to by attorneys on both sides, Roger Marchetti for Miss Thye and A. P. M. Narlian for Lukas. The terms were not made public.

Miss Thye's mother appeared with her because the plaintiff is a minor. Lukas denied all of her charges, and it was stated in his behalf that he preferred to settle rather than endure the publicity of a trial.

ALL HANDS QUIT WORK TO ROUND UP TEN COWS

Residents in the Lincoln Heights district yesterday dropped hammers, flatirons and typewriters and took part in an old-fashioned round-up. Ten cows, owned by the Wilson Packing Company, broke out of a yard at 243 Bloom street and attempted to get back to nature.

On foot, on bicycles and in automobiles, scores of men and boys chased the bovines along streets, through alleys and across yards. At a late hour in the afternoon eight of the cows had been corralled. Two still were at large.

The queen of the show was Madam Minerva, hefty leader of the herd with a roving eye. It was she, they say, that kept the herd milling about in the yard. Then somebody left a gate open. Minerva spied it, and head up and tail flying, she darted for the opening followed by her sisters. On reaching the streets adjacent to the railway yards the herd scattered.

While several squads of officers aided citizens in the round-up, Detective Lieutenant Underwood picked Minerva. On foot he chased her down streets, through alleys and across yards for two miles, but with no success. Then Minerva tried to climb in a window a the Albion-street school.

The detective obtained a rope and, as children yelled with glee, he tossed a loop over her horns. The other end he snubbed about a front porch post of a house near by. Minerva sprang away. Then she started to tug and, when the porch post began to give, Underwood let go of the rope. The pursuit began again. At the end of another hour it ended. Minerva, unable to shake off her pursuer, leaned against somebody's peach tree and gave up.

Underwood was taken to the Pasadena avenue Receiving Hospital and given treatment for burns of both hands caused by the rope running through them.

GALLERY GUEST LIST INCREASES

Month of May Sees 13,399 Visitors at San Marino

New Plan Means Less Delay in Getting Tickets

Special Attention Given to Visiting Groups

During May 13,399 visitors were received at the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery, San Marino, an average of 535 visitors for each of the twenty-five exhibition afternoons. An increasing number of visitors who return to see more of the exhibitions and many visits from groups interested in art, literature, history and gardens are reported.

Because of a better understanding and co-operation on the part of the public, admission to exhibitions is now arranged easily and plans under way will reduce delay even more. As long as the interest of the public greatly exceeds the capacity of the exhibitions, formalities will be necessary and it is evident that public interest is increasing, rather than subsiding.

GROUP VISITS ARRANGED

Visits for approximately ninety groups were arranged in the exhibition office. In the case of groups special care is taken to insure the success of the visit and in co-operation with officials of the group, steps are taken to insure the use of all tickets released in lots of more than five.

Twenty-nine women's clubs and study clubs from seventeen near-by cities were among the visitors. Seven Southern California universities and colleges were represented by eleven groups of students and alumni. Honor students in small groups from junior colleges, high schools and private schools of nineteen cities, including Bakersfield, San Bernardino and Santa Ana, visited the exhibitions. Five adult major associations were also among the visitors. Members of groups totaled more than 3000.

Large numbers of eastern tourists are expected in Southern California in June, many having already written for cards before leaving the East. Local patrons wishing to visit the exhibitions during June are urged to apply for cards promptly. Cards for week days in June are now available. All Sunday tickets have been assigned. Applicants are reminded that a self-addressed, stamped envelope should be inclosed with request.

TICKETS LIMITED

Exhibition hours are from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. The present schedule is Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, and the first and third Sundays of each month. The exhibitions will be closed during the month of September.

Not more than five tickets for a week day or four tickets for a Sunday will be issued to one applicant. At present the number of admissions is limited to approximately 300 each day. Children under 16 years of age are not admitted to the buildings.

Routes to the Huntington Library: Pacific Electric Railway, Sierra Madre cars to Huntington Library stop; north on San Marino avenue to Stratford Road. Enter through the main gates. Motoring from Los Angeles proceed along Huntington Drive to the San Marino station of the Pacific Electric Railway, then north on San Marino avenue to Stratford Road. Motoring from Pasadena, proceed east on California street to San Marino avenue, then south on San Marino avenue to Stratford Road.

The Rose Garden Tea Room is open from 1 o'clock on exhibition days for the accommodation of visitors.

County Takes Steps to Better Port Highways

Steps to improve the system of highways between Los Angeles and the harbor district were taken by county authorities yesterday when a contract for the paving of Normandie avenue was awarded and road district bonds for the opening and widening of Broadway to the sea were sold.

Basich Brothers' Construction Company was awarded the contract for paving Normandie from One Hundred and Eighty-second street to Weston avenue, a stretch formerly known as the old Wilmington salt works road. The successful bidder was lowest of twelve, the tender amounting to $312,000 on four and one-half miles of road. Approximately six months will be required to complete the project, according to Commissioner Jones.

Sale of the Broadway extension bonds will permit money to be deposited with the Superior Court to allow immediate possession of roadway before the completion of condemnation proceedings under the Mattoon Act.

Boss Beat Him, Salesman Says

Badly battered in appearance, Howard R. Bly of Huntington Park yesterday complained at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital that his former employer beat him up after discharging him. Bly said he was employed as a salesman by a cemetery association until yesterday, when the sales manager called him into his downtown office to be discharged.

Bly accused the manager of greeting him with a knockdown punch, following which he threw the discharged salesman from the office. Detective Lieutenants Vail and Sherrard took Bly to the hospital, where his bruised face was patched up.

FIREMEN PLAY AT NEW GAME

Man-Hole Covers Used for Tiddly-Winks After Gas Explosion

Tiddly-Winks with man-hole covers was a game actually played by members of the fire department yesterday morning on Slauson avenue as the result of an explosion in a gas main.

For considerable of the distance between Main street and Western avenue on Slauson the man-hole covers were blown off. No one was hurt and no damage was reported. It was not discovered by the fire department what caused the explosion.

Traffic was snarled for about half an hour while firemen snapped the covers back into place.

DAZED BY BLOW, SAYS JACOBSON

Councilman Takes Stand in "Frame-up" Trial

Stunned and Disrobed by Unseen Foe, He States

Jury, Unable to Sleep, Asks Night Sessions

Councilman Jacobson's motive in going to the house of Mrs. Callie Grimes on Beagle street was to discuss the spreading of heavy street assessments, and a blow, which struck him on the side of the neck, caused him to be rendered unconscious, during which time he was divested of his clothing, he testified yesterday in Superior Judge Wilson's court, where the woman and five police officers are on trial on a charge of "framing" the Councilman's arrest.

When asked by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison, prosecuting the case, if he "resorted" to the Beagle-street house, as was charged in the complaint later filed against him in Municipal Court, Jacobson replied emphatically: "I certainly did not."

"WOMAN INSISTENT"

The woman, he said, was urgent that he visit her that evening to discuss the value of her house. He drove there, entered the house, engaged in conversation and then followed her through the place. She pointed out the bedroom, he said, and as he stepped inside the blow fell. When his senses returned he was sitting on the bed, minus coat, trousers and shoes, and the room was filled with policemen carrying flashlights. An effort was made, he said, to make him confess, but instead of doing so, he maintained that he had been "framed."

Judge Wilson was required to still a squabble between attorneys while Jacobson was on the stand. Dennison and Paul Schenck, defense lawyer, had a little spat and Judge Wilson told them he would have no more "bickering and personal remarks." Both settled down and the examination proceeded without additional fireworks.

WEBSTER BROUGHT IN

Jacobson, while relating his version of the affair, indicated glee at his arrest on the part of Rodney Webster, former president of the Police Commission, to whose house he was taken the night of his arrest.

Webster clambered into the automobile with him, said Jacobson, and asked: "Well, it doesn't pay to write letters to the Police Commission and have them published, does it?" Councilman Jacobson, by introducing resolutions in the Council and making statements, had been carrying on a warfare against vice and the Police Department.

Dennison asked him if he "had had trouble" with Webster, but defense objections halted the answer. In the argument Dennison said he was justified in asking the question, as Webster, although not charged, was "a part of the conspiracy."

JACOBSON QUIZZED

The fist night session of the trial was conducted last night, when Defense Attorneys Palmer and Daze took Jacobson on extended cross-examination. This was not completed and will be continued by other defense attorneys when court resumes this morning.

Councilman Jacobson denied that he protested against going to jail and declared that he did not request to be taken to the home of Webster.

He denied several times that he had extended visits with Mrs. Grimes prior to the occasion of his arrest. He admitted that he ignored a community meeting on assessments that evening, having decided to stay at home until Mrs. Grimes telephoned to him.

He stated that while in the Grimes house and shortly before the officers came Mrs. Grimes raised the curtain over the front door. He said he told his captors that he was satisfied with their treatment of him, but explained it was because he wanted to have no trouble with them.

STATEMENT READ

Earlier in the day the statement made by Jacobson before Webster, former Dist.-Atty. Keyes and the officers the night of his arrest was read to the jury. Dennison then read the testimony of Captain of Detectives Williams, one of the defendants, offered in Municipal Court at the trial of Jacobson on a morals charge, which resulted in a disagreement.

The cross-examination of Albert F. Nathan, a Times reporter who accompanied the officers was completed during the morning. More than an hour was consumed in a legal argument, with the jury excused, in which Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and Bush gained a victory when Judge Wilson refused to permit certain portions of cross-examination and cast considerable doubt on the validity of the "resorting ordinance" under which Jacobson was charged.

When the question of holding night sessions arose, up stood Juror Robert Koonter of Pomona and stated the preference of the jury, which is under guard in a downtown hotel when not in court.

JURY CAN'T SLEEP

"We can't sleep where we are," said Mr. Koonter, "so we'd rather work nights."

The attorneys instantly suggested that it might be advisable to take the jury to the Shrine pageants, at which the nine men and three women smiled broadly.

In addition to Mrs. Grimes and Capt. Williams, the defendants are Captain of Detectives Wallis, Detective Lieutenant Lucas, Patrolman Frank Cox and Special Officer Raymond. Associated in the defense with Mr. Schenck are Paul D'Orr, Painer, Daze and Joseph Ryan.

MRS. WYMAN PLANS INTERESTING PROGRAM

Mrs. Mabelle (Chef) Wyman has planned an interesting list of recipes to demonstrate for her class this afternoon in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway, beginning at 2 o'clock, as follows: Gooseberry ember, cornflake drop cakes, five-fruit frozen salad, a new pie pastry, Swiss fried chicken, tomato croquettes. This entire list, with the exception of the new pie pastry, can be served as a complete dinner, with a few incidentals.

HALPERINS PRODUCE CLASSICS

Shakespeare Coming Into His Own on Talking Screen; Spencer Bennett Will Direct Mystery Talk Drama; Fox Collects Notable Cast for Catlett Film

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

No longer will the characters of William Shakespeare have to parade in pinch-penny fashion. The Board of Avon's works are at last to be wed to lavish production. And, of course, it is the talking pictures that are to achieve this satisfactory result.

EDWARD HALPERIN

From the Halperin Brothers, Victor and Edward, comes the important announcement that they are to pioneer in the classic field by producing via the audibility route at least four of Shakespeare's plays. These, we are delighted to say, will also be embellished with color photography.

"Romeo and Juliet," indeed, is already in production, so far as some of the opening minor "shots" are concerned. The cast is being carefully selected, and will shortly be announced.

Besides "Romeo and Juliet," the Halperins are planning to produce "The Merchant of Venice," "Macbeth" and "Merry Wives of Windsor," with others under consideration. An English art director is being imported to superintend the construction of the settings and attend to the research work.

R. William Neill, noted stage and picture director, is to direct the dialogue and supervise the color feature. Neill was formerly a stage director for David Belasco, and was also an actor of Shakespearean drama.

Paul Gerson, stage producer and student of Shakespeare, is aligned with the new enterprise also as co-director of dialogue, general coach and technician.

Victor Halperin states that he has received many encouraging letters from educators as well as from exhibitors throughout the United States, all enthusiastic over the new enterprise.

IMPORTANT PLAYERS SOUGHT

Naturally only the finest actors will be engaged for the classic roles. Walter Hampden, it is understood, will probably have the role of Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," while Juliette Compton, English actress, who recently arrived here, is to play Portia. Negotiations are being closed with a London and Broadway star to interpret the role of Lady Macbeth. Her name will shortly be announced.

"We have been preparing for the Shakespearean productions during the last eighteen months," said Halperin yesterday. "We have been waiting for what we considered to be the right time to launch them, and also for a higher perfection in sound production and color photography."

It is likely that United Artists will be the release connection of the Shakespearean talkers.

PATHE TO PRODUCE FILM IN NEW YORK

While a large representation of New York's theatrical colony is being lured west by talking pictures, this same sound drama is the reason for a trip east on the part of Spencer Bennett, Pathe director.

SPENCER BENNETT

Bennett, who has earned wide recognition for his skill in the direction of melodrama and mystery films, was sent for by eastern executives of Pathe to make "On the Stairs," a crook mystery story with a society locale, which will be made as an all-dialogue feature. A new cast of New York stage players is now being selected for the leading role.

"On the Stairs," which was written by William Hurlburt, will be filmed at the One Hundred Thirty-fourth-street studios of Pathe where Bennett functioned as a director of Pathe serials for four years, prior to coming to the west coast three and a half years ago.

Ray Cannon's Fine Cast

Now that it has been definitely decided to change the story of "Cradle Snatchers," and to call it "Why Leave Home?" Raymond Cannon, who will direct Walter Catlett, the star, is looking about for his supporting cast to appear in the Fox feature.

HELEN TWELVETREES

It is likely, we learn, that Helen Twelvetrees will be the leading lady. Miss Twelvetrees, you remember, is a leading lady of the stage, and recently arrived from New York.

Charles Eaton, youthful New York juvenile, and Raymond Keane, are to have important parts.

Mary Duncan to Stage

It is known that Fox officials favor a policy of an occasional interchange of jobs from stage to screen and vice versa for their stars. In this way, not only do they keep brushed up on both stage and screen technique, but the advertising value of such interchange is considerable.

MARY DUNCAN

To this end Mary Duncan, it is said, is shortly to return to the footlights in an important produc-

Two Gillstrom Farces Shown

Arvid E. Gillstrom can boast the distinction of having directed comedies which are now being featured simultaneously in two leading Los Angeles theaters, Paramount and the United Artists. "Meet the Missus," domestic farce starring James and Lucile Webster Gleason, is now running with "Alibi" at the United Artists, and "The Framing of the Shrew," a ludicrous Octavus Roy Cohen colored comedy, is at the Paramount.

Gillstrom directed both these talking comedies under the Christie banner, and each one has scored a hit, although widely different. A few weeks ago, Gillstrom's first Christie talkie, "The Melancholy Dame," brought attention to this director with its success.

Two more of his comedy efforts are soon to be released. These are the last in the series of colored comedies, "Off in the Silly Night" and "Hot Lemonade," in which the inimitable Louise Fazenda is starred.

COMEDY RUNS RACY ROUTE

Plot Idea Very Ultra in "Bachelor Father"

Competent Cast Appears in Belasco Attraction

June Walker and Others Share in Plaudits

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

One is from England, one is from Italy, and one is from Hogan's Alley, and they are all invited to the paternal manse by their (ahem!) "illegitimate papa." In other words "The Bachelor Father" projects the rather unique problem that might ensue were a male parent to undertake the reunion of a trio of children, born out of wedlock, and each, as it so happens, having a different mother.

If this mere statement of fact does not shock you, perhaps you will enjoy the stage piece by Edward Childs Carpenter, which opened last night at the Belasco Theater, and which, without peradventure of a doubt, received one of the best presentations that it has been the good fortune of the playgoer to see here in a span of months.

"The Bachelor Father" is not for Puritans. Indeed, it is a highly racy affair in its dialogue as well as in its fundamental situation. It is a very cleverly and lightly written play, and is calculated to delight an audience's sense of naughty innuendo. That it eventually becomes serious does not entirely alter the general perspective which is essentially humorous in implication.

The situation that is dealt with may be unequivocally messy, but there is no question about the adroitness of the technique that Mr. Carpenter has evinced in depicting it. I think that he has evidenced this more fully in the first act and the first part of the second act, but the results are on the whole rather ingenious. The arrival of the children, and their eventual departure is worked out with due regard for conviction.

In actual plot, "The Bachelor Father" is a little short of material. This is curious because it begins with a rather promising fullness. There is, for instance, a very ample first act that has various scene changes. These episodes have to do with a young secretary's questing out of the various descendants of the play's promiscuous central character. The search winds up in America. The resultant discoveries are the son and two daughters. Scenically this opening act is unusually effective, the Italian incident with its romance and music being notably attractive.

There is one noticeable drop in the whole evolvement and that is in the second act just after the first family parley. More fireworks are anticipated from the homecoming than actually result. The first portion of the play, it turns out, is a little misleading.

However, the transition to the more serious dramatic development accomplished, there is plenty to fascinate in the pathetic appeal of the final act, which witnesses the several blows to the father's vanity because of the abrupt severing of the allegiance of his various offspring.

I do not know that "The Bachelor Father" accomplishes any great artistic tour de force, nor would I reckon it entirely entertaining for aught but the more sophisticated audiences, but certainly it is an unusual psychological (or shall one say pathological?) experiment. What gives it compensating values is the fact that is unusually well played by the cast headed by Miss June Walker, C. Aubrey Smith and Geoffrey Kerr. The company is the same as was responsible for a rather successful engagement in New York the past season. It is decidedly above the grade of the great majority of those sent here from the East during the past several seasons, and there have been some remarkably good aggregations on occasion.

Miss Walker proved a source of infinite delight to her audience, because of the charm and naturalness of her impersonation of the thoroughly self-possessed American girl. She is quick almost to the point of a fault in picking up her cues, but this somewhat eccentric quality in her work gives her portrayal an amazing actuality. She has something of that fine art that conceals art in her acting that would be ideal were it not for an overemphasis on impetuosity. One cannot help but enjoy the spontaneity of her work, however.

C. Aubrey Smith is to be credited with an amazingly fine interpretation of the title character. His transition from the crusty and somewhat misanthropic old philanderer to the truly sentimental parent is splendidly accomplished. He is decidedly a dominating figure in the play as a whole.

Adriana Dori as the Italian girl with her songs and her appealing ingenuousness, and Rex O'Malley as the son were abundantly satisfying. Harriet Lorraine and Viola Roache are others important.

Hotel Presents New Orchestra

Disposal of the Chinese Theater in Hollywood to the Fox-West Coast interests will witness the retirement of Sid Grauman from the field of picture presentation, but the showman plans to keep an iron in the entertainment field through supervision of all special festivities at the Roosevelt Hotel, of which he is vice-president.

Grauman will personally direct arrangements for the western premiere of Irving Aaronson's Commanders, one of America's best-known entertaining orchestras, in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt, Monday night. Aaronson's Commanders, a feature recording band, will start at the Roosevelt direct from an engagement at the Club Richman, a stronghold of Manhattan night life.

Joseph M. Schenck, president of the Roosevelt, has signed the orchestra for a limited engagement in the Blossom Room. He also convinced Harry Richman to come West to act as master of ceremonies at the Aaronson premiere here.

Its Eastern Success Repeated

Grace Stafford
Appears to advantage in "Skidding," the Henry Duffy show at the President Theater which, comparatively new to Los Angeles, holds the current long-run record in New York.

Titling Twice Told Tale, is Writer's View

Competent title writers should have no difficulty in adapting their talents to talking pictures, since the same qualities of naturalness necessary in the printed title are requisite in spoken dialogue, according to Robert Lord, who wrote the screen version of "On With the Show," now showing at the Warner Brothers Theater in Hollywood.

Lord is now collaborating with Arthur Caesar on the screen play and dialogue of Charlotte Greenwood's first starring vehicle, "So Long, Letty," which will be produced by Warner Brothers.

Fluency, ease, humor—the outstanding qualities of ordinary conversation, have always distinguished the titles of our best writers in this medium, Lord believes. It is not logical to think that they would lose their power to write such lines merely because in the future they will be spoken out loud instead of printed, the writer insists.

"The motion-picture industry is constantly in process of change," Lord states, "and has been so since its early beginnings at the start of the industry's history. Yet the best of its early workers are still leaders in their respective fields today, which means that they have consistently adapted themselves to the continual change and improvements of the screen."

Breakaway New Dance Favorite

Fourteen Los Angeles cabarets and dance halls, and thirty-one orchestras in Southern California, are now featuring "The Breakaway," the Criterion management computes.

"The Breakaway" is the lineal descendant of the Charleston and the black bottom. Incidentally it's the dance and song which Sue Carol features in "The Fox Movietone Follies of 1929" at this Fox theater.

No better proof of the sales power exercised by talking-musical-revues could be had than the information that three of the song hits of the Fox Follies of 1929 have each passed the 750,000 sales mark. These three songs, "That's You Baby," "The Breakaway" and "Walking With Susie" have been stamped out to the total of 2,344,000 copies, a record never before reached, it is proudly declared, in such a short time by any other musical revue in American theatrical history with the exception of "The Merry Widow," "Floradora" and "The Belle of New York."

OLD FUN VEHICLE REACHES LINCOLN

The colored Lafayette Players are appearing in that old favorite of the American stage, "Are You a Mason?" as a special attraction for Shrine Week. "Are You a Mason?" opened at the Lincoln Theater last night and judging from the prolonged laughter of the assembled audience, has lost little or none of its original appeal.

Leo Dietrichstein, the author, injected a generous amount of humor into the lines of "Are You a Mason?"—the kind of humor that never grows old, regardless of repetition. Edward Thompson has the principal male role, appearing as the careless young bridegroom who is a little too fond of his bachelor days. Laura Bowman gives a competent performance as the "nosey" mother-in-law, and Evelyn Preer is excellently cast as the young wife.

The Lincoln cast includes, in addition, Lawrence Criner, Cleo Desmond, Charles Olden, Arthur Ray and Malcolm Patton.

"Are You a Mason?" will continue until Sunday night.

SCREEN LURES ANOTHER

The siren voice of the screen has lured another veteran of the American stage to the cameras of Hollywood. Robert Wayne, who won fame as Fritzi Scheff's leading man years ago, has been cast for an important role in Adolphe Menjou's first Paramount all-talking picture, "Fashions in Love," which Victor Schertzinger is directing.

STEERS IS DOCTOR

Larry Steers has joined the medical profession. He has been cast as a doctor to treat Charles Mack in scenes of the Moran & Mack Paramount starring vehicle, "Why Bring That Up?" Steers was recently seen with Richard Dix in both "Redskin" and "The Wheel of Life."

Chaney Jungle Film Next at Loew's State

Lon Chaney's latest contribution to screen character and make-up art is Tiger Haynes, a wild-animal trapper in the jungles of the Orient in "Where East Is East," which opens Thursday at Loew's State.

Chaney portrays Haynes as a battle-scared veteran of many encounters with wild beasts. The joy of his life and the light of his home in a Chinese seaport is Toyo, a halfcaste daughter portrayed by Lupe Velez. Estelle Taylor, with her eyes slanted and her features altered so that she is hardly recognizable, is the beautiful menace, a cruel, unprincipled woman. Chaney's desire to protect his daughter's happiness and his hatred of this woman who years before had been faithless to him, results in a climax of strange vengeance.

The picture was produced by Tod Browning, who wrote the story around an idea suggested to him years ago.

Actor Finishes First Film Role

Frederick Graham, prominent stage actor, has just completed his first role under a five-year contract with Fox Films. This was in the Charles Klein-Donald Gallaher production of "Pleasure Crazed," with Marguerite Churchill, Dorothy Burgess, Kenneth MacKenna and others in the cast. It will be shown shortly at a local house.

Graham, who made his professional debut at Gloucester in 1894, has been playing in New York productions since 1913. His more recent roles were in such well-remembered pieces as "New Brooms," "A Bill of Divorcement," Ziegfeld's "Louie the Fourteenth," "Mary" and "Up She Goes." The last play in which he took part was "Money from Home," at the Fulton Theater, in 1927.

"We have clever players today," says this veteran, "but they lack spontaneity and versatility. That is not entirely their fault, but the fault of the producers. They want only types—like the producer who wanted a man with a wooden leg for a particular part, and when he found him said he would do because it was the wrong leg."

Kahn Orchestra on R.K.O. Hour

Adopted by the Orpheum as a regular Tuesday night feature, the presentation of R.-K.-O. hour from the theater stage goes into its third anniversary tonight when a brilliant program is scheduled. Entertainers announced include Sam Kahn and Orchestra, Winnie Lightner, Helen Kane, Lou Forman's Palace Ensemble, Mme. Baclanova, Betty Reilly, Yates and Lawley and other stage and screen favorites.

The program, presented as a special prologue, conflicts in no way with the regular show which includes Charles King, Venita Gould, Sylvia Clark, Frank Hurst, Eddie Vogt, Billy Wells, Four Fays and other Radio-Keith-Orpheum attractions.

"GYPSY" LEAD IN TOWN

Mary Young, who recently finished her season in the leading role of Marc Klaw's production of "Gypsy" in New York, has arrived in Hollywood. She planned to remain two months, but has already received several offers from motion-picture producers and may stay longer. An enthusiast for talking pictures, Miss Young believes the time is near when Shakespeare's plays and other classics of the stage will be done on the screen.

HARDY OCCUPIED

What with managing the Masquers' Revels and all the business attendant on it and various personal appearances, Sam Hardy finds time at a premium. He is busy in "For Two Cents," a thrilling picture which Pathe is making. He plays a leading role in "On With the Show" and will shortly be seen in "The Rainbow Man."

BANCROFT TO GREET SHRINERS

Paramount Star Will be on Stage Tonight; Dowling Show Due Thursday

George Bancroft, Paramount picture star, will make a personal appearance at the Paramount Theater tonight as a special feature of Shrine week. Bancroft, himself a Shriner, will greet the visiting Nobles from the stage at 9 o'clock.

Meanwhile, announcement is made that Eddie Dowling, one of New York's favorite songsters and musical comedy stars, makes his talking-picture debut at the Paramount Thursday in "The Rainbow Man."

"The Rainbow Man," which is being released by Paramount, was made independently by George A. Weeks and O. E. Goebel, with Fred Newmeyer, former Harold Lloyd director, directing. Paramount picture officials, upon seeing the completed work, were so enthusiastic about the picture that they bought it for release as one of their "specials" of the year.

Marion Nixon is the leading woman, while Frankie Darro has the most important juvenile role.

The story concerns a minstrel troupe, with "Rainbow Ryan," portrayed by Eddie Dowling, as the chief minstrel. Sam Hardy is seen as the owner of the show and the Rounders' Quintet have important supporting roles as well as singing "The Rainbow Man" and other theme hits. Dowling himself sings "Sleepy Valley" and "Little Pal," predicted as forthcoming musical hits.

"The Studio Murder Mystery" will continue until Wednesday night.

High Hopes for Star's Speech Held by Many

Will Janet Gaynor duplicate her achievement of last year, when she won the gold medal of the Motion Picture Academy for the best screen portrayal to date?

Critics and studio officials who have seen "Four Devils" and heard this charming young star in a talking role for the first time are unanimous in their praise of the Gaynor voice and freely predict that the talkies have brought her new charms, and that she is bound to become even more popular.

"Four Devils" is F. W. Murnau's Movietone production, which was more than a year in the making and is said to be one of the finest artistic achievements of the German director's career. Charles Morton, Mary Duncan, Barry Norton, Nancy Drexel and Farrell Macdonald are featured players and thousands of people appear in its many scenes.

This picture is scheduled to have its western premiere at the Fox Carthay Circle Theater the 10th inst., and will draw practically every star, player, author, producer and director of Hollywood to the doors of the Circle, it is said. Hundreds of visiting Shriners will remain over after the convention for the express purpose of being on hand at the premiere.

"The Black Watch," Fox's all-talking Movietone special starring Victor McLaglen and Myrna Loy, will end its run Sunday evening.

Otis Harlan to Introduce Star of 'Show Boat'

Laura La Plante, lovely blond costar of "Show Boat" with Joseph Schildkraut, will make a personal appearance at the Biltmore Theater, where the screen version of Edna Ferber's romance of the Mississippi River is the current attraction, this evening.

Miss La Plante will be introduced from the stage by Otis Harlan, who has one of the important supporting roles in the cast of "Show Boat" as Capt. Andy Hawks, father of the heroine, Magnolia. Harlan is making personal appearances every evening this week at the Biltmore, as well as acting in the capacity of master of ceremonies, introducing the various Universal stars who are scheduled to be presented to nightly audiences there throughout the week.

Among others who are to be introduced at "Show Boat" performances through the courtesy of Carl Laemmle are Glenn Tryon, Merna Kennedy, Robert Ellis and Thomas Jackson, all appearing in important roles of "Broadway," the attraction which follows the film version of the Ferber story at the Biltmore on the 17th inst.

Margaret Head in Contest Win

Margaret Alice Head, piano pupil of Dr. Alexis Kall, won the Hardman grand piano in a final contest conducted by the Fitzgerald Music Company in which five pianists played at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night. Chopin and Griffes were the composers played and in the opinion of the majority of seven judges, Miss Head achieved first place.

This contest is an annual one arranged by this pioneer music firm of Los Angeles, of which John Tabor Fitzgerald is the president. As briefly stated by Mr. Fitzgerald, in a few words at the end of the program the contest is given to encourage students and aid their teachers by putting this tangible and inspiring goal before them.

The audience was very attentive while listening to five pianists each play the same two numbers. Mr. Walter David had charge of the arrangements.

MENDEZ DIALOGUE DIRECTOR

Lothar Mendez, who has just completed the direction of Clara Bow in "Dangerous Curves," has been assigned to the direction of "Illusion," Paramount's all-talking filmization of Arthur Train's novel. Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll have the chief romantic roles.

GLENDALE MAN IS MISSING

Officials of Three Nations Aid in Search

Last Seen in New Orleans With Large Sum of Money

Relatives Fear Foul Play in Mexico

GLENDALE, June 3.—Police and diplomatic officials of three nations, the United States, Mexico and Guatemala, are searching for Julian Musset, 50 years of age, who has been missing since he disappeared from New Orleans on April 15, last, to go to Mexico with $2500 in cash on his person.

Musset, who is a French citizen, lives at 327 Verdugo Road, Glendale, with his wife, Mrs. Pauline Musset, and one son. He left home early in April to go to Guatemala on a fruit-buying expedition, as he had done frequently before. He was last reported in New Orleans on April 15, when he secured the aid of R. K. Benson, cashier of the United Fruit Company's office, in cashing a personal check for $2500, receiving the money in large bills.

He stated to Benson that he planned to go through Mexico by rail, but since leaving New Orleans he has dropped out of sight.

When word of him failed to reach his home in Glendale Mrs. Musset enlisted the aid of the police here, and Chief J. D. Fraser secured the assistance of the French and Mexican consuls in Los Angeles in his efforts to trace the missing man, who, it is feared, may have met with foul play when it became known that he was carrying a large sum of money. The Mexican authorities are endeavoring to trace his course through that country, and the French Consul in Los Angeles has directed his efforts to the Guatemala officials and also to the Federal authorities in Mexico City.

Efforts of the New Orleans police to find Musset in any of the hospitals in that city have been fruitless, and railroad offices also have been unable to furnish any clew to the man.

Pomona Man Hurt in Fall

GLENDALE, June 3.—Floyd Finnell, whose address is given as the Cecil Hotel, Los Angeles, is in the Glendale Research Hospital with a fractured pelvis, a broken hip and possible internal injuries, as well as severe lacerations about the head, as the result of having fallen or leaped from the fourth floor of an apartment-house at 140 North Jackson street late yesterday.

Finnell had arrived with a party of friends to visit M. Mann and H. L. Langdon, occupants of an apartment, and while a meal was being prepared he complained of feeling ill and went to the bathroom. When he failed to appear his friends sought him and found the bathroom window open, and further search revealed Finnell on the ground beneath the window.

Sergt. Wickham and Patrolmen Merriam and Martin investigated the case and ordered Finnell to be removed to the hospital. His father, M. E. Finnell, who lives at 925 West Fourth street, Pomona, has been notified by the police of the accident to his son.

FOUR REDLANDS MEN APPLY FOR TRAINING

REDLANDS, June 3.—Redlands has four young men who have made application for admittance to the two military training camps at Del Monte and Fort MacArthur. They are Robert Dow, Christopher D. Barnes, Bennett Cave and Alan Taltavall.

There are forty-one young men in the county who have applied. The county is entitled to sixty-five at Del Monte and nineteen at Fort MacArthur.

The minimum age is 17 years, 7 years. If the applicant will reach 18 the applicant will reach the opening of the camp and December 31, and is of exceptional physical and mental development his application for entrance to the camp may be accepted as an alternative. After such designation if the applicant completes his typhoid and smallpox immunization he may be selected for the camp provided a sufficient number of principals are not already enrolled.

During the course of several weeks at Del Monte the citizen soldiers will be put through regulation army drills and maneuvers and will receive instructions in the use and care of weapons.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKED LOUD

Santa Barbara Men Cash in on Oil Excitement at Mesa

SANTA BARBARA, June 3. It remained for a local newspaper man and automobile dealer to put over the biggest deal in the new Mesa oil field, it was revealed here today. Some time ago Marshall Selover, newspaper man, bought a lot for $850 and E. M. Fillmore traded a used car for one. Today they sold out, each receiving $25,000 cash. The lots join each other and are not far from the Olympic Company's producer. Mrs. Elizabeth Adams was the purchaser.

LONG RECORD OF FAITHFUL SERVICE

Ike Fields

SANTA ANA, June 3.—With a tear in each eye and a quiver to his chin, Ike Fields, veteran fireman with forty years' experience in Santa Ana, retired last night—while he is retiring from active work with the "smoke eaters," physically he will still be with the department in spirit.

Overwhelmed at the honor paid him last night by fellow-firemen and city officials, Ike Fields sat with head bowed at the head of the table, in the place of the guest of honor, and blinked back the tears as he looked at a solid gold badge set with twenty blood-red rubies, which made him the first life member of the Santa Ana fire department.

"I expect I'll spend all my spare time right around this fire station," Ike choked, "and if ever you fellows need me, I don't care what time it is, just call and you'll find me always ready to go."

Ike was disappointed in his last week of service on the department here. He didn't get to make his one "last run." Ike's last trip as driver was made more than a week and a half ago to a small fire in the western part of the city.

"I sure would have liked to had just one last run," he said.

High tribute to the work and service of Ike Fields was paid by J. L. McBride, City Councilman and former commander of Company L of the National Guard here. Mr. Bride presented Ike with the gold badge which bore the big numeral 40, set with twenty rubies.

"Ike was my sergeant in Company L and when I wanted something done I called on Sergt. Fields," McBride stated.

He recalled the days when Ike was a transfer man in Santa Ana many years ago, how Ike drove his team of white horses down East Fourth street on the run and how Ike used to race the other transfer men of the town to fires. The first driver to reach a fire in those days received $2.50 from the city while the second received a lesser amount. Ike was nearly always first to the fire.

Believes Good Licking Helps

VAN NUYS, June 3. — Dean Justin Miller of the University of Southern California law school, and a member of the California Crime Commission, holds that the exercise of love is best in raising the modern child. "However," he added in his talk here before the local Kiwanis Club, "use of the rod is not to be disregarded in cases when most needed. I never knew a good licking to hurt a kid, especially when that kid fairly invited a good licking.

"The modern idea is to let a child grow up in a helter-skelter way, with no sense of disciplinary authority above him. So far as I can see the thing hasn't worked out. A head-strong boy and girl are like a mule. It takes more than love and coaxing words to operate a mule."

Rotarians and Kiwanians will meet jointly in their next regular luncheon. Senator Frank Merriam of Long Beach, will be the principal speaker.

CITY OF UPLAND HAS AIR SIGN

UPLAND, June 3.—Upland went on the air today in letters one city block long and forty feet high. Members of Upland post of the American Legion completed the job of painting the word "Upland" on the roof of the Upland Citrus Association packing-house which extends from Fourth to Fifth streets. The letters, forty feet high, are painted on a background of aluminum, making the name visible to aviators at a great height.

Shell Oil Company provided the Legion men with the paint for the job.

PLANE IN WILD PLUNGE

Naval Aircraft Falls 10,000 Feet; Pilot Killed, Mechanic Slightly Injured

SAN DIEGO, June 3.—One man was killed and a second reported to be slightly injured as a result of a 10,000-foot dive made near Nestor today by a North Island naval airplane which plunged to earth as it was being swung into position for a "power dive," according to information at the air station.

Ensign Henry P. Gow, pilot, was killed. His mechanic, H. O. Neumann, seaman second class, escaped with slight injuries, by making use of his parachute.

According to report by eyewitnesses, the plane plunged earthward at a terrific rate, striking the ground with sufficient force to bury its engine nearly three feet.

A broken wing is declared to have caused the mishap and pieces of the wing are reported to have been found scattered over a radius approximating nearly half a mile from where the plane landed.

A successful parachute landing was made by the mechanic, despite the fact that the parachute was reported to have become torn during the descent. Neumann is said to have been thrown clear of the plane at the time the wing broke. Gow was thrown forward in the cockpit and believed to have been killed instantly, as the plane started down word here states.

The plan was an observation plane of the OT-U type and was attached to scouting squadron VS-2-B, report at North Island states. The plane landed in American territory about a mile from Nestor, the report states.

ORGANIZE TO FIGHT BOND ISSUE

Newport Beach Residents to Combat Proposed Flood Control of Orange County

NEWPORT BEACH, June 3.—Formation of an organization to combat the Orange county flood-control program was announced here today following an investigation of the flood-control bond issue by leading citizens of the Orange county coast section. The investigation, it is said, revealed that between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 of the $16,500,000 flood-control bond issue which will soon be placed before the voters of Orange county is for political purposes. Lew H. Wallace, well-known Newport Beach banker, is one of the leaders in the movement opposing the bonds.

James Irvine, owner of the large Irvine ranch and a staunch backer of flood-control measures, is also reported to be one of the enemies of the present issue.

"Paul Bailey Orange county flood-control engineer, has admitted that over ten years approximately 25,000 acre feet of water will be conserved which at the prevailing price of $6 per acre foot will amount to less than $150,000 or less than 1 per cent of the proposed $16,500,000 bond issue," Wallace said. "In the last twenty-two years there have been three outstanding floods and most of the damage has been done by Santiago Creek, where a much smaller and less expensive dam is contemplated."

Boy Burned in Fire at Parents' Home

ONTARIO, June 3. — An unguarded bonfire caused destruction of a large garage and chicken coop at the H. W. Bermilyea home in East Fourth street today and severe burns about the hands to the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Bermilyea when he grabbed a red-hot bicycle fished out of the blaze.

While the fire was at its height the boy implored firemen to save his new bicycle inside the garage. With a long rod the firemen drove it from the garage, and in his joy at having his bike, the boy grabbed it to have a ride.

The great heat seared his hands and necessitated first-aid care.

A valuable Persian cat and five kittens were casualties.

NEW OIL FIELDS REDUCE TAXES

SANTA BARBARA, June 3.—A plan whereby the Santa Barbara High School tax rate may be cut by one-fifth and the tax rate of the Goleta Union School District decreased by more than one-half, has been revealed to school officials here with the signing of the bill by Gov. Young, making it possible to annex elementary school districts not in any high school district to the most accessible district.

In Santa Barbara there are two such districts, Tecolote and Den, with an assessed valuation, since the discovery of oil at Elwood of nearly $4,000,000, a sum equal to that of the assessed valuation of the entire Goleta union district. These two districts may be annexed to the Santa Barbara High School district upon the recommendation of County Superintendent of Schools A. E. Pope, under the interpretation of the new law.

Under the old laws two districts have only been contributing to the support of the Santa Barbara School District, according to the number of students sent there and to the Goleta Union only by tuition fees.

PARK TO BE NAMED FOR H. J. WHITLEY

RESEDA, June 3. — It being virtually assured now that Reseda residents by bond issue, will purchase the large site for the new proposed park between here and the Tarzana community, a suitable name for the park is being discussed. Leading citizens agree the park should be named after H. J. Whitley, now living on his large estate at Paso Robles, but who at one time was one of the early developers of this section and other parts of San Fernando Valley.

'Hobbs' Adams Takes Job at San Diego High

MONROVIA, June 3.—Harold (Hobbs) Adams, coach of football and baseball teams and assistant director of physical education at the Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte High School for the last three years, has relinquished his position here for a similar one at the San Diego High School, it was announced today by Supt. A. R. Clifton.

Adams presented his resignation to the high-school board last week after accepting his new position in the southern city. His resignation will take effect at the close of the present school year.

During his three years at Monrovia High School, Adams has brought the first baseball championship to the local institution when the Wildcats this year won the San Gabriel Valley title. His football team last fall won the valley championship, but due to an ineligible man on the Puente team, when the latter defeated El Monte, the Cats and Lions were given a tie for first place.

San Diego's bid for Adams marks an advancement for him as he will be varsity football coach and head of the athletic department.

Supt. Clifton in commenting on the resignation, stated today that "Adams is a young fellow and well qualified as a coach and I can't blame him for seeking advancement."

Adams in the contents of his resignation, stressed his appreciation of the co-operation between board members and other school officials during his three years here.

The resignation of Adams was an unexpected blow to school officials, who at the present time have no idea who his successor will be.

Pasadena Wins Police Shoot

PASADENA, June 3.—By nosing out the Los Angeles team by 16 points, the local police revolver team won the State police marksmanship championship at San Luis Obispo yesterday.

C. M. Corbin and G. M. Upshaw of this city, won the individual honors. Corbin captured the joint revolver and rifle title, while Upshaw won the rifle championship. Both Upshaw and Corbin have won national honors in past years at Camp Perry, Ohio.

The Los Angeles police gave the local marksmen a stiff battle for premier honors, the final scores being: Pasadena, 985, and Los Angeles, 969.

The other members of the championship team were: Alvin Norton, member of the local vice squad; Dean Taylor, patrolman; J. J. Shelton, desk sergeant, and H. B. Cheek, detective sergeant.

CITY OFFERS TO BUY RIGHT OF WAY

TORRANCE, June 3.—The City Council has authorized a cash offer of $20,000 to the Pacific Railway Company for the purchase of its right of way along Cabrillo avenue here and the installation of special tracks and pavings, as a means of disposing of the parking and paving problem, which has been a source of dissatisfaction to citizens and the railway company for a number of years.

The problem of paving the right of way and of regulating parking along the street in such a way that street car traffic is not interfered with would then be solved. The railway company recently made a move to install a curbing along its tracks to prevent the parking of cars on its right of way. The plan will give a much wider public roadway than under present regulations if it can be carried out.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GROW

SAN DIEGO, June 3.—San Diego's postal receipts for the first five months of 1929, totaling $325,629.41, exceed by $9,102.56, the postal receipts total for the corresponding period during 1928, which was $316,526.85, according to announcement today by Postmaster E. W. Dort. Postal receipts for May, 1929, totaling $60,588.57, were larger than those for May of last year, which were $58,003.95.

UPLAND GIRLS KIDNAPED

Pair Held Prisoners in Pomona House Since Saturday; Aged Father Suffers Heart Attack

UPLAND, June 3.—Two 17-year-old Upland girls were in state of collapse today, and the father of one of the girls was in a critical condition from a heart attack, caused by the kidnaping and cruelty inflicted on the girls by two Pomona men who are asserted to have kept the girls prisoners in a house since Saturday.

About 10 o'clock this morning the two young men drove the girls to the home of one of the victims, ordered them out, and started to drive away. One of the girls' father attempted to detain the asserted kidnapers, but was driven away by a large knife in the hands of one of the men.

In the excitement the aged man fell to the ground suffering a heart attack.

The men fled in their machine.

Upland police working on the case would not divulge the names of the girls. They reported they had traced the men to a room in Pomona but arrived shortly after they had left with all their possessions in a light truck.

The girls were in such state they could not give a coherent account of their abduction, but declared they were kidnaped by Pomona men.

Busch Gardens Open Wednesday

PASADENA, June 3.—What may be a last opportunity to view the famous Busch Gardens, which were closed to the public by order of the heirs of the late Mrs. Lily Busch, will be offered Wednesday afternoon when the gardens will provide the setting for a party to be staged by the Women's Auxiliary of the Pasadena Hospital for the benefit of the children's ward. Led by the venerable chief, Standing Bear, twenty Indians in native attire will lend a colorful background. Chief Yolachee, Indian tenor, will sing and a colony of Hopi warriors will present dances.

Fencing contests will be staged under the direction of T. W. Hersey for those who do not play bridge.

Mrs. Helen Girvins is program chairman and supper reservations may be made through Mrs. Carl C. Thomas or Mrs. Datus Smith.

On the Arcadia committee are Dr. Carl F. Bass and W. L. Hoffeditz, and the Monrovia committee is comprised of Sherman J. McQueen, John B. McBratney and Harry L. Kellogg.

VETERAN TEACHER FETED

Former Pupils of Tustin School Hold Eighth Annual Picnic and Reunion

SANTA ANA, June 3.—Zeke's Bunch went to school again yesterday. The ties of affection and respect for the beloved schoolmaster, spanning both time and distance, drew the old-time Tustin pupils of Prof. J. J. Zielian from the four corners of the country to the seventh annual picnic of this unique organization at Irvine Park.

Although it has been twenty years since he presided over their classes, "Zeke" is still the ideal and idol of his widely scattered flock, many of whom have risen to places of prominence in the business, professional and political world of Southern California.

So strong was his hold upon the hearts of the boys and girls who "went to Zeke" that a dozen years after he quit the old school they formed the organization designed to perpetuate the treasured associations. No other such organization is known to exist.

The first meeting was in the form of a banquet at which 110 of the "old gang" assembled in the well-remembered schoolroom, eight years ago. The spectacle of gray-haired men jerking the dangling bell rope, that had been so powerful a boyhood temptation, rather scandalized the neighbors, who could not understand why these elderly chaps insisted on clanging the bell so childishly at outlandish hours of the night.

This banquet initiated a series of picnics which have been held annually at Irvine Park. Today's was the seventh. The events draw old schoolmates from as far north as San Francisco, and a member of the bunch came from Kansas one year.

Two Orange county officials, Auditor W. C. Jerome and Tax Collector J. C. Lamb, belong to the "bunch," which includes, among others, Judge Charles D. Ballard of Los Angeles Municipal Court; U. S. Fitzpatrick, Los Angeles attorney; Dr. George R. Walker and Dr. R. Clifton Baker, Los Angeles dentists, and Dr. Ben Press, Los Angeles physician.

Prof. Zielian taught the "bunch" from 1899 to 1909. For five years after that he taught in Santa Ana schools. Then he retired. He now resides at 916 North Sycamore street, Santa Ana, devoting his time to his family, his associates of the Sunset Club and the care of his two-acre orange grove at Tustin.

As a schoolmaster Prof. Zielian is a product of the "mother lode" country. To his pupils' minds, evidently, he owns a heart of the same golden aspect of his early surroundings; to them his character seems to reflect the stanch ruggedness of the Tuolumne Hills.

He began teaching in 1880 at the little red schoolhouse on Table Mountain, made famous by Bret Harte and Mark Twain. Today he still recalls waiting in the small schoolroom, perched on one of the benches that marked the rise of the mountain, to receive the little flock of mountain children.

"That mountain was a mile wide on top, and the little tads used to come across that top," said Prof. Zielian. "I could hear them long before I could see them, and then, finally, I could see them standing up there against the skyline, looking down on the school. But they couldn't see it because the shadows were so dark down below. Then, pretty soon, here they would come tramping in."

In 1883 Prof. Zielian left Table Mountain and entered San Jose State Normal School. After graduating from that institution he came to Tustin to teach.

HARBOR DISTRICT FAVORED

Ventura Chamber Will Ask City to Organize Under Enabling Act

VENTURA, June 3.—Plans looking to the creation of an independent Ventura harbor district were adopted by directors of the Chamber of Commerce, meeting this noon. A resolution calling upon the City Council to create a Harbor Commission at once and then take steps toward the formation of a Ventura harbor district under a general State Enabling Act, was adopted unanimously by the board.

The resolution was laid before the City Council tonight. It was reported to the chamber meeting by Roy Pinkerton, chairman of the harbor committee, that a conference was held last week between the committee and three members of the Council at which sentiment was unanimous for the program as outlined.

Chairman Pinkerton reported his committee had come to the conclusion, after two years' study, that the special act under which the county commission is organized is unworkable and that a complete stalemate exists. In the interests of constructive action toward obtaining harbor development, he said, the committee is unanimous in the belief the proposed formation of a local district is desirable.

Germans Swear Allegiance to American Flag

VENTURA, June 3.—Against a background formed by the immense American flag in the Superior Court, and flanked by the color standard of the Ventura county post of the American Legion, eleven successful candidates for citizenship swore allegiance to the Stars and Stripes and the President of the United States today, after having passed the naturalization tests before Judge Edward Henderson and a Federal naturalization man. Two of the men were former soldiers in the German army.

Fritz Huntzinger, one of the two former soldiers, told the court that he had been twice decorated with German honors during the World War. He received the Iron Cross when, with seven other German soldiers, he stood off the British army in the stone quarry at Baupame, one of the unique battles of the war.

He began serving at the age of 16 and spent the last two years of the war in a British prison camp. He served as a machine gunner.

PRESIDENT TALKS TO SENIOR CLASS

CLAREMONT, June 3.—Senior ivy chapel was held at Pomona College this morning at 11:20 o'clock, when President Charles K. Edmunds addressed the class of 1929 in Bridges Hall of Music, emphasizing the fact that the "rights and privileges" to which the members of the senior class are soon to become heir in receiving their diplomas on the 17th inst. are but the stuff that duties are made of. The first right of every individual, said President Edmunds, is the right of self-development; inseparable from which is the duty of promoting the self-development of others.

In accordance with the annual tradition of Pomona College, the planting of the ivy by the senior class followed the service in Bridges Hall. George Ennis, president of the graduating class, performed the ceremony of planting, after which he officially handed the spade to Garland Farrell, president-elect of the class of 1930. The spade, which is the official property of each year's graduating class, is the one first used by President Roosevelt in planting the live oak tree in front of Pearsons Hall in 1903.

GUARDS RESCUE INFANT

REDONDO BEACH, June 3.—The 18-month-old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones of Riverside was brought ashore by life guards here yesterday afternoon after the baby had been washed into the heavy surf while toddling after the waves in search of pebbles. It was unharmed.

HOLD-UP MAN ARRESTED

Youth Confesses to Pasadena Police That He Wanted Money to Send Girl Friend Home

PASADENA, June 3.—"I was tired of my girl and wanted money to send her home to her folks" was the explanation given by James Stewart, who was jailed after confessing that he planned to hold up the Piggly-Wiggly chain grocery store at Washington street and Fair Oaks avenue this noon.

Stewart, who is 18 years of age, walked into the store and purchased a cake of soap while the establishment was crowded with other customers. When he lingered about the door and returned every few minutes to peer in the windows, the employees became suspicious and telephoned police headquarters.

Detective Lieutenant Cecil Burlingame and Detective Sergeant Harry Cheek overpowered the suspect as he was attempting to draw an automatic pistol from his hip pocket. After being handcuffed, the prisoner, according to the detectives, admitted that he was planning to rob the store, but decided to wait until the customers left.

He directed his captors to a local rooming-house, where Mildred Burdett, a 19-year-old girl, with whom he said he had been living, was taken into custody and held for investigation.

"Mildred and I couldn't seem to get along any more and when she told me she was homesick and wanted to see her folks in Phoenix, Or., I decided to stick up the store to get enough money to pay her fare home," sobbed the youth.

Two bullet holes in the prisoner's cap lead the local authorities to believe he may have been implicated in a recent Los Angeles shooting affray.

The police assert that the pair came here recently from Palm Springs and that Stewart's home is in Oakland. On the theory that he may be able to clear up five chain-store robberies that have been committed in this vicinity in the last three months, the suspect's fingerprints have been sent to the State Bureau of Identification.

CHICAGO'S POTTERS' FIELD

Chicago's potter's field now is the last resting place for 16,838 bodies of men, women and children whose surviving relatives were too poor or too indifferent to give them decent burial. All have been buried there since December, 1910, when the present field was established. A burial costs the city about $12. The coffins are pine boxes, all alike, except for the numbers stenciled on the covers for purposes of record. Brief religious rites are said over each grave. Many unidentified bodies are received for burial. Suicides in many cases take every precaution to hide their identities. Every label or laundry mark is ripped from their clothing and all papers destroyed. They belong to that half of the world the other half knows nothing about.

The Foods We Eat

NONSUIT ASKED BY GOLD MINERS

Flood Control District Ends Case Presentation

Canyon Claimants Attack Court's Jurisdiction

Contend Government Should be Defendant

Several surviving gold prospectors who panned the yellow dust from the sands of the San Gabriel River forty years ago are expected to testify at the condemnation proceedings brought by the Los Angeles County Flood Control District against William S. Bassett and others in connection with the building of the San Gabriel dam. The case is now on before Superior Judge Stephens.

The witnesses will be taken into court by the defense to prove that gold exists in the San Gabriel River basin and that during the last forty years more than $3,000,000 of the precious metal has been taken out of the area.

The suit, which is in the form of a condemnation action, although the government owns the land, was brought by the flood control district against Bassett and a score of others, who hold mining claims in the area where the proposed dam is to be built. The main defendant, however, is the San Gabriel Canyon Development Company, to which the owners of the claims have assigned their rights and are now stockholders of the company.

APPRAISAL ASKED

The hearing of the suit began yesterday. According to the flood control district the land was turned over to the county for a dam site, subject to certain claims of persons who staked them out when the area was being panned for gold.

Attorney Roy Dowda, representing the County Counsel's office, assisted by Attorney Vincent Morgan of the law firm of Hill, Morgan & Bledsoe

Have You Ever Asked This Question:

"Where Can I Find a Really SAFE 6% Investment?"

MANY people who are new to California, and even some who have been here a long time, have asked that question.

Perhaps you have said: "I have some money that I want to invest where it will be safe under any and all conditions, and where it will give me an interest return of 6%. Where can I find such an investment?"

The answer to that question was formulated sixteen years ago when the founders of the Mortgage Guarantee Company sponsored the Mortgage Insurance Act of California. This marked an important step in the development of a form of investment not only inherently and indisputably sound in itself, but also insured under State supervision against any loss of principal or interest.

In due course, this investment in the form of Insured First Mortgage Certificates became available to investors, and year by year has been in increasing demand among banks, insurance companies, trust estates and discriminating individual investors, not only in California but throughout the United States.

How, then, do these Certificates differ from other forms of investment yielding similar rates of interest?

For the benefit of newcomers we will repeat that these Certificates are originated and distributed by the Mortgage Guarantee Company (of Los Angeles) which is one of the largest and strongest institutions of its kind in the United States, with resources in excess of $80,000,000.00. This Company operates under the stringent Mortgage Insurance Act of California, under the jurisdiction of the State Insurance Department, and employs its funds exclusively in first-lien loans on carefully selected real estate.

Its appraisers are experts in their line of work and are approved by the State. Their valuations are determined only after taking into consideration every factor—past, present and future—which may have any bearing on the marketability of the properties to be pledged. Their conclusions are uniformly conservative and represent indisputably sound values.

Upon the values thus established the company loans its money, taking first-liens as security, but never in excess of 50% of the appraised valuation, which, incidentally, is its legal limit under the California Mortgage Insurance Act.

These first-liens, accompanied by policies of Mortgage Insurance guaranteeing the payment of both principal and interest, are deposited with a trustee, and a like amount of Insured First Mortgage Certificates are issued. These Certificates, therefore, are protected by select, improved real estate, the sound value of which is at least twice the total amount of outstanding Certificates.

Moreover, this real estate is diversified as to character (including private residences, flats, courts, apartments, stores, etc.) and also as to location (the range extending from San Diego to Sacramento), so that the investor is protected not only by the soundest form of underlying security known, but also by one of the strongest guarantees of both principal and interest ever made.

Another advantage is that Certificates are available in denominations of $100 and multiples thereof, so that the investor may keep his money closely invested and thereby avoid interest losses.

They are issued in maturities of two to five years, and interest at the rate of 6% is payable either quarterly or semi-annually, and on any months of the year desired.

Still another interesting feature is the privilege of arranging to have funds immediately re-invested at maturity date, at the prevailing rate, without any loss of interest.

Arrangement may also be made at time of purchase, that in the event of the death of the holder, a portion of the Certificates may be converted into cash by the estate at full face value plus accrued interest, to cover administrative expenses. This provision stands as a safeguard against the sacrifice of securities at forced sale in an unfavorable market.

The Certificates are registered and non-negotiable, and therefore subject to replacement if lost. Interest is paid by check on designated dates, thus obviating the necessity for clipping coupons, and avoiding possible interest losses through failure to cash the coupons when due.

From every standpoint, therefore, including safety, interest return, convenience, and absolute freedom from all care and responsibility, these Insured First Mortgage Certificates are designed to meet the most exacting requirements of all institutions and individuals to whom protection of principal and certainty of income are matters of vital importance.

No matter where you may be located, full information will be gladly sent by mail to your home or business address. Simply telephone TRinity 0831 or use the coupon.

INDEPENDENTS INDORSE PLAN

Grape Growers Get Support from Large Group

Conn Explains Raisin Purchase Idea

Full Cash Payment Five Days After Delivery

FRESNO June 3.—Independent raisin growers representing approximately 30,000 tons of annual production and who heretofore have withheld support of the proposed raisin and fresh grape stabilization plan today unanimously indorsed the move which is now under way under the auspices of the California Vineyardists' Association.

With approximately forty growers present, and all but six voting, indorsement of the plan was followed by appointment of four men, from whom three will be selected to serve on the board of directors of the Federal Grape Stabilization Corporation. They are John M. Euless, Henry Dermer, K. Arakelian and P. H. McCarry. The group, in which were some of the largest growers of raisins in the State, met here today with Donald D. Conn, managing director of the C.V.A., by whom the proposed raisin-purchase plan was explained in detail.

Conn advised the group that as soon as the Federal farm-relief bill is passed and signed by President Hoover the section of the raisin-purchase contract which limits its operations to the 1929 season, will be withdrawn and the contract will then be effective for the crops of 1930 and 1931 as well, and that growers can expect full cash payment for their fruit five days after delivery to the corporation.

Farm Bureau to Do Buying

BAKERSFIELD, June 3.—A plan to utilize the farm bureau as a buying agency for its members in this county, with the end in view of making purchases for farmers at a saving, with particular reference to agricultural machinery fertilizers and general farm equipment and supplies, will be discussed in detail at the next session of the board of directors in the intervening time. The proposal that the farm bureau be utilized for this purpose, if it can be effected, was made by J. J. Siemens.

The farm bureau plans further to investigate gypsum deposits in the Lost Hills area with a view to determine whether or not the control of these deposits would be of commercial benefit to the farm bureau here for fertilizer. This proposal has been made by Edwin Booth.

LONG WHISKERED CHAMPION DIES

Pioneer of '49 Days Passes After Going Unshaved Sixty-four Years

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) June 3. (AP)—John Q. Trimmer, who participated in the California gold rush "in '49" and who at the time of President Lincoln's assassination vowed that he never would shave again, died here today. He was 95 years of age.

Trimmer, whose beard was never touched by razor after his vow, went to California in 1849 by the way of Cape Horn. He returned via the Isthmus of Panama.

MERGER OF CHURCHES GIVEN O.K.

Congregational Council Votes for Consolidating With Christian Group

DETROIT, June 3. (AP)—Final approval of the plan to merge the Congregational and Christian churches was voted unanimously here today by the national council of the Congregational churches.

Similar action by the general convention of the Christian Church when it meets next October in Piqua, O., is predicted by twenty-two officials of the Christian convention, who took places on the speakers' platform of the Congregational session immediately after the vote.

Actual merger probably will be accomplished in 1931. The combined body, it is expected, will be known as the Congregational-Christian Churches of America.

Trust funds of the two organizations will be administered separately and branches of the denominations be merged gradually. Because of complications presented by trust fund administration the new denomination will not be incorporated, each corporate organization retaining its identity for that purpose.

Hartford, Ct., tentatively was approved as the meeting-place of the 1931 session, although Seattle has presented an invitation and final decision will be left to a committee.

Federal Forces Deal 'Cristeros' Blow in Mexico

MEXICO CITY June 3 (AP)—Probably the most important battle of the Federal government's war against the "Cristeros" or so-called religious insurgents of Jalisco was reported in an official announcement today.

It is said Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, commanding the Federal army in that area, has enveloped the army of Gen. Enrique Gorostieta at San Julian, Jalisco, killing and capturing many. Nine flying columns conducted a simultaneous attack and the insurgents were dispersed.

Gen. Gorostieta was a former staff officer for Victoriano Huerta when he was President of Mexico.

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee agreed today to favorably report the Smoot resolution to authorize postponement of payment by France of the $400,000,000 war supplies debt from August 1, 1929 to May 1, 1930, provided the French Parliament ratifies the Mellon-Berenger debt agree ment while the American Congress is in recess.

A plan for funding the war supplies obligation is embodied in the war debt settlement agreement.

Uncontrolled Blaze Near Riverside Threatens Area of Virgin Timber

RIVERSIDE, June 3. (Exclusive) Sherman Institute students, prisoners from the county road camp and citizens tonight are battling flames which swept furiously through some of the finest virgin timber in the San Jacinto Mountains. At 10 p.m. the flames were reported completely out of control and grave fears are held by forestry officials that hundreds of acres of forest land will be denuded before the fire is extinguished.

The alarm was given this afternoon by Miss Rita Morris, a girl lookout on Black Mountain. From her lofty station, Miss Morris saw smoke rising from the forest and telephoned the alarm to Chief Ranger Cranston. The ranger called on the prison camp for help and twenty prisoners were rushed to the scene. A call to Hemet brought thirty men from that city and San Jacinto, and an additional summons resulted in thirty Indian boys from Sherman Institute being hurried to the blaze in trucks.

The flames are licking through the big timber on the lower ridge of Tahquitz Range east of Idyllwild. Desperate attempts are being made to form a line at a point higher up where there is an area less thickly wooded. If the fire can be mastered at this point, the fight probably is won, Ranger Cranston said. But if the fire leaps the clearings and into the forests near the summit, the whole vast timberland of the San Jacinto range will be at the mercy of the conflagration.

The blaze started on the Walker ranch, when the ranch house in some mysterious manner took fire and burned down. Sparks ignited the neighboring forest.

Balazo Mortal que se Dice Fue Accidental

Los testimonios prestados por tres testigos oculares del homicidio de Eddie Bennett en un cuarto de la calle Bixel Sur, 625, han sido confirmados por el veredicto rendido por el jurado del forense en la encuesta de ayer tarde.

El jurado decidió que "Bennett habia muerto de un balazo en el corazón, debido a la torpeza de James H. Murphy, que estaba tomado, para manejar armas de fuego cargadas."

Los testigos, que ratificaron ante el jurado sus declaraciones de que el revólver que tenia en la mano Murphy se descargó accidentalmente cuando éste le daba vueltas, son Robert Parker, Jack Richardson y Sid Goldbaum.

La policia declaró que Parker, en un principio, manifestó que el homicidio habia sido el resultado de un chiste. Testificó, según la policia, que Murphy habia exclamado: "Siento ganas de matar a alguien", a lo que Bennett replicó: "Bueno, pues dame a mí un balazo." Después convino con Richardson y Goldbaum en que el disparo habia sido accidental. Tal afirman los detectives.

Murphy, que huyó de la escena de la desgracia, sigue siendo buscado por la policia. Parker se halla preso acusado de robo. Hacia dos años que se le buscaba para que respondiera de esa acusación.

LEAGUE TO CALL COURT PARLEY

American Adherence to be Discussed

Council Approval of Root Protocol Likely

Washington Ratification Expected

PARIS, June 3. (AP)—A conference for discussion of the protocol for American adherence to the World Court of Justice is expected to be convoked by the Council of the League of Nations during its meeting at Madrid, which begins the 10th inst. The conference would be held during the next League of Nations Assembly and acceptance of the protocol is considered certain.

The Council probably will approve the protocol recently negotiated at Geneva by Elihu Root, distinguished American statesman.

Since virtually all of the members of the World Court are affiliated with the League, the Council is expected to suggest that the governments empower their delegates to the September Assembly to meet as a court body and sign the protocol.

League circles are optimistic and foresee ratification of the protocol by the American Senate. Ratification by all World Court members is equally necessary before the protocol can become effective. Should the Senate fail to accept the document or attach reservations deemed objectionable, the other nations always have the opportunity to refuse to ratify the Root protocol.

For the moments the League of Nations is centralized in Paris, where delegates and secretaries are gathered on their way to Madrid.

HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLE PROPOSED FOR MARCH

Former Champion Says He'll Meet Negro Puncher if Officials Will Meet His Terms

BY PAUL LOWRY

If the Agua Caliente combine of Wirt Bowman, Jim Crofton, Tex Long and James Coffroth means business Jack Dempsey will box the current black menace, George Godfrey, for the heavyweight championship in a Mexican ring next March.

Yesterday brought all sorts of dope that his ring return to a climax that it was definitely on "if, after a month or two in a training camp I am convinced that I am in good shape."

In line with this announcement Dempsey goes into a huddle today with Gene Normile, his manager when he dropped the heavyweight title to Gene Tunney, and the champion considers the return of Gene Tunney as tantamount to reiteration of those days with the ex-Marine wrestler in the rain at Philadelphia and rescinded in the subsequent battle at Chicago.

READY TO CROWN

"I want to the ring," said Jack. "I believe I am more entitled to the title than any other man. I stopped Jack Sharkey, considered one of the best contenders, two years ago. I'd like to fight him or anyone else for the title, but I believe a match with George Godfrey would be the best drawing card.

"In this way know more about the fighting than they do Shar-

LA COSTE CHAMPION AT NETS

Downs Borotra in Flashy Five-Set Battle to Take Tennis Laurels

BY THOMAS T. TOPPING
Associated Press Sports Writer

PARIS, June 3. (AP)—Rene La Coste once more is at the top of the world's tennis heap.

Defeating his countryman, Jean Borotra, in a thrilling five-set match today by scores of 6-3, 2-6, 6-0, 2-6, 8-6, the impassive and steady Rene captured the French championship for the third time since 1925 when the tournament was opened to entries from all countries.

La Coste now has won in 1925, 1927 and 1929, while in 1926 and 1928 the title went to Henri Cochet, third member of the Tricolor's great triumvirate.

On the way to the finals the Three Musketeers decisively reasserted their supremacy by beating off the combined attack of a big international field headed by Bill Tilden, the only foreign player to get as far as the semifinals.

Going on to battle it out with his compatriots, La Coste, who had personally accounted for the scalp of his old foe, Tilden, finally conquered the revivified Borotra after the amazing Basque had taken the measure of the defending champion, Cochet, by dint of some of the finest tennis he has shown since 1924.

In the light of this first big international engagement, which will be followed by the English and American championships, La Coste now tops the players of the entire world with the volatile Borotra as runner-up. Together they captured the doubles crown, a fact which makes American chances of recapturing the Davis Cup this year seem even more remote.

AL MELLO STOPPED BY GORILLA JONES

BOSTON, June 3. (AP)—Gorilla Jones, sensational negro welterweight, technically knocked out Al Mello of Lowell in the sixth round of a ten-round bout here tonight. Mello fought valiantly but the negro's terrific right-handed punches carried too much steam for him. Jones floored him for nine in the fourth and dropped him again in the sixth with a barrage of right and left hooks to the head.

Mello's manager stopped the fray at this point to save him from further punishment.

Ott Stars With Willow as New York Wins Eleventh Game in Last Twelve Starts; Score 8 to 1

CHICAGO, June 3. (AP)—The New York Giants made it three in a row over the Cubs today, winning, 8 to 1, behind the steady pitching of Carl Hubbell.

It was the fourth straight defeat for Chicago and the Giants' eleventh victory in the last twelve games played. Coupled with the defeat of the Phillies, it put New York into the first division.

Pat Malone was driven from the mound in the sixth inning under a barrage of Giant base hits which netted three runs. Hal Carlson and Claude Jonnard hurled the rest of the game for the Cubs. The Giants got twelve hits off the three pitchers.

Mel Ott with three singles and a walk in four trips to the plate and Freddy Lindstrom with a homer and single led the Giant attack. Singles by English, Cuyler and Stephenson got a run for the Cubs in the ninth after Hubbell had pitched eight innings of shutout ball.

TIGER NINE BEATS POLY TEAM, 9-3

Powerful Lincoln Outfit on Road to City League Diamond Pennant

Lincoln's power-plus baseball nine had too much strength for Coach Cop Mahoney's Poly horsehide chasers yesterday afternoon at Wrigley Field, winning by the score of 9-3. Coach Frank Mallette's team, by turning back the Mechanics, are practically sure of winning the City League pennant, the only obstacles in their way being Jefferson and Hollywood. Of the two, Jefferson has the best chance to upset the Tigers. They meet Friday on the Democrats' diamond.

Lincoln started right out after Lefty Meyer, Poly's portsided hurler, in the first inning. After Vitale had reached first on Goodman's error, Don Atwood slammed out a triple into center field, scoring Vitale.

Poly came right back in the second to tie the score, Ybarra rapping out a double, scoring Good-

IT'S hard to stop these Louisiana boys. Red Cagle was a riot in football last fall and now Melvin Ott of Gretna, La., is knocking the cover off the ball on the diamonds of the National League. Or, to be more truthful, he is knocking the ball far beyond National League diamonds, and, at this writing, has a nice running start in the home-run derby. Don't, however, take this National League home-run derby too seriously, for nearly fifty more home runs have been made in the older circuit than were recorded in the same league at the same time last year, and than have been hit in the American League to date.

But, whether home runs come easy or hard, the fact that a 20-year-old kid is leading such famous swatters as Hornsby, Bottomley, Wilson, Herman, Grantham and others is quite interesting. The National League four-base-hit record for one season is forty-two, held by the "Rajah" himself. If Mel Ott can sock ten in thirty games, he can hit more than fifty in 154 games, and not only bust Hornsby's record to smithereens, but become the only other man beside Ruth to clout half a hundred homers in one season. (Gehrig hit forty-seven in 1927.)

This child hero of the Giants, this precocious infant, who cost the club not a penny, was about the only member of the team whose batting didn't fall off during the great slump of early May. Mel is allowed to bat against southpaws this year (the rival pitchers won't thank McGraw for that,) and besides the dynamite that he packs in his bat he has shown about the best throwing arm in the league, next to "Chick" Hafey's.

PADDOCK APPEARS SATURDAY IN L.A.A.C. TEAM TRYOUTS

Charley Paddock, world-famous sprinter of the Los Angeles A. C., who startled the track world a few days ago by announcing his return to the cinderpath for the national championship relays next month, will appear in his first meet of the season at Bovard Field Saturday.

Paddock is not planning to run in the open dashes Saturday but he will be on hand to practice the sprint relays with Frank Wykoff and other dash stars of the Mercury Club.

Saturday's meet is being staged by L.A.A.C. officials, who are now selecting teams for the senior and junior A.A.U. championships to be held at Denver, July 3, 4, 5.

TOO MANY VICTORIES IRK EASTERN TRACK SQUADS

'Welcome' Sign Worn Off Doormat as Pacific Coast Runners Conquer Atlantic Cinder Stars

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—"Welcome" may not be on the eastern doormat for many more seasons so far as the visits of Far Western teams to the intercollegiate track-and-field championships are concerned.

Stanford's third consecutive and overwhelming victory at Philadelphia, running up the far western score to eight triumphs in the last nine years, has revived discussion about confining the I.C.A.A.A. championships to the eastern fold, instead of making the meet a happy hunting ground for the brawny athletes from the Pacific Coast.

The subject already has been under consideration although no official action has been taken or as yet proposed. No particular feeling has arisen to upset the cordial relations between the eastern and far western schools, but it is nevertheless argued that repeated victories by the California stars have taken the edge off the title meet for eastern colleges. Stanford's victory last Saturday was a foregone conclusion.

STARS HOLD BACK

The situation, in other words, has been reached where the eastern colleges have virtually abandoned efforts to win team honors in preference to priming a few stars for individual championships. Thus, last Saturday, Phil Edwards, New York University's great middle distance star, concentrated on his record-breaking half-mile although he also stood a good chance of scoring well up in the 440 or mile. John Anderson of Cornell stayed out of the shot put, a private Stanford party, to concentrate on the discus. Jimmy Reid, Harvard captain, preferred to break the two-mile record rather than divide his talents between that event and the mile.

"Why do the Coast teams excel their eastern rivals so decisively in team strength?" the bystanders ask.

For several reasons, but primarily these:

PICK BOYS FOR EASTERN TRIP

Name Youngsters for Journey to Atlantic City

BY BRAVEN DYER

The executive committee of the Junior Olympic Games yesterday officially selected the four Southern California youngster who will go East this month for the national finals at Atlantic City during the second week in July.

Those named are Vane Baker and Jerry Deal in the junior division and Fernando Ramos and Robert San Jose of the senior group.

These boys were selected, not only because they had the highest scores in the Southern California finals last Saturday, but also because the executive committee feels they are the best athletes that this locality could send to the nationals.

The official party, headed by John F. Ness of the executive committee, will leave for Atlantic City on either the 28th or 29th inst. Boyd Comstock, director of the Junior Olympic Games for Southern California, has worked out an itinerary which should land the youngsters at the seashore metropolis in wonderful shape.

STOP IN CHICAGO

There will be a stop of two days in Chicago for limbering up and training. Arrival in Atlantic City is scheduled for three days prior to the start of the meet on July 8.

From now on Baker, Deal, Ramos and San Jose are subject to the beck and call of the

Speedy Dado and Jimmy Lucas Headline Fistic Program at Olympic This Even

FILIPINO BOY DOPED TO WIN

Plan Bout With French Star if Dado Beats Foe

Huerta Evans and Sid Torres in Semi-Wind-up

Shriners Admitted Free to Tonight's Show

Speedy Dado and Jimmy Lucas headline the Olympic card tonight, which will feature several novelties as sidelines. All visiting Shriners will be admitted free. Their "Fezes" will be their tickets. A special section will be reserved for the out-of-towners. Several temples may bring their own bands so there will be extra music.

Election returns will be given at the ringside of the blow-by-blow battle between William Bonelli and John Porter.

Dado and Lucas box one half of a double wind-up. Huerta Evans and Sid Torres meet in the other ten-rounder.

The club expects a big turnout of Filipino fans since Dado and Torres are now the outstanding brown fighters in this country along with Ignacio Fernandez, who is in the same stable.

Dado may be sent against Emil Pladner, star French flyweight, here this summer. Gus Wilson, one of Jack Dempsey's old trainers, is acting as Pladner's agent in America.

There is little question but what Dado is the most colorful fighter to come from Manila since Pancho Villa. If little Speedy's right shoulder does not hinder him he is a master fighter.

Dado is the choice over Lucas, the latter being the holder of the all-navy flyweight belt. Lucas holds many belts and medals won in foreign ports of call of the fleet.

Lucas won the all-navy honors by defeating Frisco Grande. He also defeated Speedy Quantina, a boy who is headlining in the East now.

Dado and Lucas will both scale around 113 pounds for the match. They will weight in this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Evans holds the edge of experience over Torres, newest Filipino boxer to invade this country. This is the first time Evans has made 118 pounds for some time. He has had to fight featherweights to get action.

Torres is a natural fighter. In less than twenty fights he shows the stuff which it takes many American boxers years to cultivate and learn. Frank Churchill believes that Torres will be equally as great as Dado and Villa before them.

Bud Taylor will spear in the role of a second when he handles one of his youngsters, Ray Van, in the special event. Van hopes Marcilino Lomeli. The weight is 133 pounds.

Van was brought to the coast by Taylor a few weeks ago. He is one of the young Indiana products of promise.

The two, four-round bouts feature Leo Hernandez vs., Arthur Butler and Evans Fortune vs., William Casabedian.

This is Dado's first bout here in several months. He boxed Ernie Peters a draw his last start, fighting the last eight rounds with his right shoulder helpless.

DE MAR DUE NEXT WEEK

Famous Marathon Runner Slated to Arrive Week from Tomorrow to Participate in "Times" Race

Clarence De Mar, America's premier long-distance runner, will arrive here the 12th inst., a week from tomorrow, to run in The Times Pre-Olympic Marathon, which will be staged the following Saturday, the 15th inst., over the full course of 26 miles, 385 yards.

"The Melrose Marvel" previously had wired Charley Keppen, director of the classic, that he would arrive the day before the race, but after the executive committee had made an effort to have him here a full week ahead of time, announced that he would arrive early, to train for a few days.

Although this is DeMar's first trip out of New England for a long-distance race, he is confident the long train ride will have no effect on him. He also announced that he was anxious to match strides with the Sherman Indians, who will represent the L.A.A.C. in the marathon event. Henry Chauca, Tom Humphreys, Howard Taametewa, Cecil Begay and Thomas Jenkins, the six redskins in the classic, have no intention of "biting the dust" from DeMar's heels, and under their coach, "Chief" Jamieson, are training earnestly for the long race.

The local American Legion plans to welcome DeMar in regal style, with a fife and drum corps at the station, and is planning a week of festivities in his honor. DeMar, who was a chaplain with the A.E.F., always represents the Melrose Post of the Legion in his races.

Two more entrants were registered yesterday for the event, bringing the total to forty-nine runners. The newcomers are Don J. Bartell of Anaheim, and H. F. Brown of Los Angeles. Bartell was a cross-country runner in his high-school and college teams in the Middle West; finished seventh in a field of thirty runners in the Orange county marathon last year, and also participated in the Palos Verdes marathon. DAVISCOURT SIGNS UP FOR TILT WITH LUTZE

DICK DAVISCOURT

Dick Daviscourt, the rough 220-pound Kansan headlock expert whose mat battles here during the last five months have all been sensational affairs, was signed by "Carnation" Lou Daro, local wrestling promoter yesterday, to meet Nick Lutze in the finish feature event of the mat card he is lining up for the Olympic June 12.

The promoter signed Daviscourt yesterday after Joe Malcewicz, Utica mat panther, had turned down another offer to face Lutze here in a finish match at this time. Malcewicz defeated Stanley Stasiak, the giant Pole, in a wild bout here last week, and he was in line for the top spot on the next card as the result of his victory. In turning down the match with Lutze he declared he wanted several more weeks in which to train before taking on the young Chicago star.

Daviscourt has recovered the injuries he received when from shot out of the ring here during his battle with Ed "Strangler" Lewis and landed on his head in the press-row seats. The several torn ligaments in the neck he sustained in the fall have healed sufficiently to permit him to do strenuous workouts.

The big Kansan is in wonderful condition at the present time, it was reported. He has been training daily for the past week in the hopes of getting another match here in the near future. His showing against Lewis was better than any he had ever made on the Coast. He was rougher than he had ever been with any opponent, and he demonstrated more punishing and clever wrestling than ever before. This match is expected to prove the sensation of the year.

Daviscourt is after another match with Lewis and he is ready to meet any top-notcher in the game to prove his right for a return battle. The Kansan will probably give Lutze the toughest match the young Chicago star has had since he clashed with Lewis in a title match here last summer.

Promoter Daro expects to line up two more big matches for this card within the next day or two. Malcewics and "Wild Bill" Beth, the rough lumberjack, are both being considered for places on the other matches.

RECORDS SMASHED AT PARADISE CLUB

Reports from anglers along Big Rock Creek yesterday were that fishing records were again shattered at Noah Beery's Paradise Trout Club during the past week. According to fishing enthusiasts, more than 3000 rainbow and Eastern Brook trout were hooked last week in Big Rock Creek. Another batch of eggs was planted in the Beery hatcheries yesterday to replace the trout caught. With Beery continually planting new eggs in the waters it is said that mountain trout will always be in abundance in Big Rock Creek. It was also stated that hunting enthusiasts were still bagging hundreds of rabbits on the desert surrounding the properties.

man, who got on first through Fontes's bad throw to Vitale. Pintarell stopped a Mechanic rally in the third by stopping a hot line drive off Taylor's bat, throwing to Vitale for a double play.

Babe Guerra opened up the third inning with a single and crossed the plate when Goodman missed Vitale's grounder. Vitale scored on a combination of Atwood's single and Meyers's error. Redmond singled, bringing in Atwood. Cruz ended the inning by flying out to Taylor in center field.

Poly scored in the fourth when Ybarra rapped out a hot single, putting Chili Gomez across the plate.

Lincoln had another big inning in their half of the fourth, pushing three more markers across the rubber. Gervazzi was safe at second on Goodman's error, and scored when Taylor let Pintarell's fly bounce out of his hands. Babe Guerra got his second hit of the day, putting Pintarell on third. Pintarell was out at home on Fontes's infield hit. Guerra was also out at home on Swede's infield rap. Fontes crossed the plate on Pete Vitale's single and Swede scored when Atwood walked, forcing in Leo. Redmond made the third out, Goodman to Gomez.

Lincoln scored their final run in the seventh. Redmond started it out by banging out a base hit. Lombardo duplicated Redmond's stunt Gervasi hit to third and Redmond was out at home. Pintarell hit to the infield, scoring Lombardo.

The big guns for Lincoln were, Babe Guierra, who got two hits in two trips to the plate; Don Atwood, who connected for two blows, one of them being a three bagger; and Jack Redmond, who banged out two singles in four times at bat.

For Poly, Ybarra starred at the plate, rapping out three hits, one of them a double in four trips to the plate. Chil Gomez hit .500, getting a single and a double in four times at bat.

Captain Atwood was one of the main factors in the Lincoln triumph, knocking in three runs, while Pintarell brought two across the plate with his timely hitting.

CARDS IN FORM

ST. LOUIS, June 3. (AP)—The Cardinals took a firmer grip on the National League lead today by defeating the Brooklyn Robins 9 to 8 in the twice-delayed opener of their series.

The Cards had a slight hitting margin in the ding-dong battle that was tied up four times and not decided until the eighth inning. They collected thirteen hits off Dudley and Ballou, while Sylvester, Johnson and Sherdel yielded an even dozen.

Frederick, Brooklyn center-fielder, led the sluggers with a homer, a double and a single in four times at bat. Hendrick also got a homer for the Robins. Roettger, who replaced Orsatti in right field late in the game, was the only Cardinal batter who did not get a hit. Score:

DEMPSEY MAY MEET GODFREY

Augua Caliente Plans Bout for Next March

Ex-Champ to Confer Today With Officials

Says He'll Fight if His Terms Are Met

key. They know he has never been knocked out—or even down.

"They know further that all heavyweights of the first division who have fought Godfrey once refuse a return fight, as witness Jack Sharkey, Johnny Risko, Paulino Uscudun.

"I was accused of being afraid of Harry Wills when he was in his prime.

"They said I drew the color line.

"Well, here's where I will make somebody swallow their words.

"I'll meet Godfrey, who is bigger, rougher and tougher than Wills ever was if the Agua Caliente crowd will meet my terms and I can convince myself of a return to form.

"Godfrey should be Agua Caliente's best drawing card, because he drew the biggest gate in California history with Paulino Uscudun, and is without doubt the most feared man in heavyweight ranks today."

Dempsey declared his terms run all the way from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

WANTS WHAT GENE GOT

He said he wants substantially what Gene Tunney got for defending the title in the long-count bout with Dempsey at Chicago almost two years ago.

"And I want $100,000 to $200,000 of that before I start my training grind," Dempsey said.

"It costs me something like $60,000 to $70,000 every time I get into shape for a fight, and I want that money in my hand before I get down to business."

Dempsey, who arrived here Saturday night after a plane trip from Kansas City, said he expects to be here two or three weeks.

He wants to sell his home on Los Felis Boulevard and then return to Chicago, where he has taken a two-year lease on the old Coliseum, where Jim Mullen formerly promoted fights. He is a colessee with Charley Hall.

But within the next twelve hours he has accepted the invitation of the Agua Caliente crowd for a conference about the proposed Godfrey fight next spring.

Two of that crowd—James Coffroth and Baron Long—are former prize-fight promoters. Coffroth for years was the big squeeze in San Francisco. Long held forth at old Vernon twenty years ago.

For years there has been talk of a big fight at Tia Juana, but it has always been hot air.

Since the establishment of Agua Caliente as a great resort center—a sort of modern Monte Carlo—the pipe dream talk has turned into near realization.

The old race track at Tia Juana has been discarded and a new one is to be built at Agua Caliente, opening the latter part of next fall. A magnificent hotel, lodges, swimming pool, golf course (over which a $25,000 open will be held next year) has converted a former bleak spot of Mexico into a current fairyland.

Recently, Gene Normile, who managed Dempsey for the first Tunney fight and now works for the Agua Caliente concern, returned from the East with Dempsey's signature on a provisional contract.

That contract is to be discussed today and it may mean a heavyweight championship battle below the border next spring.

Agua Caliente seeks national advertising, it is said, and Agua Caliente will get it in this wise. Its promoters can pay Dempsey more than any other promoter in the world because Agua Caliente has other devices besides gate receipts to fall back upon as reimbursement.

And fighting at the figure Dempsey expects to command for a bout at Agua Caliente beats promoting on a quiet market, and that's all the market has been since the Manassa Mauler signed with the Humbert Fugazy-Ed Coie combination in New York and then broke it up in favor of a Chicago hook-up with Hall.

They supplied the definite touch to the reports of Dempsey making a comeback at the Mexican resort.

EAST CONFIDENT OF NEW COMEBACK

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP) — The great guessing game is on again, livening up the dull spring season for fisticuffs and their faithful followers and featuring as usual the big will and won't man from California, Jack Dempsey.

With a snort that ruffled the lather of his morning shave in tiny wavelets, the one-time ruler of the heavyweight roost told the Associated Press just a few days ago that he had no idea of ever fighting again. He appended a couple of reservations, neither of which seemed important at the time.

But the developments of the meantime have brought those reservations back into the picture with new significance. Dempsey shattered his promotional partnership with Humbert J. Fugazy, took a two-year lease as promoter at the Chicago Coliseum, held secret confabs with Big Bill Carey, now overlord of Madison Square Garden, and hustled out of town.

He ended up by flying to Los Angeles and word drifted back from the Coast, supposedly dropped unintentionally by his wife, Estelle Taylor, that the next few weeks will find the big slugger training again in the Ojai Hills for his second comeback.

Working along the lines that "where there is some smoke there is fire," diagnosticians of the knuckle mart have decided that Dempsey had something in mind when he tagged two reservations to his articles of retirement.

"If some responsible party offered me $1,000,000, I'd have to consider it," was reservation number one. "If some one would guarantee me training expenses, say $250,000, and not consider it a binding promise for me to fight again, I might try to get in condition for another fling at the title," was No. 2.

Coming out point-blank with their conclusions the diagnosticians now are ready to assert that the old man mauler will try again, possibly next winter.

Bill Carey, Dempsey's partner in staging the Sharkey-Stribling muss after Tex Rickard's death in Miami Beach last winter and the man who should know most of all about the situation, says he has not discussed the matter officially with Dempsey. "He doesn't know his own mind," Carey said today. "I think he wants to fight; he'd certainly look great in there next winter—and I'm certain of this. If he fights again it will be for me and I'm more than willing to talk in generous terms with him."

RABBIT PUNCHES

A GREAT TRIUMPH

STANFORD'S overwhelming victory in the I.C.A.A.A.A. meet—its third in as many years—was the climax of a great season for the Cards—a season that saw the remarkable development of four men who were simon-pure dark horses when Dink Templeton issued the call for track-and-field candidates.

These men were Ward Edmonds, Hector Dyer, Edward Madison and Roger Smith. Edmonds was a first-rate pole vaulter when the season opened, but almost overnight became one of the Card's greatest hurdlers. Dyer, a sophomore, became a sprint sensation who placed second in both the short dashes at Philadelphia. Madison blossomed from unknown ranks into a high jumper who won the California intercollegiates and placed fifth in the I.C.A.A.A.A. Smith put the name of the cough-drop brothers on the map with his hurdling.

Of this quartet Templeton loses only Edmonds this year. Much to the Stanford coach's regret the San Diego athlete opened his hurdling activities in his senior year. He did his timber-topping talents under the light of a pole-vaulting career his first two college seasons.

But I imagine the light of Mr. Templeton's heart is Hector Dyer. This long-legged Inglewood youth has been a real sensation who probably will take Charley Borah's place as the leader of Coast sprinters for the next two years.

And speaking of development Dean Cromwell can not but be thrilled with the splendid improvement of Jess Mortenson as a javelin thrower. From 180 feet at the start of the season Jess climbed steadily to the 200-foot class, and finished third at Philadelphia.

Maurer in the 100-yard dash and Jess Hill with his new record in the broad jump and Howard Paul are other Trojan athletes who must have given the big Southern California coach an exuberant feeling.

GEORGE BLAKE SPEAKS

MR. GEORGE V. BLAKE, widely known as a distinguished referee and for the past four years manager of Fidel La Barba, rarely rises to arms, but the statement of one of the judges in the recent La Barba-Kid Chocolate fight in New York provoked the silent one to words.

Peg Murray, the demon cartoonist, who expects to arrive here June 12 from New York, kindly sent me a clipping from the New York Evening Post relative to the matter. Blake's letter to Bill Morris, boxing writer, fairly sizzles with vitriol. It is well worth reading:

"My Dear Morris: After reading Charles F. Mathieson's story in which he tries to explain why he gave the decision to Kid Chocolate, I am convinced that Mr. Mathieson has something to learn about judging boxing bouts. Regardless of how much criticism he may get, no good referee or judge tries to explain or apologise for his decision. Mr. Mathieson tipped off his incompetency by rushing to the typewriter after he heard and read the commotion caused by the verdict.

"Regardless of how Fidel or I felt about the decision, we did not squawk about it. The fans did that job for us. But it would be asking too much to allow Mr. Mathieson's letter to go unanswered.

"Mr. Mathieson is a long way from the truth when he says that 'La Barba's both eyes were puffed, one almost closed.' Funny that he could see what we could not from a close-up in the corner. A very slight scratch over the left eye was the only mark Fidel carried out of the ring. As far as punishment was concerned, we both thought it was one of the softest fights he ever had.

"It would take up too much space to point out the many misstatements in Mr. Mathieson's long letter, but one that must have brought a laugh to any one who saw the bout was his claim that 'La Barba delayed the action of the contest.'

"I don't believe that one other man in the Coliseum could help but notice that whatever action there was in the fight was made by La Barba, who was the aggressor from start to finish.

"Mr. Mathieson informs the world that he has been in the boxing game for forty years. It is too bad that a man can spend so much of his life in a sport and learn so little about it. The average life of a fighter's ring activity is about seven years. Referees and judges, of course, last much longer. But forty years is a long, long time. It is also a sad thing to have been a wonderful critic on the sport of boxing and still remain practically unheard of. After a careful perusal of Mr. Mathieson's interpretation of the rules, I am firmly convinced that he speaks with the true authority of one who does not know.

"Sincerely,

"GEORGE BLAKE,

"Manager of Fidel La Barba."

AN ADDED FEATURE

ALTHOUGH it was not exactly a part of the advertised program the autographing by the Messrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Charley Paddock, Bud Houser, Herman Brix and Frank Wykoff at the Junior Olympic finals the other day was a big feature.

If there was a kid on the field who missed getting the signatures of these celebrities it must have been an overnight.

Everywhere Fairbanks went he was trailed. Everywhere the famous stars of the track went they were followed by the pack.

Kids to the right of them. Kids to the left of them.

And very graciously Fairbanks and the big athletic stars humored the kids. They were busy scratching all afternoon.

Herman Brix, the giant shot putter, was almost mobbed after his record-breaking heave of the twelve-pound ball, and I imagine if he had been asked to toss the missile after his orgy of pencil pushing he would have fainted.

It was a great sight to see the kids go through their stunts—the future college heroes of Southern California.

They were all wonderful little sports, and they brought the program to a successful climax with record-shattering feats.

Dutra Victor in "Pro" Play at Lakeside

Olin Dutra of the Brentwood Country Club won low gross in the professional sweepstakes at Lakeside yesterday. Dutra shot a 71. Willie Hunter was second with a 74, while Harry Pressler and Chet Beer tied for third with 75's.

Charley Guest tied for low net with a 74 from scratch. Willie Low with 77-3—74 wound up all even with Guest.

Caddymaster Pete Garcia announces that the qualifying round in the women's club championship play will be held today, eighteen holes being scheduled. The low eight will qualify for the championship flight and play at scratch, while other flights will be played from handicap. Mrs. E. S. Browne is favored to win the tourney.

L. A. HIGH YOUNGSTERS WIN OVER HARVARD

In the semifinals of the Southern California interscholastic golf championship held yesterday at the Wilshire Country Club, the Los Angeles High School team defeated Harvard Military Academy, 3½ to 1½.

Results were as follows: Charley Seaver (L.A.) and Jack Mackey (H.) all even; Danny Sangster (L.A.) defeated Carson Mitchell (H.) 6 and 5; Henry Mortimer (H.) defeated Marshall Morrison (L.A.) 1 up; King Brown, (L.A.) defeated Jack Highland (H.) 4 and 3; Clark Somers (L.A.) defeated Berry Giffen (H.) 2 and 1.

Pacific Coast Schools a longer competitive season; they are rounding into shape outdoors in April when the eastern talent is just beginning to work on the frost-bitten ground.

(2.) There being fewer "big" colleges on the Pacific Coast, the talent is better concentrated for team purposes, by contrast with the scramble among large eastern colleges for the schoolboy material.

(3.) The two California colleges now strongest in track and field—Stanford and Southern California—have no crews to absorb or compete for good material within their ranks.

(4.) Track and field sports are a bigger "gate" attraction in the far West than the East, thereby furnishing greater stimulus.

"If you think we had a pretty fair team this year, wait until you see Southern California's squad next season," observed "Dink" Templeton, Stanford's coach, today.

"The Trojans lose Charley Borah, but they will have Frank Wykoff, the national sprint champion, to take his place. They had freshman stars this year that could high jump around six feet four inches, and pole vault close to thirteen feet."

"Dink" refrained from emphasizing, however, that his own team will be led back into the 1930 affray by Krens and Rothert, a team in themselves.

These two weight stars worked out today at Travers Island and will leave here probably on Thursday to reach Chicago just in time for the National Collegiate A.A. championships Friday and Saturday. They will be joined there by Ward Edmonds, hurdler and pole vaulter, Johnny Morrison, quarter-miler, who also was to have competed in Chicago, revived an old tendon injury at Philadelphia Saturday and will be unable to run for the rest of the season.

BRAVES TUMBLE

CINCINNATI, June 3. Acting Manager Johnny Evers changed the Braves' batting order, placing Richbourg in the lead-off position, but the combination failed to check the Braves' downward slide. Score:

MUNICIPAL REGATTA ON PROGRAM FOR SUNDAY

Owners of small sailing boats and power boats will hold the limelight of attention among local yachting fans Sunday when the first municipal regatta in the history of Southern California yachting is held off Cabrillo Beach under the sponsorship of the Playground and Recreation Department.

Every type of craft from star boats on down will be entered in various events of the regatta. Sea-news, skip-jacks and other tiny sailing boats are among those which will race for honors and trophies in the regatta. Many of these smaller boats have been made at home by the owners, who will race them, making yachting a sport for the average man as well as the well-to-do.

The power boat race program for Sunday will feature outboard motorboats in a number of races inside the harbor breakwater. Canoe tilts, rowboat tug-of-war events, and comedy water stunts will be put on for the amusement of the large crowd of spectators expected to attend.

The entire regatta is to be made especially attractive from the spectators' viewpoint by putting on all the races close to the harbor breakwater, upon which the crowds may stand and view the entire proceedings.

Big Six

By the Associated Press

Paul Waner and Jimmy Foxx, the new Big Six leader, provided all of theaction in that organization yesterday. They got three hits each while the other three active members went hitless. Waner got his three in four times at bat against the Phillies and scored four runs. Foxx went to the plate six times in the Athletics' long game against Detroit. Foxx moved up three points in the average to 425 to make his margin of leadership over Frank O'Doul, another newcomer, 20 points. Waner shot up ten points to regain fourth place. Lou Gehrig dropped from fourth to sixth, behind Ruth, who was kept idle by a cold.

Stoefen to Defend Net Crown

MANY ENTERED IN NET PLAY

Municipal Court Players to Start Tourney

Gladys Patz Again Picked to Win Laurels

Keen Competition Looms in All Net Events

Many local tennis stars will clash in the first rounds of play leading to the municipal tennis championship of Los Angeles Sunday, when the annual municipal tennis tournament brings together the leading lights of the local public courts, according to the announcement of the Playground and Recreation Department.

This tournament, which is put on by the Playground and Recreation Department, the Municipal Tennis Association, and sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, each year, has grown in importance until it is now regarded as one of the outstanding events of the tennis year in Los Angeles.

Lester Stoefen is expected to meet with stern opposition in his efforts to retain the municipal singles championship, and Gladys Patz, women's title-holder, may also have much difficulty in repeating her victory of last year in the women's singles, judging by the caliber of entrants in the tournament this year.

The tournament will be open to any local player who is not a member of a private tennis club or a private club having tennis courts available for use. Entries will be received at the office of the Playground and Recreation Department in the City Hall up to and including Friday.

executive committee, under the supervision of Messrs. Ness and Comstock. Saturday afternoon the youngsters are to report at Echo Park playground at 4:30 o'clock for intensive training and instruction in the five events. Comstock will be in charge of this workout, the first of several to be held prior to departure for Atlantic City.

Unless Vane Baker blows up unexpectedly back east, and such a thing seems decidedly unlikely, Southern California in general and Huntington Park in particular will get plenty of publicity as the result of his showing. Vane's score of 758 points is the highest ever made anywhere by a junior or senior athlete. If he repeats back east his name will be known all over the country.

"Pop" Squires, veteran Huntington Park High School coach, deserves a lot of credit for the fine showing made by Baker. He has worked tirelessly with Vane and certainly deserves some reward for the splendid results obtained.

Last year the town of Azusa thought so much of Johnny Falcon's chances in the nationals that they sent his coach, Dave Friar, east with him. Falcon and Friar responded by winning the senior title.

Baker's prospects of winning in the junior division are much brighter than Falcon's were in the senior group. Naturally Vane would like to have his coach back there with him. Although coaches are not allowed on the field during meets, the knowledge that they are there often steadies an athlete a lot. In addition there is the preliminary coaching just prior to the meet which only a boy's own mentor can give him.

Looks like the Huntington Park Chamber of Commerce would make a good investment in sending "Pop" Squires to Atlantic City with Vane Baker.

Following the nationals the four youngsters will return here, take a week's rest, and then depart with the writer on that wonderful trip to the Hawaiian Islands. This will keep them away until approximately August 17.

BY SOL METZGER

Grips vary greatly among star golfers, especially for the drive and putt. The important point about it is to know its purpose. Then one can properly hold the club. Good golf is played with any of the three grips—overlapping, interlocking and palm.

As driving is the application of three distinct forces applied at contact—the centrifugal swing from the left shoulder, the weight and the roll of one's wrists—the latter becomes of importance. The wrist roll adds to the acceleration of the club-head at contact and is held back to apply at that moment. The right forearm does this accelerating or rolling of the wrists. So, if the wrists are to do their part the right must eventually get into the swing. As both wrists get into this final punch they must work in unison, that is, swing in the same plane, else distance, the object, will be lacking.

Two ways of holding the club are commonly followed. One, as sketched, brings the left slightly over the shaft with two knuckles in view and the right slightly under. The other is to get the left over, its back up, and the right under, its palm up. The former permits the high backswing, the latter the shoulder-high position of hands at top and a slap through. Let us look into the matter tomorrow.

A fine printed leaflet containing nine illustrations on "The Art of Pitching" has been prepared by Sol Metzger. If you wish to have a copy send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times.

Gavuzzi Gains Lead in Derby

MIAMI (Ariz) June 3. (AP)—Meeting the challenge hurled at him by Johnny Salo, Passaic (N. J.) policeman, Pete Gavuzzi, bewhiskered Italian of England, today leaped into the lead in C. C. Pyle's bunion derby, deposing the flying cop, who had forged to the front yesterday.

Gavuzzi, finishing second in the sixty-two-mile grind from Eylas, Ariz., to Miami, Ariz., assumed the leadership by a margin of sixteen minutes and thirty seconds. Salo's lead at the start of the lap had been sixteen minutes and forty-nine seconds. The lead has been jockeying for three weeks now, and with thirteen days of competition remaining the closest race in the history of foot racing is anticipated.

Sam Richman, New York Legionnaire, striving desperately to better his standing, captured today's lap, speeding over the high hills in 6h. 45m. 58s. It was the third successive day the New Yorker finished first, but he remains fourth in standing. Gavuzzi was second in 9h. 4m. 55s., maintaining a terrific pace to regain the lead. Giusto Umek of Italy, third in elapsed time, was third in 9h. 30m. 50s., and Salo fourth in 9h. 38m. 22s. Salo yesterday overcame a lead of forty-seven seconds to step to the front. Previous to that time he had led twice, battling Gavuzzi since the corn carnival passed through Ohio, almost two months ago.

KAISER IN MAIN PASADENA BOUT

When Charlie Kaiser and Don Kennedy meet Thursday night, Pasadena Arena fans will see a "battle of boxers" that they long have been clamoring for. Kaiser, Hollywood's flyweight, three weeks ago tied Ernie Hood up completely and in ringsiders' opinion won decisively, although it was called a draw. Kennedy recently defeated Hymie Miller and Jackie Mandell and with a slight weight advantage should rule the favorite, but Kaiser never has been defeated. Irish Tommy Morgan, who has already scored one kayo at the Arena, will take on Andy Dumler in the six-round semifinal, and Mel Williams faces Hugh Shropshire, in the four-round special. Four-round bouts completing the card will be: Black Diamond vs. Pete Cardinas, 133 pounds; Georgie Ryan vs. John Christmas, 130 pounds; Harold Pitcher vs. Benny Rodriguez, 112 pounds.

IOWA FACULTY SET FOR MEET

mend that the ouster ban be lifted until Iowa had been on probation.

During the session to be held at the Sherman Hotel tomorrow, Iowa's pleaders will be given a chance to disprove the charges upon which the Big Ten found Iowa guilty. They probably won't try. Their plea will be this:

"Iowa has placed her athletics in sole charge of the faculty. Give us another chance."

Most of the charges held against Iowa by the Big Ten and which they have kept secret, have been published. There remains one which until now has not been printed, pending investigation. The faculty committee considers it a grave indictment of what the professors call "Iowa's recruiting of athletes."

Details of the story on which this startling charge is based have been in the hands of Big Ten leaders since 1927. They have been thoroughly investigated by Maj. Griffith, although he refuses to discuss them now.

HERE'S THE STORY

This is the story, as the Big Ten directors have it:

In 1926 Coach Everett Case of Frankfort, Ind., believed that he should get some credits from authorities in order that he could renew his teaching license. Case is regarded as one of the cleverest basketball coaches in Indiana.

Sam Barry, until recently basketball coach at Iowa, was a good friend of Case and he visited Frankfort. Barry, the conference leaders believe, persuaded Case to take his summer work at Iowa.

Mr. Case enrolled in the department of physical education. That fall he received credits for his work and his credits accompanied his application for the renewal of his teacher's license. Shortly after it had been granted two of Case's stars, Plunkett and Spradling, entered Iowa. Subsequently, they became bright and shining basketball players for Sam Barry.

In 1927 President Elliott of Purdue, laid information before the license committee of the Indiana Board of Education, which indicated that Mr. Case had obtained his credits from Iowa in absentia. There was evidence to show that while Mr. Case was presumably attending lectures at Iowa, he also was supervising the playgrounds at Frankfort. For this he was said to have received $1000, which considering Mr. Case's ability as a coach was small pay.

Mr. Case says he did the required work at Iowa.

AFFIDAVITS ON FILE

But in the files of the Big Ten are said to be affidavits from Frankfort folk that in the summer of 1926 Mr. Case was a fine playground director. And leaders of the Big Ten admit that Paul Belting and President Jessup of Iowa were each acquainted with the charges and worried by them.

The Big Ten faculty committee probably would be eager to admit that there is no evidence in their papers to show that the University of Iowa traded credits in return for two basketball players. Plunkett and Spradling might have chosen Iowa for their university for any number of reasons. But the fact that the matter went before the Indiana State committee and President Jessup convinces them that the papers on the affair are worth keeping under lock and key.

And the circumstances haven't helped Iowa's position in the eyes of the other Big Ten schools.

Freas Kayoed, He Quits Ring

CINCINNATI, June 3. (AP)—Billy Freas, Grand Rapids (Mich.) heavyweight, announced his retirement from the ring here tonight after being knocked out in the first round of a bout with Tuffy Griffith of Sioux City, Iowa. Freas was knocked down twice before being counted out.

JOE RIVERS LOSES BOUT AT POCATELLO

POCATELLO (Idaho) June 3. (AP)—Tigers Robins, Oakland, Cal., and Jimmie Hanna, Pocatello, Idaho, fought ten rounds to a draw here tonight. Robins weighed 160 pounds and Hanna 161. Buddy Washington, Pocatello, won a technical knockout over Joe Rivers, Los Angeles. The California boy's seconds threw in the towel after the negro battler knocked him down several times.

Bank Line Chief Says Days of Steamer Passing

Asserts Speed in Transit to be Main Factor

Announces Company to Build Six Motorliners

BY WALDO DRAKE

Six fourteen-knot freight motorships are being built by the Bank Line for its United Kingdom-California-Orient service as the forerunners of a new era in sea-borne commerce, according to William Weir, who with his brother, Andrew, owns the great seventy-six ship freight fleet of Andrew Weir & Co. of London and Glasgow. Mr. Weir, who is on a shipping survey around the world, left yesterday for San Francisco after spending the week-end here inspecting the local port facilities.

"Our company has decided that the day of the ten-knot, steam-driven freighter is passing," said Mr. Weir, "and that sea-borne freight hereafter will be carried by more economical and efficient motorships. Speed is going to be an important factor with every great maritime nation competing for freight.

"The fast motorship for freight will be of particular value on the Pacific, where long distances and fast-changing markets are primary factors. My brother and I felt that we saw the handwriting on the wall fifteen years ago and so sure were we that the motorship was the freighter of the future that we now have twenty-two of them in service and have six more building."

Mr. Weir praised the efforts of the city of Los Angeles in developing its port, which he said lies in a position of strategic importance to handle a great percentage of trans-Pacific commerce. He arrived here last Saturday from Australia via Honolulu aboard the Lasso liner Calawali, accompanied by Mrs. Weir. He was the guest while in Los Angeles of John E. Marshall, Southern California agent for the Bank Line.

In addition to their twenty-two motorships, Andrew Weir & Co. operate twenty-four steamers in Bank Line service; thirteen tankers and three barges in the fleet of the British-Mexican Petroleum Company, Ltd., and eight steamers as the Lago Shipping Company. Following a visit at San Francisco and northern ports, Mr. Weir will proceed overland to New York and thence to London.

FORMER MINE LAYER OF GERMAN NAVY CALLS

The British steamer Aktion, which during the World War operated in the North Sea as one of the German navy's "mystery" mine layers, arrived at the port yesterday from Halifax, N. S., en route to Prince Rupert, B. C., where she will be converted into a pleasure steamer for the Canadian National Railways. The tiny coal burner has a top speed of twenty-two knots, though she is barely 150 feet long. She was brought out by Capt. A. J. Edgecombe, a veteran of the Canadian National Steamships fleet.

The terminals of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company yesterday presented a busy scene with four ships, the Donaldson-Pacific steamer Parthenia, the Swedish motorship Antem, the Johnson liner Axel Johnson and the Aktion all busy at the wharves.

The Parthenia is loading out 21,000 boxes of citrus fruits and 1000 tons of celite and borax for London, Liverpool and Glasgow, while the Axel Johnson is taking aboard 16,500 boxes of oranges for Hull and Scandinavian ports. Both will sail late today.

Forty-six cabin passengers are also going to Europe aboard the Axel Johnson, prominent among them being Dr. C. B. Wood, Misses Olive and Alice Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Carlsen, Charles P. McAvoy and Col. Charles Miles.

Harry Sasse, since 1907 municipal engineer for the government in the Canal Zone, was among the passengers arriving yesterday from Central American and west coast ports aboard the Panama-Mail motorliner City of San Francisco. Mr. Sasse, here on an extended leave, will also serve as delegate from Abu Sass Temple, Balboa, to the Shrine conclave.

The City of San Francisco also discharged a heavy cargo, including 212 tons of coffee from Guatemala and Salvador.

Java-Pacific's Dutch liner Modpokerto is due tomorrow morning from the East Indies with an unusually large and varied cargo from the Orient for local discharge, including consignments of manioc meal, copra meal, rubber, tapioca, rope, hemp and coffee.

Also due tomorrow is Barber Line's chartered British motorship Muncaster Castle, to load out 18,000 cases of kerosene and a quantity of cotton for Manila and Shanghai. Her visit here is said to be the forerunner of a regular trans-Pacific service out of the port to be established by Barber Lines next October.

Six hundred cabin passengers and a capacity cargo of 9000 tons of California products went out to New York yesterday at daylight aboard the Panama-Pacific electric liner California.

Among her passengers are May Robson, the actress; George C. Warren, dramatic editor of the San Francisco Chronicle; H. C. Morris, Oakland capitalist, and his bride, and Don Marquis, New York columnist and humorist.

The battleship Mississippi sailed yesterday for San Francisco to begin her summer's work of carrying the naval R.O.T.C. units of the Universities of California and Washington up and down the Coast on training cruises. She will go first to San Francisco, thence to Seattle and other Puget Sound ports.

Battleship Division Five, including the West Virginia, Colorado, Maryland and Tennessee, put to sea yesterday afternoon to fire advanced practice "A," a secret nocturnal experimental gunnery exercise.

Other officers are as follows: Vice-president and general manager, Ralph Walsh, former president of the Walburn Petroleum Company; vice-president, Clinton Longshore, former vice-president of the Acewood Petroleum Corporation; vice-president and treasurer, W. These companies include the Acewood Petroleum Corporation and the Walburn Petroleum Company, both of New York, with large distribution already assured in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the New England States.

While official announcement regarding the capital structure of the new company has not yet been made, it is understood that the capital stock will consist of 1,000,000 shares of no-par value. A public offering of a minority interest in the new stock may be made later, it is reported.

Air Investors Plans to Annex United Aviation

Negotiations whereby Air Investors, Inc., will acquire control and assume executive management of a new investment corporation, which will probably be known as United Aviation Company, are nearing completion, Harvey L. Williams, president of Air Investors, Inc., announced today. The new company plans to purchase part or all of the assets of United Aviation Corporation, whose stockholders will hold a special meeting in Chicago on the 6th inst. to consider the sale.

Present plans call for the transfer of control of most of the operating subsidiaries of United Aviation Corporation to other interests. The corporation thereupon will hold minority stock interests in various aviation and allied companies and will have additional assets in the form of notes and cash.

Organized in 1928 as a holding company for air transport properties United Aviation Corporation at present controls the following companies: Scenic Airways, Inc., Interstate Airlines, Inc., Wyoming Airways, Inc., Gray Goose Air Lines, Inc., and North Shore Airport Corporation.

Other directors and officers are expected to be re-elected.

BARGAIN HUNTERS ACTIVE

Market Reflects Buying by Investors Attracted by High Returns; Oils Stronger

BY EARLE E. CROWE

While speculators for the most part are watching from the sidelines, the investors and the investment trusts appear to have entered into the stock market on bargain hunting excursions since the last break. By paying outright for stocks that seem to have been depressed below real values, this class of buyer obtains a comfortable return on the investment and is not worried over the possibility of lower prices and margin calls.

Scattered through the list of stocks traded on the Pacific Coast exchanges are numerous seasoned shares selling substantially under recent levels. Investment buyers have seen that many of these stocks with long dividend records have been sold down to the point where the return on the investment ranges from 7 to 9 per cent. They also see stocks that formerly sold at fifteen times earnings now selling around ten times.

ANALYSIS REQUIRED

Bargain-hunting activities, however, should be predicated on the assurance that technical conditions in the market and not current earnings are responsible for the apparent high yield on the investment. When general liquidation is under way the good stocks sell down with the bad, but the good stocks manage to regain their losses in time, while the poorer stocks fail to stand up under the closer scrutiny that follows liquidation.

As a group, the oil shares have held up remarkably well under liquidation, although there are several of the seasoned issues which were pushed down sufficiently to offer attractive investment returns. Most of these stocks have already picked up some of the lost ground on investment buying, as yesterday's strength in the oils indicated. Stocks like Standard, Union, Richfield, Shell, etc., are never allowed to slip off very far before the bargain hunters are entering buying orders.

If the guide of the ratio of earnings to price is used as the proper method to determine the buying range, the difficulty is encountered of selecting the right ratio. If twenty or fifteen times earnings is adopted as the proper ratio then some of the major oils may be underpriced. But if ten times is the right ratio, it appears that only a few have declined below this point.

Union Oil, on the basis of first-quarter earnings, is currently selling at about eighteen times earnings. Barnsdall is selling at twelve times and Richfield at eleven times. Rio Grande is down to about 7.6 times earnings.

The difficulty in using this measure is suggested by the status of Western Air Express. At 68 the stock is selling at only 5.6 times the first-quarter earnings, which leaves a large question for the investor to decide. Either the stock is undervalued, or the uncertainty of the effect on the year's earnings of the contemplated reduction in the mail-contract rate is holding buyers back.

The Federal Reserve total as of May 29, last, shows a reduction of $505,000,000 from its record total reported for March 30, last. The reduction of Federal Reserve loans during the nearest comparable period, however, from May 1 to May 29, last, was $244,000,000.

The average market price per share increased from $47.83 as of May, 1928, to $53.02. A total of $11,047,558 was paid in dividends during the month by the companies whose stocks were listed or the market.

MORTGAGE UNIT REPORTS PROFIT

Lincoln Company Five-Month Earnings High

Net Equals Annual Rate of 14 Cents a Share

Income Totals for May Rise Sharply in Period

Lincoln Mortgage Company, in its first official statement on earnings this year, reported yesterday net profits for the five months closed May 31, last, of $110,473.86 after all charges excepting Federal income taxes, equal after preferred dividends to the annual rate of 14 cents a share on 1,068,033 shares of common stock outstanding. In the full year 1928 the company earned 11 cents a share on the common.

Compared with last year earnings for the same period reported at $117,327.21, this represents a decrease of $6,853.35. Offsetting this decline, May net profits were substantially larger than that in may, 1928, J. K. Baillie, president, stated.

May net profits, after all charges, reached a total of $32,747.84 which after preferred dividends and before Federal taxes, is equivalent to the annual rate of approximately 20 cents a share. Compared with net profits in May, last year, this represents an increase of $7,898.16, or more than 30 per cent.

Gross income for both the five months' period and the month of May exceeded the corresponding periods of a year ago, according to the report. The gross income for the five months totaled $174,530.94 against $170,995.33 for the same five months of last year, a gain of $3,535.16.

Gross income for May reached a total of $46,238.38 against $36,096.71 in May 1928, a gain of $10,141.67. The May figure also exceeds the average monthly gross during the five months of $34,906 by $11,3332.

General operating and administrative expenses increased $10,388.96 for the five months to $64,057.08 compared with the similar period of 1928. May expenses totaled $13,490.54 against $11,247.03 in May last year.

Collections throughout the five months were better than the same period last year, Mr. Baillie stated.

A few months ago the company leased a portion of its Lawndale property to the Allied Petroleum Company on which drilling operations are now in progress.

It has been rumored that negotiations are pending for the acquisition by Lincoln Mortgage of the business and assets of Mortgage Insurance Corporation, subsidiary of Security Housing Corporation.

Taylor Milling Reports Sales Running Heavy

Sales of the Taylor Milling Corporation amounted to $2,095,228 for the first four months ended April 30, last, and with the volume for May running considerably ahead of any preceding month, it is estimated that sales for the half-year will surpass that of the same period last year, which the company considered abnormally large, Mr. Taylor, president, stated yesterday.

Although the company had its most successful and profitable year in 1928, the last half was depressed due to poultry growers curtailing operations because of low prices. This action is not looked for this year, Mr. Taylor said, and the company anticipates the largest year in its history.

Officials expect to make application for listing the stock on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and probably the New York Curb Exchange as well. The first regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents a share was declared payable July 1 to stockholders of record the 15th inst.

Santa Fe Head Denies Rumors

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—President W. B. Storey of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad today spiked rumors that the road is planning a stock dividend in the near future. The stock was bid up nearly $20 a share, a new high record price at $236.75 on the New York Stock Exchange last week, largely on the basis of these rumors.

The railway is in no better position to capitalize part of its corporate surplus than before the Supreme Court handed down its recent decision in the St. Louis-O'Fallon valuation case, Mr. Storey declared. Rather, he said, the situation is unchanged with the company unable to make any move in that direction until the Interstate Commerce Commission takes some action.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Early advances on relatively firm Liverpool cables, unfavorable features in the weather outlook and the firmer ruling of grain and stock were checked by realizing in the cotton market here today. Offerings were absorbed on comparatively moderate reactions, however, and the mid-afternoon market was quiet and steady at net advances of about 23 to 27 points.

ARMS CUT PROGRAM AIDED

Progress of Movement Forecast Under Lead of Hoover in America and MacDonald in Britain

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, June 3.—With Herbert Hoover leading the movement in the United States and Ramsay MacDonald in Great Britain, it looks as though the next year would see substantial progress in armament reduction.

Perhaps not in a generation has the situation been so favorable to a substantial and systematic reduction of armies and navies as is presented in the present political leadership of the world.

The United States is spending nearly $1,000,000 a day on its army and nearly $1,000,000 a day on the navy to maintain its position. Great Britain is spending nearly as much.

If the first-class powers would agree to sit around a table and pledge themselves to reduce armaments all around, by a certain percentage, the problem of armament reduction would resolve itself into a simple job.

What Great Britain and the United States do in this important matter will probably determine world policy over the next decade.

The French government is standing pat in its controversy with the American film industry. For some time now the French superior cinema control commission, which adopted the principle that four French films should be shown in French theaters to one foreign film, has been surveying the field.

The French exhibitors are in arms, clamoring for a greater number of foreign films, especially American. American film producers stand opposed to all forms of quotas, even offering to pay a heavy frontier tax, the proceeds of which can even be used to rebuild the French film industry. But the French say "no," that might establish a precedent, so their original position of four to one remains.

Americans are pessimistic, and are already taking steps to close their work in France. If they do, 5000 to 8000 French employees will lose jobs.

The French reply by saying that should American producers withdraw entirely, they can supply the French exhibitors with German and with independent American pictures—those not under the control of the Hays organization. The French press, meantime, is giving the whole subject wide discussion.

Prof. Morris A. Copeland, Cornell University, puts the national income of the United States at $89,000,000,000. It has been growing steadily during the last decade, even in the face of agricultural depreciation.

Over a thirteen-year period the proportion of income going to agriculture has decreased 3 per cent, says Prof. Copeland. But efficiency of management has increased and processes of production have improved during the last few years, indicated by an increased proportion of income disbursed to stockholders, he explains.

It is upon this ground that Prof. Copeland refutes a theory that "prosperity has been profitless."

MASSACHUSETTS GAS VOTES STOCK RIGHTS

Proceeds will be used in payment of current indebtedness loans to subsidiaries and for additions to plant and properties. The right to subscribe expires August 15, to stockholders of record the 15th inst.

Farm and Mail Order Groups Lead in Advance

Credit Cloud Cuts Trading Volume Sharply

Market Closes With Level of Prices Shade Up

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—A striking recovery of the grain markets set the signal on today's stock market for short covering in the farm implement and mail order issues, which stimulated a brisk resumption of operations for the advance throughout the list.

Call money, however, began to show signs of the long-predicted June drain, and the public declined to be drawn into the market. Total sales barely crossed the 3,000,000-share mark. Call loans, having held at 6 per cent since May 22, moved up to 7 per cent. Times money, on the other hand, eased further, with the longer maturities loaning at 5 1-4 per cent.

The tightening of call money was attributed to the return of the June 1 payment checks to the banks for collection, and it was feared that this may make for further stringency during the next few days. It was recalled that the peak of the previous month-end requirements was not felt until the second week of the month.

The New York Stock Exchange announced after the close of the market that total member borrowings on May 31 were $6,665,137,925, a decrease of but $109,792,470 from April 30. While the exchange compilation is not strictly comparable to the Federal Reserve weekly figures, as it includes more sources of funds and is not computed on corresponding dates, it was rather disappointing in view of the greater

A LONG BEACH OFFICE BUILDING INVESTMENT

The Ocean Center Building

THE OCEAN CENTER BUILDING, now under construction at Pine Avenue and Ocean Boulevard, will have a value (land and building) of $1,840,000.

It will have marked advantages over ordinary office buildings in earning power. Shops at street level will be found on all four sides, and along both sides of the "Pike," which the building will span. There is pedestrian traffic past all frontages, which insures rental values.

Demand for office space in Long Beach is active. The Ocean Center Building will have unusually attractive space, and should be quickly occupied. Two floors of garage room still further diversify the sources of income the building will derive.

After deducting the bond issue on the property, the remaining equity shows a book value of over $90 per share for the Preferred Stock—par value $50.

We offer and recommend the Preferred Stock of Ocean Center Building Co., as a highly desirable investment.

METAL DEMAND SHOWS PICK-UP

Slight Increase Reported in Domestic Trade

Prices for Copper and Lead Hold Unchanged

Zinc Advances as Result of Curtailment Plan

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS

Better metal buying has generally prevailed with a decided improvement in domestic copper purchases. Zinc has strengthened to 6.75 f.o.b. St. Louis, while copper and lead are unchanged, remaining at 17.87 f.o.b. refinery and 7.00 f.o.b. New York, respectively.

Lead buying has been but moderate although it is expected that a buying movement of importance is to get started soon. The United States Bureau of Mines reports output of refinery primary lead in United States from domestic ore in 1928 amounted to 636,202 tons, against 668,320 tons in 1927, and 680,685 tons in 1926, the year of record production.

A feature of the statement is the increase of 21 per cent in 1928 in the production of refined lead from foreign ore, principally from Mexico. In 1928 the production from foreign ore amounted to 154,568 tons, against 128,380 tons in 1927. Thus, while the domestic output was 6 per cent less in 1928 than in 1927, the increase in output from foreign ore offset this to the extent that the total decrease in production of primary lead from domestic and foreign sources was about 2 per cent.

Consumption of primary lead in the United States in 1928 is estimated at 658,000 tons, a decrease of about 5000 tons compared with 1927, despite the heavy deliveries during the last half of last year.

ZINC BUYING BETTER

Zinc buying is somewhat better although still small, and price is slightly stronger. Consumers have been out of the market for six weeks now, afraid to buy on account of credit uncertainty.

Now that they have seen the mines in the tri-State field cut output in order to hold ore price just as the copper producers have done, and have seen the larger producers withdraw from the market and hand all business over to the custom smelters, smaller producers and second-hands, without any serious break in price of zinc and without much metal becoming available, galvanizers and founders seem about to begin to buy again, and it is expected that in the next two weeks zinc buying will begin again in good volume.

World production of slab zinc during April amounted to 136,107 tons, which was less than the March output of 137,874 tons. The decrease during April was due to the fact that there was one day less in the month, as the daily average for April was 4537 tons, as compared with a March average of 4448 tons.

For the first four months of this year the world's output has been 527,146 tons, or at an average monthly rate of 131,787 tons, compared with a monthly average for the whole of 1928 of 130,618 tons.

United States contributed 54,653 tons and other countries 81,454 tons to the April world's total, and 207,987 and 319,158, respectively, to the total for the first four months.

NO BIDDING FOR ORDERS

A recent inquiry for 2,500,000 pounds of copper for May and June delivery did not seem to excite the producers at all despite the fact that it was the largest inquiry that had been in evidence in many weeks. There was no bidding for the business and no inclination to shade the price to make a sale. The producers seem to be definitely out of the market until such time as active buying starts.

It is evident that the domestic fabricators have about concluded that they will be unable to buy copper cheaper than 18 cents in the near future and they have begun to drift into the market with their inquiries. They do not seem to fear any buying movement of importance coming from Europe on account of the industrial and reparations situations and are inclined to hold off buying as long as possible.

The way that domestic buyers have been able to stay out of the market shows that they did buy much beyond their actual requirements when the price was advancing rapidly in March and that the producing companies have been quite justified in cutting down their production and it is a question even now whether the 10 per cent cut is sufficient. Very little metal has been ordered as yet for delivery beyond August 1.

While the start of the buying movement has been many times predicted, it now seems evident that it will not start until the publication of the May statistics, about the second week in June. It is stated that there are 40,000,000 pounds of copper yet to be bought on foreign account to cover June requirements and that July is scarcely covered at all.

Taken as a whole, domestic fabricators are well covered for June and July and do not need to enter the market for some time or until necessary to get August metal. It is then a question of how much metal is needed for that months as the deliveries during the past three months have probably not been consumed.

It is, however, felt that any proposed terms which will seem to bring an end to the reparations negotiations and any probability of a plan which will be accepted by the countries concerned, will quickly start copper buying as the European countries are in real need of the metal and if they rush into the market in force, the domestic buyers will quickly follow suit.

CONSUMPTION IN RECORD

Estimates place the world copper consumption in 1928 at 2,694,300 tons, the largest in history, against 1,777,900 tons in 1927, an increase of 13.9 per cent. Refinery production in 1928 was 1,956,821 tons, against 1,765,720 in 1927, increase 10.81 per cent. Smelter output was 1,900,368 tons, against 1,694,143 in 1927, and mine production 1,883,422 tons, against 1,681,634 in 1927.

BOND HOUSE ISSUES CHAIN STORE STUDY

DATA ON GROUP OF FIFTY-ONE SYSTEMS GIVEN OUT BY MERRILL-LYNCH

Progress of chain stores in the United States during 1928 is revealed in the 1929 edition of "Chain Store Statistics," just issued by Merrill, Lynch & Co., investment bankers and members of the New York Stock Exchange, who are sponsors of twenty-two of the fifty-one standard chain-store companies on which detailed information is given.

The fifty-one companies showed an increase in stores from 49,905 at the end of 1927 to 55,222 at the end of 1928, a gain of 10.65 per cent. Total sales amounted to $2,903,568,500 in 1928, compared with $2,576,465,900 in 1927, a gain of 12.71 per cent. Net profits after taxes totaled $172,864,000 in 1928, a gain of 11.10 per cent over the $155,587,600 earned in 1927.

The average percentage of net after taxes to sales for the fifty-one companies was 5.95 per cent in 1928, against 6.03 per cent in 1927. Average sales per store in 1928 amounted to $55,246. In the case of the twenty-two chains sponsored by the investment house these percentages were higher, due to some extent to the fact that the group includes many rapidly growing concerns, it was stated.

AVIATION REVIEW OUT

Security House Cites Possible Pitfalls of Industry

In a general analysis of the aviation industry from an investment standpoint, C. C. Streeter & Co., member of the Los Angeles Stock and Curb exchanges, points out that aviation, just like any other new business, has some pitfalls which the investor must guard against, and that it is essential that a considerable degree of care be used in selecting issues of aviation stocks for investment.

Summarizing its review of the industry, the analysis states: First, the aviation industry of the United States is firmly established both as regards the manufacturing and operating divisions; second, although well established, it is still speculative when considered from the point of new individual companies, and third, future development should continue to be rapid as regards extension of uses and, subject only to possible temporary setbacks, it should continue to increase in volume of business.

Petroleum Shares Point Upward With Standard of California Leading Advance

Oil shares held the attention of traders as the week's trading opened yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and on an improved demand prices turned in an upward direction. Other divisions of the board were again traded in a quiet manner and continued to reflect a general hesitant attitude. Byron Jackson and Southern California Edison were the active leaders outside of the oil section.

Standard of California headed the advance of petroleum issues and jumped 2 3-4 points to a high and close at 78½. Rio Grande featured the activity and firmed up 1-4 to close for high for the day at 32. Richfield strengthened to 43 1-4 and finished at 43, up 5-8 net. Union of California advanced 1 1-8 points to 48 5-8 at the close, which was also the day's high. Union Associates firmed up 1-4 to 48.

Byron Jackson on a spirited turnover advanced 1 1-4 points to a high and close for the session at 37 3-4. Douglas Aircraft improved ½ to 37. Emsco Derrick was unchanged at 34 and Globe Grain the same at 30. Moreland Motors transferred at 3.05. Southern California Edison reacted 2 points to 58 3-4.

California Bank dropped back ½ to 135½, and Merchants' National 2 points to 229. Security-First National eased 1-4 to 129½. Transamerica on light sales firmed up 1-4 to 136.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Lockheed Aircraft continued to lead all other operations as the week's trading was resumed yesterday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. On a transfer of nearly 20,000 shares the stock strengthened 2 3-8 points to a high for the day at 22 1-4 and eased back to a close at 21 5-8, up 1 3-4 net.

Trading in the balance of the list again held to quiet levels and excepting the oil board, which recorded some fractional improvement, prices at the close were generally irregular. International Projector was traded in a brisk fashion and moved up 5-8 to 23 5-8, and Maddux Air Lines was in demand, up 1-8 to 13 1-8.

Western Air Express improved ½ to 69 on the transfer of a board lot, while Fokker was untraded throughout the session, with a closing bid at 49 1-4. Curtiss Airports transferred at 10 3-4, off 1. First Security units made their appearance on the board for the first time and traded at 5.

Sales totaled 138,800 shares, valued at $705,842.

Ford Motor Company May production totaled 200,063 units, including domestic, export and Walkerville (Ont.) production, against 182,288 units in April. Daily domestic production in May totaled 176,397 units.

Packard Motor Car Company May shipments totaled 4041 cars, against 2783 in May, 1928, and against sales of 2,020 units in April, 1929. First five months' shipments totaled 22,487 cars, against 18,597 for the same period in 1928.

Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company May sales totaled 1543 cars, against 758 in May, 1928. Unfilled orders carried forward into June totaled 1105 cars.

Graham-Paige Motor Company May shipments totaled 11,877 cars, a new peak, against 11,536 in April, last previous peak. Shipments represent approximately 4% of 48,511 units, against 26,911 for the same period a year ago.

Marmon Motor Car Company shipments in May totaled 1231 Marmon and Roosevelt cars, against 1901 in May, 1928. For the first quarter ended May 31 shipments totaled 14,847 cars, against 4847 in the same quarter of 1928. C. M. Williams, president, stated that first-quarter earnings will be considerably in excess of the company's total dividend requirements for the full year.

Oakland division of General Motors reported May shipments totaled 26,444 Oakland and Pontiac cars, compared to 28,872 cars in May, 1928. First five months' shipments totaled 145,868 units, against 171,307 cars in the same period a year ago. May decline in shipments was attributed to the plant closing during the last three days of the month.

May Bond Sales Set New Mark

S. W. Straus & Co. yesterday reported that bond sales throughout the month of May were the largest of any May in the company's history, having exceeded the largest previous May by 1.9 per cent. Sales for the first five months of 1929 exceeded those of the same period last year by 2 per cent. Bond sales of the Los Angeles office, according to the announcement, were greater than any previous May, while sales for the San Francisco office were exceeded only by May, 1927.

"These sales, we believe, reflect a very good cross-section view of the investment situation throughout the country," Nicholas Roberts, president of the company, stated in the announcement. "They seem to indicate that, notwithstanding the great speculative activities of the last year, there still remains a very large investment public who prefer investing along conservative lines rather than risking their principal for possible higher profits."

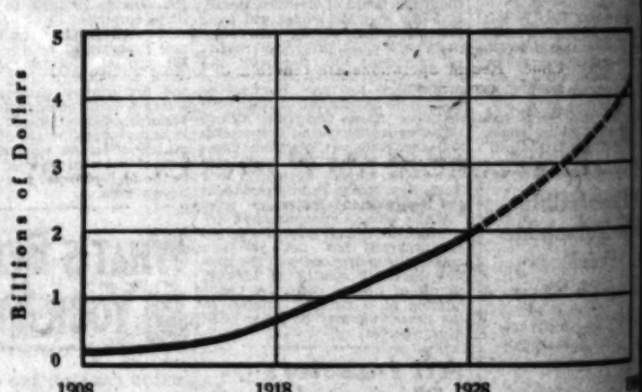
General Gas and Electric Corporation



Radios—Refrigerators—Ranges
Tripling Electric Revenue

Today only 2,700,000 families have electric lamp sockets radios, 1,225,000 have electric refrigerators and 725,000 have electric ranges. Ten years from now a majority of all wired homes—19,000,000 now, probably 23,000,000 then—will have electric radios, probably 7,000,000 will have electric refrigerators and 2,000,000 will have electric ranges.

$29 is the total electric bill for the average family for an entire year. Electric radios, refrigerators and ranges bid fair at least to double electric revenue in ten years.

Up to 1908 the use of electricity grew slowly. Since then it has more than doubled every 5 or 6 years.

Ninefold increase since 1908

From 1908 to 1918 electric revenue tripled (see chart), from 1918 to 1928 it tripled again, and from 1928 to 1938, at the current rate, it will probably triple again.

The growth period is the great investment period of an industry because growth enhances values.

The General Gas and Electric Corporation, whose listed stocks are widely held and traded in, has large holdings exceeding $100,000,000 in value, in the securities of widely diversified public utilities, including the Associated Gas and Electric System and affiliated enterprises. Through these and other possible and probable acquisitions, the Company will share largely in the continued growth of the public utility industry.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 3. (P)—The bond market showed some of its lethargy today and stepped forward under the leadership of the foreign list, where advances ran as high as 4½ points. German issues were particularly in favor, and it was in this group that the best gains were made, although other European obligations also advanced.

Behind the movement, of course, was the reparations settlement. News that the international tangle was all but formally unraveled brought out substantial inquiry for bonds of all the nations involved in the Paris agreement. Another factor, however, was the continued easement in time money, and the confidence which lower charges fostered.

German bonds were strong almost without exception. The Central Agricultural Bank issues, which have attracted special attention since the improved loan first came into the market late last week, continued to be actively bought, and moved up as much as 3¼ points. Issues of several of the State, municipal and industrial issues were not far behind in activity and few made even fairly large gains, notable among these being Rhine-Westphalia Electric Power 6s, which climbed 4½. Saxon Public Works 6½s rumored more than 3 points, while Nuremberg 6s, Berlin City 6s and a number of others were up 1 to 2 points. The German Republic 5½s had good support at a net advance of ¾.

French, Belgian and other European obligations moved up to a lesser extent. The heaviest buying of the day developed in French Republic 7½s, which made a net gain of ¾. British United Kingdom 4½s showed no change from Saturday's close.

Representative rails, industrials and utilities in the domestic list gave further evidence of the return of life to the stagnant market. Although many of the highest grade issues, notably the United States government bonds, were irregular, gains outnumbered losses. National Dairy Products 5½s, Federal Light & Traction 6½s, Kansas City Southern refunding 5s, Liggett & Myers Tobacco 5s and a few of the speculative rails were well supported for sizable gains.

American Telephone convertible 4½s took the lead in the share privilege section, posting a net gain of ¾ on sales of $1,000,000 par value. Atchison convertible 4½s yielded half a point, but most of the other stock option issues made headway.

The sugar issues were weak and several new lows appeared in this group.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the cents are omitted when the range is the same for both low and close when same as high.

A Rich New Field for Power and Light Development—

Argentine and Chile

ARGENTINE and Chile are said to constitute the only major area in the temperate zones where the public utility industry has not approached a point of maximum development.

Twenty years ago American utilities began a program of expansion which probably has never had an equal in the rapidity of its progress and major completion. The present stage of public utility growth in the foremost South American countries can be likened to that in this country twenty years ago, and the prospects of such essential industries are expected to be equally bright.

We are offering the Class A Common Stock of a public utility company which is making rapid strides in Argentine and Chile. Recent operations are reflected in large earnings and healthy expansion.

We recommend

United Power Gas and Water Corporation

A Public Utility Common Stock

With Highly Interesting Possibilities

Two hundred million dollars of public utility properties, annual gross earnings of over $22,000,000 and ownership of two of the notably successful public utility systems of this country are represented by United Power Gas and Water Corporation which owns controlling interest in Federal Water Service Corporation and Peoples Light and Power Corporation.

Both of these Corporations are enjoying and, in our opinion, will continue to enjoy substantial growth. While their combined gross business is now in excess of $22,000,000 annually, neither one, we believe, has begun to reveal its real earning power.

Increasing earnings of the constituent companies will be reflected in increasing earnings per share on the Common Stock of United Power Gas and Water Corporation.

For the twelve months ended February 28, 1929, consolidated earnings of the combined properties were equivalent to over $3.00 per share on United Power Gas and Water Corporation Common. Based on the past record of normal growth, earnings for the future are estimated at in excess of $4.00 per share for the calendar year 1930 and at in excess of $6.00 per share for the calendar year 1931.

Investment Counselors for over a Quarter Century

Is Your Capital Safely Invested?

Values Cut in Half

Recent action has changed such hoped-for quick profits to most substantial quick losses. Individuals who overestimated the ease of making money through speculation have seen the prices of stocks drop 25%, 40% and even 50%, in only a few weeks.

On the other hand, in place of quick profits, sound, unbiased investment counsel is aimed at steady, consistent growth. And, not least of its purposes is protection against disastrous losses.

Proof

The fact that the Brookmire organization is the oldest and largest of its character in the United States, and is advising as to the investment of more than a billion dollars is proof of ability to advise you wisely about your investments. And this is a period when such advice is vital.

The time required to read a booklet descriptive of Brookmire Service can well prove the best investment you have ever made. The coupon will bring your copy by return mail.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Prices on the New York Curb Market made irregular recovery today under the influence of a sharp bulge in wheat prices, settlement of the troublesome reparations problem and favorable trade and earnings reports. While the advance was by no means general, it embraced a wide variety of shares, with the oils and public utilities in the forefront of the advance.

Trading continued rather moderate in volume, due to the disinclination of traders to extend commitments on the prospect of wide fluctuations in call money rates this month. Call money advanced from 6 to 7 per cent today, the first change since May 22, but time money rates were easier, the longer maturities being quoted as much as ¼ of 1 per cent lower than last week's figures.

Buying of the public utilities was rather selective in character. American Super Power issues, Arizona Power, Central States Electric, and Southeastern Power moving into new high ground for the year. A few of the recent favorites, such as Electric Bond & Share, Electric Investors, Northeastern Power and United Gas Improvement lost ground on realizing. Rumors of mergers and new electrification projects coupled with reports of expanding sales and earnings, provided the chief background for the advance in these issues.

Prospects of favorable developments at the Colorado Springs Conservation Conference, and predictions of further gasoline and crude oil price advances, stimulated the buying of the oil shares. Gulf of Pennsylvania jumped 5½ points, Texas, 3¾, Humble, 3¼, and Lion. Standard Oil of Indiana and Kansas, Imperial and International were among the many issues to advance a point or more.

Durant Motors rallied 2½ points on William C. Durant's denial of Wall-street reports that he had been forced to liquidate many of his stock holdings. Paramount and Checker Cab closed with net gains, but Packard (pref.) yielded fractionally, despite the publication of a report showing a large increase in May shipments.

Aviation shares were mixed, with a 3 point drop in Aviation Corporation of America, and a gain of slightly more than a point in Fokker as the only important changes. Fokker reported earnings of 23 cents a share in the first quarter.

American Department Stores dropped 6½ points to a new low at 68. Mahis Corporation, Colgate participating preferred, American Solvents & Chemical prior preferred, Cooper Bessemer and Persian A were among the score or so issues to sink to new low ground for the year.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

RALLY IN WHEAT STARTS UPTURN

reduction in Federal Reserve loans, which declined $344,000,000 from May 1 to May 29. The exchange loan total has been reduced but approximately $140,000,000 from its record total reported as of March 30.

Although the recent improvement in time money rates has been interpreted as indicating rather less stringent credit conditions in June than were forecast before the severe stock market decline, the monthly review of the New York Federal Reserve Bank indicated continued dissatisfaction over the absorption of funds by the stock market, stating that the recent ease in call money appears to be the result of a flow of funds to this center from other Federal Reserve districts, causing an increase in member bank borrowings in those districts. "It does not reflect any general easing of the situation," the review declares.

The improvement in the grain markets, and the week-end announcement of the reparations agreement, were the chief items of the day's news influencing the market. A contributory factor was another assortment of satisfactory earnings and May sales reports. Montgomery Ward and Sears, Roebuck reported May sales about 25 and 30 per cent, respectively, above May, 1928.

THRESHER RALLIES

Case Threshing rallied 23 points, and closed 15 up, net. International Harvester, Advance Rumley, Montgomery Ward and Sears, Roebuck mounted 4 to 5 points. Other strong points included Burroughs Adding, Allied Chemical, General Electric and F. C. Shattuck, up 6 to 10 points. Oils were generally firm on expectations of more gasoline and crude oil price increases. Atlantic Refining made an extreme gain of nearly 5 points, and Simms reached new high ground.

Rails and utilities encountered some profit-taking on last week's sharp advances. Atchison dropped about 4 points on President Storey's statement that there is no near prospect of a stock dividend. Erie and Norfolk and Western, however, reached new high ground. American Water Works and North American sagged 2 or 3 points, while Philadelphia Company and Commonwealth Power jumped 10 to 14 points, the latter to a new top at 139.

Westvaco Chlorine, which broke severely Saturday on failure of a Chicago investment house said to be interested in the stock, rallied 14 points. Chrysler made an extreme gain of 4 points, as liquidation of the holdings of an unsuccessful pool was said to have been completed. Notable soft spots were Park & Tilford and Shubert Theater, which dropped about 6 and 4 points to new lows.

Bullish factors influencing the rise in wheat were expectations of frost tonight, a bullish Argentine crop estimate, and the prospect of farm-relief legislation. The rise was from 5 to 6 cents a bushel, taking all positions above the $1 mark. Corn likewise improved. Cotton mounted about $1.50 a bale.

Foreign exchanges were heavy, the Japanese yen dropping ¼ of 1 cent to 43.60, a new 1929 low, which was attributed to Japan's large excess of imports over exports. The Spanish peseta and sterling demand rates also reached new 1929 minimums.

For the New Plant

The first step after the erection of a new property should be an American Appraisal to unscramble the costs, segregate the depreciable portions from the non-depreciable, the insured from the uninsured, and to harmonize the property accounts with the property itself.

When Mother Was The Power In the Home

There Was No Electric Refrigerator

THERE was a time when Mother carried in her own ice. Answering the iceman's shout, she went with her tin pan to the wagon at the curb, where she got a 10c or 15c piece, depending on the heat of the day.

What a difference a few years have made in refrigeration. Electricity now automatically maintains a constant cold which preserves the full flavor of meats, keeps butter firm and vegetables crisp. Ice cubes for beverages and dainty frozen desserts may be prepared at will.

Automatic Electric Refrigeration is but one of the many services electricity performs in the modern home — cooking, washing, ironing, and many other household tasks are performed quickly and easily at the snap of a switch.

New Low Energy Rate

To permit a greater enjoyment of the convenience of electricity, the Associated System has introduced, in the areas served, new rates consisting of a low energy charge and a moderate fixed charge.

Write for our new Annual Report.

Wheat Soars on Report of Fund for Farm Relief

CHICAGO, June 3. (AP)—Reports that $100,000,000 Federal government money is about to be directed immediately toward the purchase of surplus wheat sent grain values flying skyward today. Almost in the wink of an eye, amid tumultous bidding, wheat gained nearly 9c a bushel in value, and although subsequently fluctuating at a rapid rate, held about two-thirds of the advance. Rye, corn and oats scored extreme jumps, varying from 3½@8c a bushel.

In a nervous finish, wheat closed at 5⅝@6⅛c above Saturday's final figures. Corn closed 3⅝@4¼c up, oats 1⅝@1¾c advanced and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Highest prices of the day in all the grain pits was reached right at the opening of business or shortly thereafter. It quickly became apparent that a runaway market was in progress. A famine of offers to sell went hand-in-hand with intense hunger to buy. Excited brokers with orders to purchase were in many cases frantically trying to get quick ownership at as much as 5c a bushel above the price at which the grain could be obtained for only a few feet away if the confusion prevailing would have permitted.

Even after nearly an hour of wildly swinging prices, the market was still switching violently, changes of a cent a bushel inside of a few seconds being of frequent occurrence. No such similar experience was recalled by veteran traders except during the World War and on other occasions when the market had suddenly been confronted by unlooked for developments.

Most traders had been expecting a decided advance in wheat values today, but relatively few persons were prepared for the extraordinary momentum of the buying rush today that forced the market into an almost perpendicular climb. All factors other than news from Washington received scant attention. Meanwhile, about the only sellers were traders who were willing to let go of holdings which had been acquired earlier at a lower level, which showed a handsome profit.

Unofficial monthly crop estimates issued today contained various features which ordinarily would tend to bring about lower prices, but on the whole the estimates so far as they received notice were construed as helpful to an advance. The principal stimulating aspect was that the average of the estimates, although pointing to a likelihood of 53,000,000 bushels larger domestic winter wheat crop than a year ago, was more than counterbalanced by a prospect of 72,000,000 bushels decrease in United States spring wheat yield. Further unwelcome rains in the harvest region Southwest counted also on the side of higher prices.

In some quarters today's advance of the wheat market was said to have put domestic wheat out of line for export abroad. Such considerations, however, were virtually disregarded, in view of Washington advices which were current, and so too was ignored the fact that the Liverpool wheat market today closed at only an ordinary upturn of 1@2d per bushel.

Corn, oats and rye received their advances today from the same influences that governed wheat. A huge amount of buying of corn, as well as of other grain, came from recent speculative sellers. Visible supplies of corn showed 2,337,000 bushels decrease for the week.

Provisions inclined upward, reflecting the course both of grain values and of hogs.

Gasoline Causes Skin Irritation

Garage attendants compelled to handle gasoline frequently develop a form of skin disease, which may not be dangerous, but is uncomfortable and inconvenient. Two types of inflammations of the skin are most frequent. One is the irritation due to the action of the gasoline, benzine and similar substances. Since these substances dissolve the fat, they take the fat out of the skin on the back of the hands and on the forearms, and set up inflammatory reactions.
As a result of repeated actions of this sort the skin becomes thickened, furrowed, and tends to peel off. Protection of the skin for even a brief period and the application of suitable dressings with oil or fat in them brings about prompt recovery.

This is no Socialistic Doctrine!

"THE HOLDING OF LARGE TRACTS OF LAND, uncultivated and unimproved . . by individuals and corporations . . is against the public interest . . and should be discouraged by all means . . not inconsistent with the rights of private property."

That's no Bolshevist doctrine. It's in the California Constitution, adopted back in 1879, in Art. XVII, Sec. 2. The Building and Loan Associations of California go still further in arguing that the holding of such uncultivated and unimproved property IS AGAINST THE INTERESTS OF THE OWNER HIMSELF.

His tax losses and his interest losses affect his neighborhood as well as himself. Especially when tax-losses and interest-losses on vacant lots in Southern California actually total more, annually, than our entire industrial pay-roll. According to Eberle Economic Service, statisticians.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS OF LOS ANGELES COUNTY . . TOOK FIRST PLACE . . in trust deed loans of $25,600,298 . . with banks and trust companies loaning $22,898,923 on trust deeds . . during the first four months of 1929.

This is the first time, in 36½ years of building-loan experience of the MUTUAL Building and Loan Association of POMONA, that Los Angeles County building and loan associations have made such an outstanding record in constructive financing as to take precedence over banks and trust companies combined.

We congratulate the building-loan industry on this new record of PUBLIC SERVICE. It is notable evidence that the saving people of Los Angeles County are rewarding these thrift institutions with an increasing measure of well-earned trust and confidence.

OIL NEWS

BY FOSTER FLINT

The feeling of suspense that has gripped practically enveloped the drilling activities in the Palisades tract, three miles west of Santa Barbara, will be lifted when pipe lines are completed and methods of disposal of oil have been completed.

Word is awaited from the Olympic Oil and Refining Company, reported to be negotiating with major oil companies to build pipe lines. In the event this is not done, big storage tanks will be constructed.

Field reports yesterday stated that development locations are being prepared for the construction of derricks. Olympic just now leads in drilling, and is busy on the Richardson No. 3 and No. 3, locations and also on the Murphy No. 4, Hill No. 4 and the Powell No. 6.

Rotary cutting yesterday was completed in the Laing No. 1 of the Taylor Oil Company, and drilling will be resumed soon at about 200 feet. This project is reported to have penetrated a rock formation at 4000 feet.

The Ring Petroleum Company's Parent No. 1, about 300 feet south of the Major's well, is the deepest in that area, and is drilling below 6000 feet. It was asserted that rock formation has not been picked up in Mr. Ring's operation.

Scene Active

The Newhall area at Potrero has been unusually active during the past month. The Associated Oil Company's Potrero No. 1 well, situated on the Potrero Country Club grounds, has its eight and five-inch casing standing cemented at 4000 feet. It will drill out in a few days and resume drilling.

Field reports indicate that the Elsie No. 1 well of Graham & Allen is producing twenty barrels of 46-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 3815 feet, cutting about 1 per cent. This project is said to be flowing by heads.

The Fray's No 1 well, is said to be getting out 400 barrels of 47-deg. gravity oil per day, cutting about 1 per cent.

The sand has just been penetrated at 3896 feet in the Parent No. 1 well being drilled by the Pacific Securities Company. The Elsie No. 1, of the Cypress Oil Company is drilling ahead at 2962 feet and the St. Patricia Oil Company's Connelley's No. 1 is below 2000 feet.

Associated's Pacific Southwest No. 1 is reported to have penetrated the Pico formation at about 2090 feet.

New Locations

Recent activity in the Fruitvale district has resulted in another location being made in that district. The Midwest Petroleum Company has just selected a site for its No. 1 Goodhart, to be situated on the northwest quarter of Section 27, 2-14.

Two new locations are reported in Dickinson Hills. The Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oil Company has staked its Schlein No. 1 on the southeast corner of Section 28, 24-15, which is situated on the south line.

Western Securities Company has a location for its Ladd No. 1, to be situated on the southwest quarter of Section 28, 20-16.

Started Drilling

The Allen Brown Trust Company's Jones No. 1 well at Signal Hill is reported to have picked up about 200 feet of oil formation at alternating depths. Bottom of the hole is at 4420 feet.

Showing Formation

The Federal Oil Company's Sexton No. 1 wildcat, situated on the Ventura county, is reported to have picked up rather fine oils, with showings of oil at a depth of 2770 feet.

Cores will be tested every ten feet from now on, it was asserted. The most promising formation was picked up in this project about 265 feet higher on the structure than in an adjoining lease, it was reported.

Federal and Shell are drilling a test project, the Dudley No. 1 well, situated on a 1600-acre tract in Ventura county. It is below 1000 feet.

Has Test Successful

The water shut-off test made yesterday was a success in the Bandini No. 1 well of the Bandini Petroleum Company at Santa Fe Springs, field reports state that a production test will be made later.

The Bandini's well started coming in strong, putting out about 2000 barrels of oil per day from thirteen feet of formation, at 6300 feet, but failed to deepen.

The Bandini No. 14 is standing cemented at 6300 feet and Bandini No. 4 is drilling ahead at 6110 feet.

Casing Cut

The Mineral Oil Company yesterday reported on production its Seal Beach No. 1 well, at Seal Beach, for an initial flow of 1400 barrels of 30-gravity oil per day from a depth of 6000 feet.

Test Steady.

Output of the Mohawk Petroleum Company's Hathaway No. 4 well at Santa Fe Springs settled down to about 2000 barrels of oil per day from a depth of 6040 feet. The project started coming in strong and initial flow was estimated to be 10,000 barrels daily, with about 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas. It was reported to be making approximately 12,000 barrels of oil per day, placing it on a par with the Texas Company's Elsie No. 4, which recently surprised operators when it came in flowing 12,000 barrels of oil per day.

Completed

Richfield No. 1 well of the Richfield Oil Company, at Santa Fe Springs, was completed a week ago, is reported. An effort will be made to plug back into the O'Connell sand for a production test.

Casing Set

Seven-eighths inch casing was set a few days in the Globe Exploration's Jameson & Hall well, at Santa Fe Springs, and it has been reaming.

Casing Pulled

The pipe has just been pulled in the Richfield Fee No. 1 well of the Richfield Oil Company, in the Ventura-avenue field, and two and one-half inch tubing is being run. Bottom of the hole is at 7449 feet.

Failing to pick up production in the Clarke sand, at 7775 feet, Richfield will plub back in its Elliott No. 2 well into the O'Connell sand for a production test.

Tests Wet

Field reports yesterday indicated that the Shell Oil Company's G. H. N. No. 16 well, at Santa Fe Springs, tested wet at 6575 feet, and that it will be recemented for another water shut-off test.

To Set Casing

Nine inch casing will be set today or tomorrow in the Kennedy No. 1 well of the Milham Exploration Company, at Ketchman Hills. Bottom of the hole is at 6406 feet.

A fraser drill pipe continues to tie up operations in the Beal No. 1 at 5855 feet. About 400 feet of the pipe must be removed before drilling is resumed.

Broker House Receivership Plan Held Up

CHICAGO, June 3. (Exclusive)—Receivership proceedings for Taylor, Ewart & Co., Chicago and New York investment firm which closed its doors last Saturday, appeared to be averted today when the principal creditors indicate their desire to await a more favorable market for the liquidation of the company's collateral.

Attorneys representing the company stated that this method will lessen the chances of loss to creditors and customers. Preparations for the application for receivers, which were under way earlier in the day, were abandoned.

Examination of court records in New York has disclosed that a suit for $2,850,000, which was filed against the firm last year by the Central System Corporation, now known as the First Mortgage Company of America, is still pending. The bill charges that Taylor, Ewart & Co. failed to perform a contract which obligated the defendant concern to purchase $3,500,000 of first mortgage collateral 5½ per cent series A bonds and 30,000 common shares from the complainant corporation.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, June 3 (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says:

Growing interest is being manifested by large consumers of finished steel in coverage by contract agreement for third quarter. One large independent producer in the Chicago district already has taken bookings for that period, but no definite announcement has been made as yet by the leading producer. Buyers have sought third quarter protection and some sales have been made. Eastern plate mills continue to operate at full rolling capacity.

Shipments have improved somewhat. Demand for structural shapes in the East continues to hold up well, and the mills in the district are operating full. Higher differential on blue annealed sheet extras, which have been put into effect by some warehouses, are in line with the new basing methods recently adopted by producers. This advance in extras is intended to take care of the contingencies arising from the adoption of the dual method of quoting by the mills. Scrap dealers asking prices in the West are being revised downward on a number of grades.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, June 3. (Exclusive)—Business at the local rubber exchange today was again extremely dull and uninteresting, but prices held firm and deliveries closed with net gains of 10 to 40 points above Saturday's closes. With the Singapore market closed and London cables reporting a very narrow range there, traders here were inclined to take a waiting position before making any new long commitments, although present prices are considered to be cheap. Sales of the day aggregated 253 contracts, or 632½ long tons, as compared with 1250 lots, or 300 tons in Saturday's short session.

London spot was ¼d higher at 10⅞d, with the market barely steady. The closing price at Singapore last Saturday was 10¾d. Outside spot rose ⅛c to 21½c. Outside values were:

"GET TWO AUTOMOBILES"

IN BOOTH TARKINGTON'S delightful story, "The Magnificent Ambersons," he relates how the "horseless carriage," less than 30 years ago, was derided by cries of "get a horse" from the boys in the street.

That brief span of years saw a miracle of development because the automobile quickly proved itself a blessing and a necessity.

The average length of life, doctors tell us, has been increased by ten yars. These added years may be logically credited to the automobile and its beneficent influence in putting more fresh air, sunshine and out-of-door exercise into the lives of millions. It has stimulated the brain to clearer thinking; given poise and steadiness of purpose in the mastery of its mechanism; awakened the soul of man to a realization of the beauty in the world and the pleasure it may give.

You men who already own one automobile know this, but are you giving this same pleasure—this increased efficiency to your wife and children?

Cost is no longer an argument against multiple—two-car ownership. A market of good cars at moderate cost has been created by those who buy new models every few years, and turn in their other cars. These cars are in good mechanical condition and are wholly desirable. They are advertised in the want-ad "Automobiles" columns.

Put happiness, health, added years and beauty into your life and that of your family by selecting a second good car for their exclusive use.

New Ruling in Murder Case

LONG BEACH, June 3.—Ruling on a phase of the insanity-plea law which has never been passed on by the courts, Judge Walter J. Desmond today in the trial of Lewis Rodrigues, charged with murder and assault, held that testimony under pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity could not be consolidated in the trial of the case.

The court held that the case must be presented on the basis of the not-guilty plea and if the jury finds the defendant guilty of any of the three counts charged then the insanity defense can be introduced.

A jury was selected this noon with six men and six women and one woman alternate chosen to try the young sailor, who faces charges of murdering his mother-in-law, attempting to murder his wife and assault with intent to murder a boarder in his mother-in-law's home.
